Tribe Extirminates Itself.

St. Petersburg, June 11.—One of the most terrible stories of Nomadic violence ever told has just reached St. Petersburg. It is to the effect that an entire tribe, the Tchukchees, numbering about 2,000, has just perished by its own act as the result of escape from famine. The tribe inhabited one of the bleakest parts of Yakutsk. After the elders of the tribe had spent a day in consideration of the almost incredible decision was that each father should first kill his family, and then himself. On the following day the appalling tragedy was carried out in the open air in a general assembly. The only exceptions were a few old men without families, who, when left to themselves, had not the determination necessary to commit suicide.

"No one knows what I suffered from stomach trouble and dyspepsia," writes Mr. A. B. Avery, of Bridgeport. "For the last five years I have been unable to digest and assimilate food. Dr. Hamilton's Pills were just what I needed. They have cured every symptom of my old trouble. My health is now just as good as desired." Bryan For President.

Washington, D. C., June 11.—With four states pledged to his support and others falling into line, William Jennings Bryan will, in August, return from his travels to find his star again in the ascendant and his boom as Presidential candidate in 1908 under full headway. Conservatives and Radicals of 1896 are flocking into camp, so far as the developments of the last few weeks indicate, and gold Democrats and free silver men alike are acclaiming the former leader as the "logical candidate."

A MILLION DOLLARS SQUANDERED.

It is estimated this sum was squandered last year by people trying to find a cure for catarrh. Foolsish for suffering to experiment when it's so well known that "Catarrh" is the only remedy that cures permanently. Other treatments only relieve, but Catarrh-cure cures and prevents the disease from ever returning. "I had Catarrh in its worst form," writes G. F. Fadden, of Royan, Que. "I was so bad that ordinary medicine didn't even relieve; but Catarrh-cure cured perfectly." No chance of disappointment with Catarrh-cure—it's certain as death to cure your Catarrh—just try it.

DIES ON HIS WAY HOME

Heart Failure Strikes Premier of New Zealand.

Rt. Hon. R. J. Seddon, After a Long Tour in Australia, Expires Suddenly From Heart Failure After Embarkment to Return to New Zealand—Made Imperialist Speech Saturday—Sketch of His Active Career.

Sydney, N.S.W., June 11.—Richard John Seddon, Prime Minister of New Zealand, died from heart failure last evening, aboard the steamer Owestrey Grange, on which he had embarked yesterday morning to return to New Zealand. The Owestrey Grange put back into Sydney, Mr. Seddon was 61 years of age.

His death was totally unexpected. He came to Australia in the middle of May to consult with Alfred Deakin, the Prime Minister of Australia, on important questions, mainly those concerning the New Hebrides. During his stay here he visited the principal towns, making vigorous speeches and receiving deputations on various matters interesting to Australia, such as colonial preference and alien immigration.

On Saturday he made a speech at Sydney, declaring that it was a suicidal policy for the colonies to send trade to foreign countries, thus enabling them to strengthen their navies. Trade, he said, should go to the motherland to assist in strengthening the British navy.

When Mr. Seddon sailed yesterday morning he appeared to be in his customary health.

Sketch of His Career.
The Right Hon. Richard John Seddon was born at Eccleston, Lancashire, in 1845, and emigrated to Australia in 1863, where he carried on his business of mechanical engineer. Removing to New Zealand, he was elected in 1879 to the House of Representatives, and has held his seat ever since. From 1891 to 1893 Mr. Seddon acted as Minister of Mines, and from 1891 to 1896 acted also as Minister of Public Works and Minister of Defence. In 1893 he became Premier, and since then has been, in addition, colonial treasurer, postmaster-general, Minister of Labor and Minister of Native Affairs.

In New Zealand he enjoyed unlimited confidence and popularity and was recently again returned to power by a large majority of votes. Mr. Seddon was chiefly responsible for the series of measures on socialistic lines which have created so much interest and attention, and was his ambition to make New Zealand an example to the world in all that makes for the true happiness of the people. His energy and enthusiasm were unbounded, and it is matter of additional regret that he should have died during the year of New Zealand's first international exhibition.

TO REPEL INVADERS.

New Admiralty System to Be Tested With Greatest Fighting Fleets.

London, June 11.—Although "war" has not yet been declared, the mobilization of the British fleet was practically completed to-day. It is ready to meet all eventualities and repel the expected attack of an imaginary enemy. Ireland. The greatest aggregation of fighting ships ever assembled totaling 325 warships of various types and 63,000 men is participating in the mimic warfare, which is designed to test the efficiency of the new Admiralty system for the defence of the British coasts and commerce on the high seas.

To Convey Merchantmen.

One of the most interesting features is to be the collecting of British merchantmen at certain points and conveying them to home ports. The force is divided into two fleets, the red (British) consisting of 235 vessels, including 86 torpedo boats and submarines, and the blue (the enemy) consisting of 90 warships without torpedo boats or submarines.

VANDALISM BY RAILWAY.

Alleged by Hibernians in Removal of Memorial Stone.

Montreal, June 11.—There is a row here in Irish circles over the removal of the memorial stone erected to 6,000 victims of ship fever to St. Patrick's Park. The Hibernians are moving in the matter.

The Grand Trunk wanted the place for their tracks, but the Irish societies declare that no permission was given, and it appears that the stone was moved at 2 o'clock in the morning.

"Neptune" Is on Guard.

Kaiser Has Newspaper Seized.

Cologne, June 11.—The authorities have confiscated an issue of The Westphalian Rheinische Gazette, containing an article entitled "The Patched Up Triple Alliance," in which the despatches exchanged between the two Kaisers and the King of Italy are criticized in a manner that is considered insulting to the Emperor of William and Emperor Francis Joseph. It is the first time that this important German paper has been seized by the authorities.

