The Transcript.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1916.

Cairo.

Mrs. H. A. Summers and daughter Evelyn are London visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Wehlman of Rodney are visiting friends in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Delabar of Buffalo are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Wehlman.

Miss Myrtle Annett of London is making a brief visit at her former home here.

M. D. Smith of London arrived on Friday to enjoy a few days at his former home.

Miss Margaret Carter, a former teacher in S. S. No. 10, is renewing acquaintances here.

The Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. E. E. Penby on Thursday and decided to hold a bazaar on the 9th inst.

Anniversary services were held in the Presbyterian church on Sunday, conducted by Rev. Dr. Boyd of Thamesville, moderator. The day being an ideal one, large crowds assembled at each service who listened attentively to two practical discourses during the day. The musical part of praise was conducted by the choir, assisted by members of the Fancher church. A solo by B. W. Fancher at the evening service was a pleasing feature of the occasion. The Armstrong church, which their service and attended in large numbers, manifesting an agreeable and Christian feeling.

Awful asthma attacks. Is there a member of your family who is in the power of this distressing trouble? No service you can render him will equal the bringing to his attention of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. This remarkable remedy rests its reputation upon what it has done for others. It has a truly wonderful record, covering years and years of success in almost every part of this continent, and even beyond the seas.

MIDDLEMISS.

Douglas McArthur is building a new stable.

J. A. McDonald loaded a car of wheat this week.

John McFarlane loaded a car of hogs Saturday at $10.75 cwt.

Mrs. Daniel McGugan of London called on friends here a few days ago.

Wm. Carroll, who was thrown from a rake by his runaway team and badly hurt, is able to be out again.

The school garden fair will be held on the school grounds, S. S. No. 11, Middlemiss, on Saturday, Oct. 14th.

Arch. McNabb, who has been west for a month or two, arrived home on Friday last, having been telegraphed for to see his mother, who is very low.

We understand that the parties interested in the tile drain at the east end have come to an agreement and the drain, which was filled with sand, will be opened.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fletcher have returned from the West. They say they are glad to see old Middlemiss again and have no desire to live in the West, although things are fairly good out there.

Our streets, now under way of improvement, will be equal to the best of any of our neighbor towns, when completed. Next, let us fix up our fences, paint our buildings and lastly but not least cut down the weeds.

If your children are troubled with worms, give them Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator; safe, sure and effective. Try it, and mark the improvement in your child.

Kilmartin.

Miss Elizabeth McAlpine was home from her school over the holidays.

Mac Munroe and bride of Walker-ville are spending a few days at Neil Munroe's.

Margaret Little who is attending Normal School at London, was home for the holidays.

D. F. McLachlan, wife and twin daughters of Windsor visited at Alex. McLachlan's for a few days.

Mrs. Smith of Chatham, who spent some time visiting her son, Rev. Dr. Smith, returned home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Crosby of Highgate have returned from a honeymoon trip and are visiting at Duncan McAlpine's.

Grant Smith met with a painful accident last week when he was run over by a buggy several of his teeth being knocked out.

Mr. Woods of Kilmartin was severely hurt a few days ago while at work in Graham's gravel pit, being nearly buried by a cave-in.

Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be dispensed in Burns' church, Moss, on Sunday morning next. Preparatory services will be conducted by Rev. McKay of Alvinston on Friday at 11 o'clock.

How to Cleanse the System.—Farnelle's Vegetable Pills are the result of scientific study of the effects of extracts of certain roots and herbs upon the digestive organs. Their use has demonstrated in many instances that they regulate the action of the liver and the kidneys, purify the blood and carry off morbid accumulation from the system. They are easy to take, and their action is mild and beneficial.

Wardsville.

Miss Mary Martyn spent the holiday in London.

Mrs. Skill of Los Angeles is visiting friends here.

J. Ward of Windsor spent the holiday at his home.

W. Aitchison of London spent the holiday at his home.

Mrs. Walker of Florence is visiting her sister, Mrs. Yates.

Fred Luke of London spent the week-end with Leonard Purdy.

Miss Hazel Miller of Chatham spent the week-end at her home here.

Fred Smith of Kingsville spent the week-end with his parents here.

Mrs. T. Henderson of Detroit spent the week-end with Mrs. C. Minna.

Miss Vera Palmer of Detroit spent a few days last week at her home here.

Mrs. McKay of London spent the holiday with her daughter, Mrs. O. J. Glenn.

Mrs. Reid and daughters Marion and Dorothy of Bothwell are visiting at her home here.

Mrs. Collins and daughter Pat of Windsor and Mrs. Hobbs of Birr spent the holiday with Mrs. J. A. Mulligan.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Jackson and Miss Gertrude of St. Thomas spent the holiday with Mrs. M. Jackson here.

