Queries Answered

Editor Klondike Nugget.—Dear Sir,—Please answer the following questions: 1.—By what authority and who was responsible for the enactment of the income provision—$900 in previous 6 months—in the late election in Dawson; also 2.—What lien laws are there in the Yukon territory by which a mechanic may secure wages due him for work on buildings or other work.

J. G. TAYLOR.

(1)—The ordinance of incorporation passed by the Yukon council, provided that voters should be able to show an income of $1800 per annum. 2.—The mechanic has a lien against any building upon which he may be employed to the extent of any unpaid balance which may be due the contractor. If, however, the contractor has received all moneys due him from the builder, the mechanic has no lien against the building and must look to the contractor for his wages.)

Says Andrew Carnegie to London Reporter—Says He Has Reformed.

Special to the Daily Nugget. London, May 8.—Andrew Carnegie says there is no cause for alarm from the shipping combine. "The combine of the shipping traffic is a big order," said he to a London reporter this morning. "There is a free right of way on the ocean, and tramp steamers are always with us. I am not in the navigation syndicate, having retired from business, and reformed. Combine is merely a question of money making. Trade don't care a fig for a flag, but dividends count."

Mr. Carnegie concerning trusts said "None will be long allowed to enjoy exceptional returns. Counter combinations will be formed and competition quarrels will follow." He believes Great Britain will in future form a state of American federation.

Litigation Stopped

Special to the Daily Nugget. Washington, May 8.—The change in the San Domingo government puts an end to the attempt at settlement of the claims of the Dominican Improvement Company of New York against the republic, as United States Consul Powell is leaving for Haiti. The Dominican congress has dissolved and a provisional government formed with General Vasquez titled as Supreme Chief of the Revolution.

PERFECTLY PREPARED

Log Fenders Arround the Robert Kerr

Steamers on the Water Front do Not Anticipate Any Trouble With the Ice.

Preparations for the break-up of the ice still continue along the water front and come as soon as it may there will be but little more that can be done in the way of affording protection to the steamers and other property from the awful grinding and irresistible force of the massive ice floes after once started as they are carried on to the sea. It was formerly considered suicidal for anything to be left within reach of the ice and the thought of a steamboat wintering anywhere but in a slough and escaping being crushed as an egg shell in the break-up was preposterous. The present is the second winter for the Robert Kerr in her present berth adjoining the Aurora dock and as she escaped any damage last year it is pretty safe to assume the same will hold true this season. Within the past few days the Kerr has been sheathed on the outer side by a fender of logs suspended from the dock by means of chains which will act as a protection from the ice and preclude the possibility of a hole being jammed in her side. The same course was pursued last spring and it was found to work admirably, though the logs were pretty well ground up by the time the river was clear. In addition to the heavy steel cable attached to the dock the Kerr has recently run out a couple of six-inch hawpers which, combined, it is thought will prove sufficient to resist any strain they may have to bear.

The Flora and Nora will depend largely for protection upon the Robert Kerr, they having taken shelter immediately behind the larger craft. The Gold Star was pulled out on the shore and blocked up last fall on the bank adjoining the N. C. wharf, where she is safe from all danger and probably in a position where she can be floated off at high water without the use of jacks. The boats and barges in the slough opposite Klondike City are safe as they are entirely beyond the reach of the current.

The hauling away of the tag ends of the winter's wood piles on the bar opposite the barracks still continues, and every stick will have been removed within a few days more. Several scows that were frozen in well out in the river last fall have been knocked to pieces, the lumber hauled in to the roadside and is now being offered for sale.

Both the fire engine scows have been snubbed up as closely to the bank as possible and Hubrick's ferry boat is lying at the foot of Queen street ready to be launched the moment the river is clear.

Victory for U. S.

Special to the Daily Nugget. Washington, May 8.—The United States won a sweeping victory over the Republic of Salvador in the matter of arbitration of the claim of the Salvador Commercial Co., other citizens of the States are stockholders. Sir Henry Strong, and Don M. Dickinson, a majority of the arbitrators, gave Americans $573,175. Don Jose Rosa Pacas, Salvadorian representative on the board of arbitration, strongly dissented.

Enough to Cover Debts

Special to the Daily Nugget. New York, May 8.—J. A. Bush, assignee of Henry Bros., who failed during the Webb-Meyer excitement, said the liabilities amount to $2,163,314. He also says the firm has sufficient assets to cover all debts.

DISPENSING WITH SHOVELS

New Scheme Used in Washing Dumps

Water Brought Under Pressure From Boulder to Monte Cristo.

