

Deep Mystery Involves Whereabouts of Fox the Fugitive

Where is Fox the Fugitive?

Entirely cut off from The Standard twenty-four hours, his whereabouts is now as much a mystery to The Standard as to the public.

Is he in a hospital, picked up somewhere and refusing to make known his identity?

Is he in jail, taken up as a "vag," or possibly having given himself into custody to get away from pursuit; giving an assumed name?

Is he lying helpless in his hiding place?

Has he taken refuge where he cannot get word to The Standard?

Anyone knowing of a stranger in dire distress is requested to communicate with this office at once.

GRADUATION AT UNIVERSITY OF ST. JOSEPH

Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, Bishop

LeBlanc and Hon. Senator

Bourque Among Speakers.

Special to The Standard.

St. Joseph, June 14.—The 33rd annual commencement exercises of St. Joseph's University were begun in the Lefebvre Memorial Hall under the presidency of His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc on Tuesday evening in the presence of a large number of visitors including many of the clergy of the diocese and relatives and friends of the graduates and students.

A literary and musical programme was carried out by members of the graduating class, after which addresses were delivered by Rev. B. LeCavallier, president of the University, Hon. Senator Bourque and Hon. Dr. J. B. M. Baxter.

Father LeCavallier cordially thanked the visitors for their attendance at the exercises and for their kindly interest in the work of the institution. Reviewing the troubled condition of society on account of the present war, he said that all felt that education, making for high standards of citizenship, true moral values, and broader racial sympathies, was never more essential than now.

Hon. Senator Bourque, who was the next speaker, expressed his pleasure at attending the exercises. He congratulated the faculty and the Catholic people on the great prosperity and continued progress of the university as well as educational at the college. He himself being an alumnus of the institution he well understood and keenly rejoiced over the work done and progress made by his alma mater.

Hon. Mr. Baxter.

Hon. Mr. Baxter, opening his remarks in the French language, expressed his pleasure at attending the exercises again this year, and thanked the assembly and the faculty for the cordial reception given him. Speaking at greater length in English he said that perhaps it occurred to many to wonder why he revisited the university at the commencement day. The natural interest one takes in young men at the graduates time of life was not the only reason for his coming. The chief reason was because he saw here at St. Joseph the progress of a work great in its effects not only on the moral and educational development of a large body of young men, but likewise great in its effect and possibilities for our province and Dominion. The life at this institution reminded him of an illustration he often thought of when he saw the natural beauty at the confluence of the St. John and the Kennebec rivers. After each expanse of waters had followed their individual course, they joined and from thence their course was the same. But their joining was attended with greater volume, nobler scenery and greater power. Thus it was with the English and French speaking citizens who make up the citizenship of Canada. Their union made for a broader national life, more diversified abilities and greater development of their common country. It was at St. Joseph's, however, that he saw the most noteworthy example of this union. The faculty of the college worked out this union to splendid results. What was possible for the professors here should be also possible for the statesmen of Canada. The great national work of fusing the different races in our Dominion had a particular interest for him at St. Joseph. There was a lesson for him and for others to learn in co-ordinating national elements here, as well as lessons for the students. He referred to his regret at being unable to speak French as well as he would like, but he considered proficiency in that language a very desirable accomplishment. He showed how greatly the ability to speak perfect French had aided Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour in his Canadian mission. Mr. Baxter concluded his remarks with felicitations to the graduates and students as well as to the faculty on the success of the year's work.

At 9.30 this morning His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc, after saying mass for the student body, administered the Sacrament of Confirmation to twenty of the younger students.

At 9.30 valedictory addresses were delivered in French by Mr. Emile Boucher and Mr. T. Frank Cashen of Sydney Mines, N. S. After the distribution of degrees, diplomas and prizes, His Lordship addressed the students on the work of the year and on their duties during the vacation. He urged a continuation of the religious practices of all the students and their fervent spiritual life at college, were, he said, the occasion of great satisfaction to all. The assembly was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

F. A. DYKEMAN'S Living Model Demonstration

OF THE MOST SENSIBLE GARMENTS A WOMAN CAN WEAR UNION SUITS AND OVERALLS OVER THREE MILLION WEARING THEM TODAY

This idea has spread from Europe to United States and Canada, where thousands of women are now for the first time wearing a cool, comfortable, clean, sensible, garment for work or pleasure. They have all the comfort, practicability, and cleanliness of a man's overall, yet they are cut so full that they look almost like a skirt. These are the original overalls and union-suits.

On THURSDAY and FRIDAY AFTERNOONS, 2.30 till 4.30 we will hold a special demonstration of these garments on living models. We feel it is a duty we owe the patrons of the store to show them this wonderful garment in the most up-to-date method (on living models), and we feel sure that the efforts we put forth will meet with a ready response from the ladies of this community.

Come and visit this demonstration. Make a special note of it. At Dykeman's.

WE WILL PAY TEN DOLLARS

to the person capturing Fox if the captor shows to Fox at the time a sales slip for any purchase made in our store within two days.
