Bad Blood.

You can not make sweet butter in a foul, unclean churn. The stomach serves as a churn in which to agitate, work up and disintegrate our food as it is being digested. If it be weak, sluggish and foul the result will be torpid, sluggish liver and bad, impure blood.

The ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery are just such as best serve to correct and cure all such derangements. It is made up without a drop of alcohol in its composition; chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol. Now this glycerine is of itself a valuable medicing, hastead of a deleterious agent like alcohol, especially in the cure of weak stomach, dyspensia and the various forms of indigestion. Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says of it:

"In dyspensia it serves an excellent purpose. "" It is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon enfeebled, disordered stomachs, it is most efficient proparation of stomachi it is a most efficient proparation of storphini and excessive gastric acidity. It is useful in ahronic intestinal dyspensia its pectality the faultent variety, and in extain forms of chronic constipation, saturalating the secretory and excretory functions of the intestinal glands."

fishulent variety, and in certain forms of chronic constipation, stimulating the secretory and excretory functions of the intestinal glands."

When combined, in just the right proportions, with Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Queen's root, Bloodroot and Mandrake root, or the extracts of these, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, there can be no doubt of its great efficacy in the cure of all stomach, liver and intestinal disorders and derangements. These several ingredients have the strongest endorsement in all such cases of such eminent medical leaders as Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, Chicago; Prof. Hoot Horstity of Pa.; Prof. Laurence and Dispartment. University of Pa.; Prof. Laurence and Dispartment. M. D., Wedical Department H. Praise For "Tom" Tait.

If you ever meet a visitor from Australia and want him to say a good thing for Canada and Canadians ask him what he 'thinks of Mr. Thoms: Tait, the manager of the Government railways in the State of Victoria. He is sure to become enthusiastic a once unless he is a Laborite, and even then he will admit that Mr. G. R. R. Cockburn's son-in-law is a first-class administrator.

Mr. George Harris Hays, of Melbourne, who passed through Canada en route to England, was most emphatic in his good opinion of Mr. Tait when he said: "Our railways are in the very best possibly condition. Ottawa, Sept. 1—Weddell & Co., London, Eng., importers of dairy products, in a communication to the Trade and Commerce Department, pay a high tribute to the value of Canada's cheese. In their review of the last fiscal year they say that cheese on the British workingman's table was being displaced by frozen mutton and beef until the Chicago, disclosures came, which had the effect of driving the people back to cheese, of which all other countries and colonies combined contributed only 33,000 tons. The quality of Canadian cheese last year was improved. Ottawa, Sept. 1-Weddell & Co., Lon-A remarkable discovery was made on Skeleton and Old Books-New Bruns wick Men Discover Traces of Dwelling Used 200 Years Ago.

A remarkable discovery was made on a recent Sunday afternoon, by Charles E. Stewart and his uncle, J. E. Stewart, near Johnsville, N. B., about eight miles back of the village of Bath, where the bones of a human being were found in a blookaded cave. The Stewarts, who have long been desirous of investigating, went to the cave, and with dynamite the obstruction to the cave was demolished. The men found twelve stone steps leading to a passage seven feet long and two feet wide, this opening into a main room about twelve feet square, where they found the bones of a human being lying on a bunk of stone.

No trace of flesh was there and the bones were dry and crumbly. Near the bones were dry and crumbly. Near the bones was a gold ring on which was inscribed "John Long, Dec. 1779." A few inches away was a silver watch, which bore the date 1740. Underneath the bones were found several traces of coarse hair, which would intended that the body had lain on a skin or something of that nature. Underneath the bunk were found three books, two in Latin, the third written in English.

One of the Latin books was Suetonius' History of Rome, dated 1667, and on the fly leaf were several Latin inscriptions. Inside was written: "B. A. Strong, Oxford College, May 24, 1676." Underneath this appeared the name James Hayward, 1685. The other book was Seneca's Tragadies, and it was marked the date 1659.

In the English book was written the names of David Fowles and Michael are golece of bark on which were in a good state of preservation, was a large piece of bark on which were ranks believed to be plans of other caves. Lord Chancellor and Motorists.

Sitting in the Court of Appeal at the law courts, and giving judgment in a matter which arose out of personal injuries inflicted on a cyclist by a motor-car, the Lord Chancellor said it was desirable that drivers of motor-cars, as well as of other vehicles, should realize a that not only able-bodied people, but deaf, blind and nervous people, decreptit, old people and children, were quite as much entitled to the use of the King's highway as they, and that if anyone thought proper so to drive that there was no chance left of averting serious consequences, and a mistake of judgment or miscalculation be made by a wayfarer, the driver would have to pay for it in damages.

grounds yesterday. The scintillations of intellect during the day were equal to the fireworks at night, and of this, unfortunately, no complete record nemains. It is wonderful to see the doughty champions of party and principle sitting down together in peace and amity. There was but one note in their expressions, and it was a hearty chord of approbation and praise for the

The attendance yesterday exceeded that of the corresponding day last year by a respectable majority, and the weather during the day was perfect, turning cool in the evening. The band of crowde than ever, and the splending programs were closely followed.