New experiments in mining operations suggested by experience of the conditions under which claims are worked in this district are continually being tried with more or less satisfactory results. A recent departure has been made on Monte Cristo Hill, where dumps are being sluiced by strictly hydraulic means. A Trahold is the originator of this scheme, which has been found to work very successfully. The method of working is as follows: A thirty-inch sluice box extends from the face of the dump down to the space reserved for the tailings. A single sluice head of water is conducted through a canvas flume into the sluice box. Another sluice head under a pressure of 100 feet, is brought from Boulder creek by the same means. With a smaller hose and nozzle, the water is thrown against the drift and as the dirt drops it is carried into the big sluice box. Two sluice heads are thus utilized which is all the water Mr. Trahold dares to use. Parties who have seen the working of the Trahold claim state that the method is very successful. One man with the nozzle accomplishes as much as ten men would be able to do in a given time.

PELLEY RIVER RUNS CLEAR

Three Mile Ice Jam Below Selkirk

River is Entirely Open From LeBarge Down to Little Salmon.

Those who possess sporting proclivities are making all kinds of bets as to how soon the ice will go out, and the nearer the time approaches and the higher the river rises the more exciting it becomes. The bets are small, as a rule, only just enough to make it interesting and yet be a gamble and so far no one has laid any complaint against such an iniquitous infraction of the majesty of the law. One old rouser whose chief delight is in having a dealer cut down his bets has laid a wager of $5 with a friend that the ice does not move before the 15th and he considers he has a lead pipe cick in the stakes. The report from up river indicates that the end is fast approaching and the general opinion is that before another week rolls by the ice will be on the move.

The up river stations have wired as follows: Ogilvie—The river is breaking up in front of the office and the water is rising fast.

Stewart—The water is fast rising and lifting the ice.

Selwyn—River is rapidly coming up and the ice is breaking in places. Looks as though it might go out at any time.

Selkirk—The Pelly ice ran out last night and raised the Yukon five feet. It is jammed now for three miles below here.

Big Salmon—River is wide open from LeBarge as far down as Little Salmon. About 35 boats and 300 persons have passed down in the last two days.

Clean Your Premises

The police have not in any sense relaxed their vigil in the matter of inspecting premises, and those found to be in a filthy condition, their owners are notified to confront Judge Macanlay in the police court where, in cases of gross negligence, heavy fines are invariably imposed. The aim is to have the city in thorough sanitary condition by the time the warm weather arrives and the police and magistrate may be relied upon to do their share towards carrying out the intent of the law.

People who are waiting for grass and weeds to grow and conceal the filth about their premises are apt to realize before long that the police are already grown.

Tennis Court Lengthened

The trustees of the Dawson Tennis Club this morning let a contract for the extension of their board court ten feet on each end and four feet on the side. As soon as the alterations are completed practice games will begin, though the new outfit of the club will not arrive until the opening of navigation. Some time during the summer the club will erect a pavilion adjoining the court where tea may be served by the ladies during the tournament prior to the close of the season. Several new players have arrived in the city during the winter and some excellent tennis is looked for this summer. Among the number is Mr. E. B. Bolger, who last year won the Ottawa championship and is considered one of the fastest and hardest players in Ontario. The club has 60 members and is in a most flourishing condition.

A great show — A. B. Minstrels, Friday and Saturday nights, May 8 and 10.

Gould and Clark Combine

Los Angeles, Cal., April 5.—The Herald says: Los Angeles will be the Pacific coast terminus of the Gould railway system. The Gould and Clark interests have combined at either side of the continent, Senator W. A. Clark having joined with George J. Gould in the building of a road from Pittsburg to the Atlantic seaboard, and Mr. Gould becoming interested in the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake road. The associations will give the Gould system a continuous line of roads across the continent, beginning with the Salt Lake, then the Rio Grande Western and the Denver & Rio Grande to Denver, the Missouri Pacific to St. Louis, the Wabash to Pittsburg and the West Virginia Central with projected extensions to the Atlantic.

Charles W. Clark, the senator's son, who is now in Los Angeles, and J. Ross Clark, brother of the senator, who has the management of the Salt Lake railroad, would only partly affirm the reports of a combination of the Gould and Clark interests. "I haven't received any direct information concerning a combination with Mr. Gould," said J. Ross Clark. "It seems probable, and such action at Salt Lake would give Mr. Gould the long-sought outlet to the Pacific, but I can't enlighten you further."

Special to the Daily Nugget. The Hague, May 8.—Reports from Castle Lee indicate Wilhelm's condition reassuring.

Easily Pardoned

Impartiality is supposed to be one of the prime requisites of a good school-teacher, and indeed it is a quality which most of them possess. But even the schoolmistress, by human and as a story in the Christian Register shows, may measure out justice with a due regard for extenuating circumstances.

A little Cambridge girl was discovered whispering in school, and the teacher asked, "What were you saying to the girl next to you when I caught you whispering?" The little culprit hung her head for a moment, and then replied: "I was only telling her how nice you looked in your new dress."

"Well, that—you-I know—but we must the class in spelling will please stand up!"
