More Members and Churches

Salaries Have Increased and More Money Is Needed

Convention Accepts Invitation to Meet in Fredericton Next Year—Many Matters Discussed and Committees Appointed—Governors of Acadia Chosen.

Amherst, N. S., Oct. 20.—This is home mission day at the Baptist convention. The report was presented by Rev. L. W. Porter, superintendent. The board is now located in Halifax. Seventy-three pastors have been assisted and one has reached the self-supporting stage. Two churches have secured parsonages, four churches have new houses of worship, salaries have been increased and $15 have been added to home mission funds.

Captain I. Harlick acted as imperialist chaplain at Halifax. The incoming Baptists being 670. Rev. S. B. Kempton, D. D., has been chosen at the Victoria General Hospital. Rev. A. J. McLeod has been general missionary. A special feature of the board is the work among the African people, residents in Nova Scotia, eleven missionaries boarding ship for the West Indies.

Rev. M. Richardson reported for the board of western mission. This report indicated a great year's work in the west. Rev. J. F. Wilford, D. D., LL. D., is the efficient president at Brandon, while Dr. Sawyer is president at Okanagan. Each of these four western provinces have a convention.

Meet in Fredericton Next.

The convention accepted the invitation of the United Baptist churches at Fredericton to meet in their next year.

Rev. Moses Puryear stated the position of the Cornwallis street church, Halifax. He asked for $1,000 from the convention toward their proposed new church.

The report on home missions in New Brunswick shows thirty-five pastors added. There have been 100 additions by baptism. The income of the board is $8,727. Rev. C. W. Wilson is home mission superintendent in New Brunswick.

Rev. E. E. Daly reported for the finance committee. No financial agent had been appointed, no suitable man had been found willing to accept the appointment.

The committee recommended the merging of the work of the financial agent with the work of the foreign mission secretary. Nelson S. Smith reported with that of the home mission secretary of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

This proposition was vigorously opposed by Rev. Dr. Cousins, T. D. Bell, C. E. Stafford and J. H. Jenner, who urged making the pastors more fully responsible for the finances or denominational work. Nelson S. Smith reported with the recommendation of the committee. Rev. R. L. Colpitts supported the recommendation.

Home mission board illustrated of the well known denier of this Baptist body where every man has as good a right to his say as any other has. At such time W. W. Clark, D. G. Clark, J. R. Smallman, W. The speakers at the evening session of the convention were Rev. L. W. Porter, superintendent of some missions for Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, who discussed in a statesmanlike manner the home mission problem of eastern Canada. He said that home missionaries needed courage, patience and the grace of God's faith. The board needs $3,000 at once for the work. The home mis-

EAST MIDDLESEX POLLING TODAY

Thanksgiving Spent By Both Sides in Active Work

MUCH BETTING

Liberal Candidate a Favorite—Opposition are Hopeful That Rogers' Methods in Chateaugay Will Not Be Tolerated by the Decent Conservatives in Today's Contest.

(Special to The Telegraph.)

London, Ont., Oct. 20.—Thanksgiving was peculiarly a political one in East Middlesex, family reunions being given to an unusual extent by political debates and discussions not always by any means harmonious. The holiday was both beneficial and detrimental to politicians, for while it brought some non-resident voters home, it also sent some away.

Actively at the committee rooms of both parties was even greater than on an ordinary occasion, for by the election on the morning of the 23rd, the holiday maker and bettor was as common as on a race course.

The young Liberal candidate, R. L. Fisher, is a popular favorite, but the Conservatives see in his name alone a good omen for them. "We beat one Fisher in Chateaugay," they declare and "we're going to beat all Fishers who come."

Liberals regard that threat as mere insolence and are convinced that the lesson Chateaugay has taught East Middlesex is of a different nature. "Don't let East Middlesex become a bye-word for corruption like Chateaugay," is their argument, and it is a telling one. "Rogers' methods are deplored in London by all respectable Conservatives, and, as the Globe declares, it will be East Middlesex's own fault if it does not get a pure election."

BRITAIN'S GREATEST FIGHTING MACHINE

H. M. S. Queen Elizabeth launched at the Royal Navy Dockyard last week for the British navy. The Queen Elizabeth is the most powerful battleship in the world, carrying nothing but oil for motive power and carrying a main armament of ten fifteen inch guns and a large secondary armament. She has been a year in building and will be ready for service in another year.