Misses H. Quigley of Essex, L. Sheppard of Windsor, N. Jackson of Portchester and B. Watterworth of Port Lambton spent the holiday at their homes here.

No better protection against worms can be got than Miller's Worm Powders. They consume worms and render the stomach and intestines unattractive to them. They heal the surfaces that have become inflamed by the attacks of the parasites and serve to restore the strength of the child that has been undermined by the draughts that the worms have made upon it, and their operation is altogether health-giving.

Our Millinery Department

offers many special values in the season's latest creations. Be sure you visit our show rooms before buying your hat.

Great Values in Cotton and Linens

This sale presents just the opportunity you have been waiting for. Cottons and Linens are advancing in price so rapidly that very soon some lines will be out of reach of many. We have purchased well in advance and reserved an enormous stock of great values specially for this sale, so buy your needs for months to come as this is an opportunity to buy White Sheetings, White and Grey Cottons and Linens at less than mill prices.

Mill ends Flannelette at 11c, in a variety of patterns.

Remarkable Values in Sweater Coats at last year's prices. Children's Sweater Coats very specially priced.

BE FAIR WITH THE DOG.

Give It a Square Deal and It Will Repay You For Your Care.

Only muzzle a dog if it is absolutely necessary. The wearing of a muzzle tends to make dogs cross and snappish. It does not prove that a dog has rabies or is mad because it froths at the mouth. It may have a sore throat or a fit.

Clipping the ears is a cruel and barbarous practice, wholly unnecessary, depriving the animal of its natural comfort and beauty and injuring its hearing.

If you must tie up the dog have the end of the chain secured to a ring on a long wire so that it can have the run of at least twenty or thirty feet.

Don't blame the dog for showing no ambition if it is overfed on meats and sweets. Its health and spirits will be of the best if it is given simple but substantial food and allowed the freedom of outdoor life.

Train the dog with firmness and fairness. The animal is eager to learn what is wanted of it and when once it understands will follow instructions with almost human intelligence.—Our Dumb Animals.

"A Right and Lawful Road"

An example of the old rough and ready methods of arriving at a measurement is the Elizabethan way of getting the "feet." Falentin Leigh, who wrote on surveying, records that after service on Sunday sixteen men were stopped at the church door, just as they happened to come out, and drawn up in line, left foot to left foot. The length thus obtained was taken as "a right and lawful road to measure and survey the land with," and a sixteenth part of it as "a right and lawful foot." Although big and little men were thus roughly averaged against each other, the results naturally varied to some extent. Hence it is, as Shaw Sparrow notes in treating of this "road" as the architectural "bay" which gives us the "bay window," that a bay is sometimes found to be rather less than sixteen feet of twelve inches.—London Chronicle.

Prodigality of Life in Ancient Egypt. The reckless prodigality with which in ancient Egypt the upper classes squandered away the labor and lives of the people is perfectly startling. In this respect, as the monuments yet remaining abundantly prove, they stand alone and without a rival. We may form some idea of the almost incredible waste when we hear that 2,000 men were occupied for three years in carrying a single stone from Elephantine to Sals, that the canal of the Red sea alone cost the lives of 120,000 Egyptians and that to build one of the pyramids required the labor of 300,000 men for twenty years.—Westminster Gazette.

Origin of the Mastiff. Mastiff is a term applied to a very large and powerful species of the canine family, and there is considerable conflict of opinion regarding the origin of the word. Some claim that it is derived from the Italian mastino or the French mastin, both of which signify large limbed. This word, they say, was gradually corrupted into masti, a Lincolnshire expression meaning very large, muscular or big, until it gradually assumed its present form. Others again say its true origin is the old German masten, to fatten, because the mastiff is a large dog and so seems better fed than any other.—London Field.

Epictetus. The "Discourses of Epictetus" were written not by the philosopher himself, but by his faithful pupil Arrian, afterward the historian of Alexander the Great. Arrian tells us that he took down the sayings of his master at the time they were delivered, and thus we may rely upon the substantial correctness of the discourses. Epictetus wrote nothing, and but for the thoughtfulness of his affectionate disciple we would have known nothing of his wonderful teachings—teachings which have inspired many of the greatest men who have lived during the past 2,000 years.

Satisfied With Little. The Australian bushmen wish only a shelter from the rain, and if they can find a cave or overhanging rock that will shelter them they will build no house. If there is no such natural shelter they select a place where many trees or bushes grow together and weave the branches together and cover them with grass. This forms a roof to keep off the rain.—Pittsburgh Press.

