

ROTHESAY BOYS WON GOVERNOR-GENERAL TROPHY

As a Unit They Showed Highest Efficiency in Nat'l Rifle Assn's Competition.

London, Oct. 26.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Rothsay Collegiate Institute, New Brunswick, won the Governor-General's challenge trophy as a unit showing the highest efficiency in the national rifle association's competitions for school cadets on their own ranges this year.

The National Rifle Association's report of the imperial challenge shields competitions refers to the maintenance of a high standard of shooting by the various competitors.

The senior division of the Australia cadets was clearly due to their careful training, the report says, while the South African boys showed the greatest progress.

The standard of shooting by the cadets in Canada is low compared with the other Dominions.

EFFECT RADIUM ON CANCERS BEING SOUGHT

American College of Surgeons Probably Will Appoint Investigating Committee.

Philadelphia, Oct. 28.—A committee is likely to be appointed from the American College of Surgeons to investigate and collect data on the effect of radium in the treatment of cancer.

That was indicated today by several surgeons attending the eleventh annual session of the American College of Surgeons.

Dr. Deaver addressed the formal opening of the sessions of the college on Monday night. At that time, he expressed the fear that radium was productive of little result in the cure of cancer.

Today surgeons attending the sessions of the college for the most part sided with Dr. Deaver in his contention that the value of radium with cancer had yet to be proved.

Dr. J. Schoemaker of the Hague was emphatic in his belief that Roentgen rays offer greater future for the treatment of cancer than does radium.

There are two large radium institutes in Holland, one at Amsterdam and one at Rotterdam, Dr. Schoemaker declared.

is now being directed to greater experimentation with the X-rays." Dr. Wm. J. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., was asked for his opinion of the value of radium.

"Frankly, I do not know," Dr. Mayo said; "perhaps only a clairvoyant can really tell whether the future holds any possibility for the greater use of radium in cancer treatment."

Prof. L. De Quervain of Berna believes the poor results obtained at present in the use of radium could be corrected if greater quantities were applied in a treatment.

"Instead of such minute particles as are today used I believe if three or more grams were used at once, the growth of the cancer might be hindered. But in the use of radium, the treatment should not be directly against the skin, but at a distance of two or three centimeters, so that the emanations might play on the tissues with greater effect. More burning cannot be said to accomplish much."

In Sweden there has been but little opportunity for extended experimentation with radium, Prof. H. C. Jacobaeus said.

"I might say, however, that our results with it in treatment of cancer have been for the most part altogether indifferent. It has been of value in some instances and again it has been of no value. It certainly has not been wholly satisfactory."

Today surgeons attending the sessions of the college for the most part sided with Dr. Deaver in his contention that the value of radium with cancer had yet to be proved.

Dr. J. Schoemaker of the Hague was emphatic in his belief that Roentgen rays offer greater future for the treatment of cancer than does radium.

The Reason Back of Its Great Service Records—

the way it is built

It is not accident that hundreds of Essex Cars are serving well past their fifty-thousandth mile, with long expectancy of good service still ahead.

Service like that results from the way they are built.

Essex did not bring costly car performance and reliability to the light, moderate-priced field without duplicating or excelling the design and workmanship of the finest high-priced cars.

The care exercised in building Essex cars is not lavished merely on exterior "selling points." It goes equally into parts you never look into. You see that workmanship only as it is expressed in long continued smoothness, and quietness of operation. The Essex does not become loose and noisy, grow wasteful of oil and fuel, and require frequent repairs and adjustments, even after long, hard service.

The New Improved Essex brings even greater reliability than the old car, which is famous for that quality. But you will find the greatest difference in the new thrill and charm of this Essex in action. Men speak of its lulling ease at high speed over all sorts of roads. We know no better way to describe it.