TWO-FACED CAMPAIGN IN CHATEAUGAY

Tories Circulated Laurier's Imperialistic Utterances On Naval Question Among the French Electors to Show That Liberal Leader's Policy was Too British.

Ottawa, Oct. 18.—The Chateaugay election was won by the Conservatives—not only by the use of money and other corrupt arguments familiar to the "Mantoba methods" of the Borden-Rogers government—but also by catching the remnants of the Nationalist vote with a cry against the Canadian navy in general. A couple of days before the election the riding was flooded with copies of a campaign sheet entitled "Opinion" which was widely read for its attack on the Liberal government.

The Conservative campaign sheet in Chateaugay proceeds under a big heading "THE BLOOD TRIBUTE" to quote extracts from Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech on the naval question in parliament on December 18, 1912, in which he said that unless he mistook the spirit of the Canadian people they did not want "this hybrid contrivance policy which they will insist that England and Germany should declare a 'naval holiday' in 1914." It was received without comment.

The article again quotes Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech on the naval question in which he said: "What she needs today is not a fleet, she needs a government which will give to her subjects throughout the entire world." This again emphasized with italics.

"If there were an emergency, if England were in danger—no, I will not use that expression but if England were on trial with one or two or more of the great European powers, my right honorable friend (Mr. Borden) might come and ask me $35,000,000 but two, three or four times this amount. We would put at the disposal of England all the resources of Canada, and there would not be a single dissentient voice."

Hon. Mr. Graham Too Layal for Tories.

Next this Tory campaign sheet quotes Hon. C. P. Graham as saying in the same debate: "What do these French-Canadian think of a government which wishes to give to the empire aid in money, and WHICH REFUSES."

"FOR THE SERVICE OF ITS DEFENCE" and "AND WHICH REFUSES."

It winds up by saying: "If you have no spirit is gone and that they will NOT FURNISH A SINGLE MAN."

Then Dr. Michael Clark is quoted in italics, as saying: "The storm of indignation which Mr. Borden spoke were to break upon the empire but a drop of Canadian blood would be spilled or offered."

In the same vein the Tory sheet quotes Messrs. Guthrie and Bovine, railing against the Liberal policy of giving money to the empire and not giving the empire the money to equip them with Canadian sailors, (and in italics) to place our young men behind the guns and send them to fight for Canada and the empire."

This is the kind of stuff used by the Tory-Tories behind Mr. Borden when they come to the province of Quebec. The unholy alliance with the Nationalists is as strong as ever. The Tories who delight in Ontario, with their shouts of patriotism do not hesitate to quote and distort every loyal and imperial utterance of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his followers in order to foster opposition to them in the province of Quebec.

How will this style of double dealing seduce the voters of East Middlesex and South Bruce? They must agree with Sir Wilfrid Laurier when he said that he would rather be defeated and in opposition than elected and in power by the means which Mr. Borden had adopted. Hon. Sydney Fisher, defeated in Chateaugay, retained his personal and political honor—the day won was for the Tories, but they sacrificed both.

OPEN THE DOOR FOR MRS. PANKHURST

ADAMANTLY DIED OF POISON

Deportation Order Cancelled

President Wilson and Advisers Decide to Admit Her

Will Permit Militant Suffragette Leader to Carry Out Her Lecture Programme in United States—Must Quit the Country Then.

Washington, D.C., Oct. 20.—America's doors were opened today to Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, and during the few weeks covered by her lecture engagement the British militant suffragette leader is free to go where she will in the United States.

(Canadian Press.)

Washington, D.C., Oct. 20.—America's doors were opened today to Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, and during the few weeks covered by her lecture engagement the British militant suffragette leader is free to go where she will in the United States.

An order releasing the much discussed visitor from detention at Ellis Island, New York, and revoking the deportation order of the special inquiry board, was issued today, after President Wilson had conferred with Secretary Wilson of the department of labor, and a formal hearing before Immigration Commissioner Caminetti on Mrs. Pankhurst's appeal had been concluded.

Secretary Wilson announced that he and the president had agreed that Mrs. Pankhurst should be admitted "on her own recognizance" with the understanding that she should depart when she had fulfilled her lecture engagements.

Both the president and the secretary agreed with Commissioner Caminetti, in the opinion that there is an element of doubt as to whether the acts for which Mrs. Pankhurst has been convicted in England constituted moral turpitude, were political in character.

Commissioner Caminetti tonight issued a formal statement outlining the reasons for his decision in the case.