Idle Talk. "Goah ding!" "What happened?" "I talked two hours trying to persuade that girl to give me a kiss." "Well?" "Just as she agreed her father came in and began to talk politics."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Hard to Whip. "When you're whipped," said Mr. Dolan, "you ought to say you've had enough." "If I have enough strength left to say I've had enough," replied Mr. Rafferty, "then I'm not whipped yet."—Washington Star.

His Share. Kries—What did you get out of your aunt's estate? Kross—After settling things up the lawyer bled me to a good dinner and loaned me $5.—Brooklyn Life.

If you invite people's opinion you're no right to sneer at them because they don't say what you wanted.—David Graham Phillips.

GAME IN THE ANTARCTIC.

Seal Steak is Good, and So Are the Breasts and Eggs of Penguins.

In the antarctic there is not the immense variety of game which is to be found in north polar regions; but, on the other hand, it is very abundant and can be turned into food with the smallest exertion. The Weddell seal, which sometimes weighs as much as half a ton, allows itself to be killed and cut up with placid calm. Its natural enemies are in the water, and for long generations it has been accustomed to bask in the sun undisturbed.

Seal steak is an acquired taste, but when acquired explorers prefer it to tinned provisions. It is a common assumption that seal flesh tastes of oil. That is a mistake; the flesh itself contains no fat, but it is extremely rich in blood, and in taste suggests the Scottish delicacy known as black pudding.

Penguins, too, make a very desirable addition to the antarctic larder. Epicures eat only the breast, which is rather like hare, but of a more delicate flavor. The eggs, which are very abundant in the spring, suggest ducks' eggs, but are about four times as big. They are excellent eating if you happen to pick a new laid one, but this is naturally something of a lottery, and a penguin egg can be very bad indeed.—London Chronicle.

OVER THE EQUATOR.

The Coldest Air Blows High Up Above This Torrid Region.

Winds blow not merely along the surface of the earth, but upward and downward throughout the atmosphere. They whirl about in all directions. So it is impossible to construct a weather chart that will really show the directions of the winds, for such a chart would have to be in three dimensions.

Professor Alexander MacAdie of Harvard in an article in the Geographical Review describes some of the recent experiments in the upper air performed by sounding balloons. The atmosphere has, roughly, two layers, the lower called the troposphere and the upper the stratosphere. The strongest winds are found just below the stratosphere, and it would seem that pressure changes originate in this region. The stratosphere is highest over the equator and lowest over the poles, but its height varies with the season. "At the equator," says Professor MacAdie, "as we rise in the air the temperature continues to fall to a much greater height than in temperate latitudes. Indeed, the lowest temperature is found above the equator."

Origin of Satin. The discovery of the principle of the manufacture of satin was a pure accident. The discovery was made by a silk weaver named Octavio Mai. During a dull period of business one day he was pacing before his loom, not knowing how to give a new impulse to his trade. As he passed the machine each time he pulled short threads from the warp and, following an old habit, put them into his mouth and rolled them about, soon after spitting them upon the floor. Later he discovered a little ball of silk upon the floor of his shop and was astonished at the brilliancy of the threads. He repeated the experiment and eventually employed various mucilaginous preparations and succeeded in making satin.

Deaf as an Adder. The expression "deaf as an adder" is from the Psalms of David, where it appears in the following form: "Their poison is like the poison of serpents. They are like the deaf adder that stopeth her ear, which will not hearken to the voice of charmers, charming ever so wisely." East Indian travelers tell us that there is a widely prevailing superstition in the east to the effect that both the viper and the asp stop their ears when the charmer is uttering his incantations or playing his music by turning one ear to the ground and twisting the point of the tail into the other.

Lots Easier. Bobby rushed out to meet his father the other night as he was returning from work and said breathlessly: "Oh, papa, I won't have to study nearly so hard at school any more." Now, Bobby had been doing far from well, and his father was pleased to hear of the new interest, hoping for better things. "How's that, my son?" said he. "Oh, I got put back a class."

Her Next Move. "Let me see," mused the young wife as she picked up the cookbook, "I have mixed the batter for the angel cake. Now what do I do next?" "Telephone for the doctor," answered the heartless husband, who happened along in time to overhear her.

Varied Views of Marriage. Marriage is a lottery to the bachelor, an urgent necessity in the opinion of the widower, a delightful temptation to the widow, a habit with a good many.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Cause For Thanks. Wife—The dressmaker says she won't make me another gown until you pay her bill. Hub (with relief)—That is very good of her. I must write her a note of thanks.

Falls of Iguaçu. More than twice as wide as Niagara and fully fifty feet higher, the falls of Iguaçu, in South America, is one of the great wonders of that continent.

Our affections are our life. We live by these. They supply our warmth.—Channing.
