MY HORSE LINES.

A Story for Wee Folk.

OSE thought she would s'prise me that morning and find me asleep when she came creeping in to put her presents under my pillow, but I was up and trying on the rubber boots and bath be, and counting the six gold dollars in the nice red pocketbook. "Oh, how rich you are!" she said, making big,

There was something in the toe of my boot, and I sat on the bed, and Rose pulled and pulled, and when the boot came off she fell back and bumped her head. But she jumped right up, and we looked in the boot and found something worsted that jingled. It was yards and yards, and Rose said, "It is a mile long," but I knew better. Horse lines never are miles long. They were all lovely colors, and grandma made them; she knits things. I harnessed Rose, and we raced down to the kitchen, where Mr. Handy was putting up shelves, and he measured them with his rule and told us they were just twelve feet long. After breakfast mamma asked if I would like to go to the Park to play horse. I told her now I was six I was too grown up to have a nurse take me. Mamma said, "Well, Katie can take Rose, and you can be their escort." I'm going to ask papa what that I drove Rose all the way to the Park and she drove me around the fountain. Then Rose was so tired she went and sat by Katie, who was talking to an-other girl about hats and things, and I had no one to play with. Far off I saw the Reed boys, and I ran to show them my lines. Rob harnessed Phil, and, snapping the whip, hollered "Gee up, Buster!" and started to run off. He called to me to go stand in the stable and be the horse asleep. While I was standing there, feeling lonesome, the old gentleman in the wheel chair called me over to him. I know him real well. He has to be pushed about and is all wrapped up. He likes children and talks to them and gives them peppermints.

I told him all about my birthday, but kept looking around for the boys, when he asked me who I was looking for. I told him about Phil and Rob leaving me in the stable. Just then they came racing along, and the old gentleman called "Whoa!" and they stopped. "You're a first rate driver Rob; here's a peppermint for you, and you're a good fast trotter, Phil; here's a peppermint for you; but the little colt here must be hungry, standing so long in the stable, so here are six pep-permints for him." The boys laughed a funny little laugh, and we all thanked him. We took turns after that, but no one stood in the stable. A lot of children came up to my house in the afternoon, and I had a party and more presents, but I like the horse lines best of all. I slept with them under my pillow that night and I dreamed I fell out of an apple tree and bumped my head. When I woke up I was lying on the big, round silver bells. Mary B. Florence.

A hearty appetite does not always indicate a healthy condition. It is not the quantity of food which is eaten, but the quantity which is assimilated, which determines the actual value of the food consumed. If the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition cannot convert the food into nourishment, and into blood, then the food is an injury instead of a benefit. It Was Thought Miss Lizzie Smith, of Waterford, Was in Consumption, But Her Health Has Been Restored-Advice to Similar Sufferers.

From the Star, Waterford, Ont.

Throughout Canada there are thousands of girls who owe the bloom of health shown in their cheeks, the brightness of eye and elasticity of step, to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. There are few girls in the first years of womanhood who do not suffer more or less from anaemia. We see them everywhere, and they are easily recognized by a sallowness of complexion, or perhaps From the Star, Waterford, Ont. lowness of complexion, or perhaps extreme pallor, they are subject to headaches, dizziness, palpitation of the heart, and feel tired and worn headaches, dizziness, parphasic the heart, and feel tired and worn out on the least exertion. To those who suffer in this manner Dr. Williams' Pink Pills offer speedy and certain relief. Proof of this may be had in our own town. Miss Lizzie Smith, daughter of Mr. Wm. Smith, is today the embodiment of bealth and activity, yet not so long ago her friends feared that consumption had fastened its fangs upon her. A representative of the Star recently interviewed Mrs. Smith as to the means employed to restore her daughter's health. Mrs. Smith's unhesitating reply was that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were entitled to the credit. Mrs. Smith said: "My daughter is nineteen years of age. For some years Smith said: "My daughter is nine-teen years of age. For some years she has not been very strong and was subject to sick headaches. Last summer she went to work in an estabmer she went to work in an estab-lishment in Paris, and had not been there long when her health grew much worse.