"There is nothing in the record, or before me," said the statement, "to indicate that the British government desires that Mrs. Pankhurst shall be returned to England; and the evidence of the record indicates that while she was placed under sentence of three years penal servitude, she has served only a small part of her sentence, and apparently no effort has been made to compel her to serve the balance; but as a matter of fact, marked leniency has been shown towards the applicant by the English authorities, shall this government deny even temporary asylum when by so doing, less consideration would be shown Mrs. Pankhurst than England had displayed."

"Mrs. Pankhurst states, and counsel throughout the case have asserted, that she is coming here only for a short visit for the specific purpose of fulfilling engagements to deliver lectures; that all that is desired is that she may be allowed to carry out these engagements."

A Woodstock Banquet.

Woodstock, Oct. 20.—(Special)—Fifty or sixty of the citizens of Woodstock gave a banquet tonight to George D. Tilton, the new proprietor of the Royal Hotel. Among the speech-makers were Alvin Burden, Berry Hartley, J. M. McLean and W. Mead. The singing of God Save the King brought the function to a close.

here he spent the past two years. He reports times very hard to overcome, and large numbers are returning east with almost every train. Real estate has depreciated, work is scarce and living conditions are not expected to improve materially for years and the outlook, according to general impressions, is not promising for as much prosperity here as before.

Considerable lumbering operations will be carried on in the Shepody mountain this winter. Renforth Porter will cut the timber on the McClellan lot and J. R. Russell will operate in the Russel lands, unletting the cutting to Nelson Brown. The two cuts will make about 1,000,000 feet.

The heavy rain today had a discouraging effect on the farmers who have had more respect for his white hair, was staggering toward one of the "blind pigs," and fell and hurt himself, the accident and his fecht curses excited a great deal of laughter and ridicule among a group of his grandson's comrades, who were watching him from a little distance. The verandah of the local hotel was full of men, all more or less "happy" and several belligerent, who were shouting and making high spirits with a group of young men, anxious, doubtless, to be impartial in their patronage, were coming down street with uncertain steps to one of the other places, fortunately no one is dead and no bones were broken so far as the writer knows, but both these things have happened at the Stanley fair in the last few years. Of course, this time, Scott Act officer John F. Timmins was in Stanley for the fair. There are several other places in the province known to the writer, who introducing liquors seem to be easily obtainable.

The Scott Act officers make occasional visits to these places, and less occasionally impose fines—almost always for a "first offense," and seldom, often enough to discharge these disreputable men and women from their abominable habits. It is not possible to secure a more efficient carrying out of the law. The Province of Nova Scotia employs an officer who devotes his whole time to that duty, but he is not so strict and that the officers do perform their duty. And when his life is attempted he takes it as a sign that he is doing his duty, and he punishes accordingly with more vigour than before, if that were possible. New Brunswick can better afford to pay such an officer than it can afford to let this rascal traffic so with so little check.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space, I am,

Yours truly,
STANLEY,

COUNTRY FAIRS AND LIQUOR

To the Editor of The Telegraph.

Sir,—The occasion of this letter is the annual Stanley fair, an excellent institution in itself, but accompanied by so much drinking that it is dreaded by all respectable citizens. Thursday morning while the children were going to school, an old man, who should have had more respect for his white hair, was staggering toward one of the "blind pigs," and fell and hurt himself, the accident and his fecht curses excited a great deal of laughter and ridicule among a group of his grandson's comrades, who were watching him from a little distance. The verandah of the local hotel was full of men, all more or less "happy" and several belligerent, who were shouting and making high spirits with a group of young men, anxious, doubtless, to be impartial in their patronage, were coming down street with uncertain steps to one of the other places, fortunately no one is dead and no bones were broken so far as the writer knows, but both these things have happened at the Stanley fair in the last few years. THE MUNICIPAL COUNCILLORS

To the Editor of The Telegraph.

Sir,—In last Sunday's issue of the New Freeman, a letter appeared from a correspondent appealing to the Catholics of Simonds to vote for Mr. T. B. Carson for councillor because of his liberality in resigning his position from the Tuberculosis Hospital Commission, that a Catholic might be appointed in his place. I would like to ask this correspondent, where was Mr. Carson's liberality when he removed from office all parish appointees, Protestant and Catholic alike, and his colleagues who had held office two years ago. Now why should other Catholics or Protestants vote for Mr. Carson, since he is not now nor ever was a resident of the parish, and since Simonds, and recently voted his interest in the parish, by voting with his two tame followers, Shillington and Stephenson, for the removal and sale of the Municipal Home at a ridiculously low price.

