Dried flower sale Saturday

There will be masses of color at the dried flower sale to be held at the University of Alberta this Saturday.

The third annual dried flower sale is being sponsored by the Friends of The University Botanic Garden. It will be held in the foyer of the Biological Sciences Building on the university campus, beginning at 2 and lasting until 4 p.m. on Saturday, September 28.

Visitors are being asked to park in university parking lot

"E", located east of the building on Saskatchewan Drive at 113 Street. They can enter the building by the main east doors.

Dried flowers in hues of purple, pink, yellow and white will be for sale, as will dried strawflowers, seed heads and grasses.

Some arrangements have been made up, but flowers are available for those who would rather do it themselves.

There will be no advance sales.
