and you will find them here as soon as they are shown in the fashion centres of the world. For instance: The new Lace Collars made from guipure, honiton and Bourbon lace. They are without doubt the daintiest conception of the collar designer's ideas. They are economical because they will wash. They are made in cotton, also in silk and the prices run from 50c. up to $1.50.

ED COLLAR TOPS on sale now at 5c., 8c., 10c., 15c., 20c., 25c. and 35c.

THE NEW BOSTON BELT.—The style that is shown in the big stores of New York as being the very newest. It is a wide crush belt with a plain buckle in the front. The silk are 37c. and 70c., and the leather are 50c. and 70c. These are exceptionally low priced when it is considered that they are the newest thing in belts. These goods have been introduced for the Easter trade, but it is not too early to pick the best patterns now.

KING STREET CHANGES.

The first of May will see some changes in the business houses on King street, but as yet it is not definitely street, but as yet it is not definitely known just what these changes will be. Stores are scarce, and several of those who will be moving from their present places have not been able to secure new premises satisfactory to themselves.

Most of the shifting is due to the purchase by the Bank of Commerce or Halifax Banking Co. of the building on the correct of King and Germain streets. the corner of King and Germain streets now occupied by Hall's book store and by W. Tremaine Gard. This building will be torn down to make room for a modern bank and the present tenants will be compailed to locate elsewhere.

initially what he will do. It is no easy job to find a suitable place in the centre of the city.

The bookstore people are more fortunate, and when they vacate the corner store on the first of May they will move across the street to the Hall building, now occupied by A. E. Clarke for pictures and photographers' supplies. This means that Mr. Clarke has to get out, and like Mr. Gard, he is unable to state where he is going, as there does not seem to be a good store available.

The Red Bird building, two doors above Mr. Gard's store, is now being refitted and altered to become a dry goods store. Belyea Broe., formerly with M. R. & A., have leased the building and are now purchasing their stock.
The only other changes to take place, so far as is yet known, will be the reoccupation of Chariton's and Dowling's stores, from which the proprietors were driven by December's fire. The work of repairing these places is going on rapidly, that in Dowling's being now nearly completed, and within a month or two all traces of the fire will be removed.

PRESENTATION.

Burtt invaded their home, 154 Main street, and presented them with a beautiful solid cak side board. Harris Elliott made the presentation. Mr. Burtt replied in a very appropriate manner on behalf of himelf and partner. It is needless to say that the evening was spent pleasantly, despite the inclemency of the weather. Music and games of all kinds were enjoyed by all and after wishing the host and hostess many years of happiness the friends dispersed in the wee small hours.

On Monday evening about eighty of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Burtt invaded their home, 154 Main street, and presented them with a belillott made the presentation. Mr. Burtt replied to the grand jury returned in the said were responsible for Woods' complicity in the offence. Rum shops, he said, were responsible. Many deeds of crime are traceable to these places, which before now have swept away the character of many honest men.

The grand jury returned in the properties of the streets until nearly midnight. It apeared in evidence that the police had asked Clark seven times to go home and were finally forced to arrest him. Clark thought he had not been squarely treated and as other witnesses.
