

The Immigration Season Opens with a Rush

Types of New Canadians

These settlers were sketched by a "Sphere" artist as they were embarking for their trans-Atlantic voyage. Every week several train-loads of new-comers are now being rushed more than half-way across the Continent to that western land where they begin a new life under hopeful conditions.