A man talks about owning his business. But, as a matter of fact his business owns him. His whole life is regulated by the demands of the business. The time at which he rises, his breakfast hour, the time given to meals, are all determined by business obligations. He rushes through lunch, he hasn't time to spare the time from business to eat leisurely. He won't take a rest because he is needed at the store or office. He is in fact an absolute slave to business. The results which follow this slavery are to be seen on every hand. Men dyspeptic, irritable, nervous, with drawn faces, hollow eyes, sit at the desk or stand behind the counter until they collapse in a fit of sickness, or are taken away by heart failure. Those who cannot escape the exactions of business will find a friend in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the stomach, increases the action of the blood-making glands, increasing the vitality and physical vigor. It makes men strong and prevents those business breakdowns which so often terminate fatally.

The cheerful cannot help being cheerful.

Beauty without grace is a hook without bait.

VICTORIA FALLS.

Called "the Most Beautiful Gem of the Earth's Scenery."

The Zambesi river, carrying a huge volume of water two miles in width, as it reaches the western borders of Rhodesia precipitates itself into a cavernous gorge and thus traverses the northern plains of the country.

This great drop in the river has produced "the most beautiful gem of the earth's scenery," the Victoria falls. Almost twice as broad as Niagara and two and a half times as high, an immense mass of water rolls over its edge to precipitate itself in magnificent splendor 400 sheer feet into the narrow canyon below.

Undertaken by the Rhodesian engineers, without detracting from the natural beauty of the surroundings, threw across the canyon a splendid 650 foot cantilever bridge and thus opened the way to Tanganyika, to Uganda, to Calro.

This bridge, the greatest railway engineering triumph of Africa, deserves more than passing notice. It consists of a central span weighing approximately 1,000 tons, 500 feet in length and 30 feet wide. The steel work is of rolled steel weighing 400 pounds to the cubic foot. The end posts of the bridge are over 100 feet long. The pull on the anchorage apparatus is about 400 tons.

The contract for the construction was obtained by an English firm of bridge builders—the contract time fifty-five weeks. The work of erection was carried on from both banks, the material being taken across the river by means of an aerial electric railway. The electrical conveyor of this cable way was capable of dealing with a ten ton load at a lifting speed of twenty feet per minute and a traversing speed of 300 feet a minute.

An initial difficulty in the construction of the bridge was the securing of a firm foundation, and owing to the crumbling nature of the bank a much greater quantity of concrete was necessary than estimated.

The construction was happily untroubled by accidents of a serious nature, though a few slight accidents to body work and the replacing from England of one piece of steel work were recorded. In spite of these delays the bridge was linked up at 7 a. m. on April 1, 1905, or exactly forty-eight hours earlier than had been estimated a year before—Lieutenant Colonel Sir Percy Girouard in Scribner's.

Cured Him.

"I wish my husband would not stay out at night," said the little woman. "Cure him," said her companion, "as a woman I know cured her husband, who used to stay out every night. One night he came in very late, or, rather, very early, about 3 o'clock in the morning. He came home very quietly. In fact, he took off his shoes on the front doorstep. Then he unlocked the door and went cautiously and slowly upstairs on tiptoe, holding his breath. But light was streaming through the keyhole of the door of the bedroom. With a sigh, he paused. Then he opened the door and entered. His wife stood by the bureau fully dressed. "I didn't expect you'd be sitting up for me, my dear," he said. "I haven't been," she said. "I just came in myself."

Presence of Mind.

Mme. Rachel, the great actress, was resting alone in her dressing room one night preparatory to going on the stage when a man suddenly entered and, drawing a dagger, said he was going to kill her if she did not at once consent to marry him. The actress saw at a glance that the man was mad and meant what he said. So with the utmost coolness she replied: "Certainly I will marry you. I wish nothing better. Come with me to the priest at once. I have had him come here for the purpose." She took his arm, and they went out together—to where there was assistance, of course, and the man was immediately put under arrest.

Deduction by Analogy.

"Mamma, I've got a stomach ache," said Nellie Bly, six years old. "That's because you've been without lunch. It's because your stomach is empty. You would feel better if you had something in it."

That afternoon the pastor called and in the course of conversation remarked that he had been suffering all day with a very severe headache. "That's because it is empty," said Nellie. "You'd feel much better if you had something in it."

Time For Wearing.

"I trust your honor will excuse me this time," said a habitual drunkard at the police court. "It is my misfortune—I am a child of genius."

And what is your age?" questioned the magistrate.

"Forty-two years."

Such a Temper.

His Wife—But I don't think, George, that you ought to object to mamma. Why, just think, if it hadn't been for her you would never have had me! Her Husband—Huh! Don't try to excuse her by saying that. You make me hate her worse than ever.

Doing Their Best.

"Didn't I understand you to say they keep a servant girl?" "Certainly not. I said they try to. As soon as one goes they get another."

Speech is too often not, as the Frenchman defined it, the art of concealing thought, but of stifling and suspending thought, so that there is none to conceal.—Carlyle.

COMMANDER SPAIN'S DIVORCE.

Senate Discusses the Report of the Special Committee.

Ottawa, June 11.—The Senate discussed the report of the Divorce Committee, recommending that the application of Commander Spain for divorce be refused, the committee holding that the plaintiff had submitted an agreement containing admission of improper relations and a promise not to oppose the application, which amounted to collusion. It was pointed out that the resistance of divorce by the respondent had broken the collusion and Senator Kerr moved to refer the case back to be heard on its merits, and, if necessary, obtain the opinion of the Minister of Justice on the question of collusion. This motion was defeated, and the report was adopted.