Why should Mr. Carson's name be placed by his colleagues who are not residents of the parish on the electoral list for Simonds for 1914? And his name appears also on the revisors' electoral list for the parish of St. Martin's, where he was his own voter, while he should any voter in Simonds vote for Shillington and Carson, as they have rendered no account of what they did with the money money expended through the Highway Board for the year 1912, which board was composed of these men.

(Signed) SIMONDS,
Simonds, St. John County, October 14, 1913.

His Luck

One grand sweet song he thought his life would be when he acquired a wife. The song turned out to his deep pain. No song at all, a mere refrain. For she, the shiner of his fate, made him refrain from this and that; Refrain from going to the club; Refrain from playing poker, too poor dull Refrain from leaving things around his house as his wont ever he was bound. His weary form he must not throw Upon the couch, 't would muss things so. Refrain from entering the hall With muddy shoes, but worst of all Refrain from what he'd done for years. From smoking—he was nigh to tear. So his married life turned out, 'tis plain. One grand (but far from sweet) refrain.

Invaders of the City Met No Foe When They Began Attack

Toronto, Oct. 20.—The usual sham battle which takes place on Thanksgiving did not come off today. The military authorities of Toronto did not wish to have any brave defenders of the city run the risk of contracting colds, so when the day broke with a drizzling rain fall they decided that the fight would not be carried out.

Unfortunately, the Queen's Own Rifles, which had been selected to attack the city, did not know about this arrangement. They marched forth early in the day to begin the invasion, but the other local regiments remained at the armories. A great deal of fun is being made locally of the regiments who would not defend the city in a rain storm.

British View Towards Mexico

London, Oct. 20.—The view of the British government is that the policy of Sir Lionel Carden, the British Minister to Mexico, is not antagonistic to the letter of the United States, and it is pointed out as merely a coincidence that Sir Lionel Carden presented his credentials simultaneously with Provisional President Huerta's declaration of a dictatorship. The fact that Great Britain had recognized Provisional President Huerta rendered it necessary, it is argued here, that the British minister should present his letters without delay and to obtain an official standing.

Dr. Shaller Matthews spoke on the social aspect.

Rev. H. G. Mellic spoke on the opportunities and responsibilities for work in western Canada.

He Who Reads Doesn't Have to Run

Because you are a reader of advertising it does not follow that you are going to be influenced by every advertisement.

The man who needs a new overcoat and is seeking to buy it by the best advantage is not going to be deceived by the advertisement of an ice cream freezer.

But the wise overcoat seller is going to compare the advertising appeals of the stores that sell coats.

He is going to read their reasons and form his own conclusions.

Advertising is not meant to do your thinking for you—it is intended to help you do your own thinking.

Advertising readers "think straight," because they see from all sides.

They have looked before they were ready to leap—and when they buy they spend their money with wisdom.

HUNGER STRIKER ON STRETCHER AT LONDON MEETING

London, Oct. 20.—A dramatic appearance at the weekly suffragette meeting was made today by Miss Annie Kenney, organizer of the Women's Social and Political Union, the militant suffragette organization.

Suffering from the effects of a "hunger strike" in Holloway jail, the idol of the women's movement, looking extremely feeble, was borne into the hall on a stretcher and given a memorable reception by the crowded audience of women who stood on chairs and cheered until they were weary.

This was Miss Kenney's first appearance in public since her release, and she reached the hall in an ambulance, escorted by a guard of militant suffragettes in taxicabs.

The stretcher, supported on chairs, was placed in the middle of the platform where Miss Kenney lay motionless and only able to whisper a few words to her friends.

PRESIDENT WILSON WILLING TO TAKE HALF A LOAF AGREES TO AMENDMENTS TO CURRENCY BILL IF CONGRESS HURRY ITS PASSAGE

Washington, Oct. 20.—With President Wilson willing to accept substantial amendments to the administration's currency bill in the hope of securing speedy action on the measure in the senate committee, supporters of the administration have good optimism over the chances for the passage of the measure before the end of the extra session of congress.

The president himself in a letter to Majority Leader Underwood, announced his willingness to consider a proposal for a recess of the house, because he said the conference with members of the bill would be reported to the senate the first week in November, and passed during the present session.

Republican members of the committee and Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, were inclined to look upon this plan as too optimistic.
