Highfield Boys Played Soccer.

On Thursday afternoon two juvenile teams of Highfield boys played a Soccer football game on the lawn at Highfield. One team was captained by Martin and the other by Burns.
To see sport one requires to see theseyoungsters play. They have all the tricks in using heads, feet and in punting. Martin's team won, scoring two goals in first half. Burns' sidescored one goal in second half. The boys all played well and it was an even game. The teams were:
Martin's team—Goal, Ambrose;

Remarkable Bowling Game.

Double Ties In Match Between H. B. & C. A. and Yachtsmen.

Something happened in the game last night between the H. B. & A. C. and the R. H. Y. C. which has probably never heard of in a bowling game. At the nd of the first string the clubs were ied, fifteen men a side, with 2,320 each. When the result was announced the cams cheered heartily, and then went ar When the result was announced the teams cheered heartily, and then went ar it hammer and tongs for the second game. In this game the jolly tars made almost the same score, 2,322, but the bowlers pulled away to a good lead with 2,411. The yachtsmen made 2,322 again in the last game, and the consistency of their bowling in the three games completed the novelty of the evening's performance. J. A. McMahon was high man for the H. B. & A. C. and the evening with 604, and W. Murray was next with 552. H. M. Sweeney, of the R. H. Y. C., followed close with 549, and T. Cook was fourth with 532. H. B. & A. C. No. I rolled the high game, 920. McMahon, with perfect control, rolled 234 in this game, the high single for the night, and the week, thus far.

Several new teams have entered for the club leagues, for which the entries close on Monday night.

ELECTRICITY SCARCELY SUPER-

SEDING GAS. Toronto Saturday Night: In these days of trolley cars and automobiles the impression prevails that the poor old gas company hasn't got a chance; that the assignee stands at the door waiting to accord his services. No idea could be more widely at variance with the fact. Judging by the figures supplied by the consumers, gas is only in its infancy. When one considers that in the year in which Mr. Pearson allied himself with the company, somewhat less than fourteen million feet of gas was used and that last year two billion and a quarter feet were utilized, or nearly eleven per cent. more than the preceding year, to go no further back, it is plain that the time-worn exclamation "Cook with gas" has behind it something more than the longing aspiration of the advertising man. There can be no doubt that the consumption of gas is rapidly increasing and that electricity, with all its advantages, far from superseding gas, has and that electricity, with all its advantages, far from superseding gas, has merely afforded another means of light and heat that has not yet commended itself absolutely to the good will or to the judgment of the community. If it is desired to make the argument more concrete one has only to say that in the past seven years the output of the Consumers Gas Company has increased nearly fifty per cent. Gas rentals the past year brought into the company a million and a half dollars, an increase of one hundred and twenty-six thousand dollars over the preceding year.

The Fallacy of the Fireplace. The Fallacy of the Fireplace. While we deeply regret the necessity of disturbing such a hoary and venerable belief, with so many delightful and comforting associations connected with it, as that of the "perfect ventilation" obtained by means of an open fireplace, candor compels us to state that the natural method of ventilation, either by means of an open fireplace or an ordinary stove, is neither adequate nor satisfactory. It is not adequate because, except in the leakiest of rooms, the amount of change made in the air is insufficient.

for the use of the human occupants of the room. All the benefit they get is from such of the cold air as they may be able to breathe during its rush toward the fireplace. Hence, while an open fire provides a much larger involuntary change of air than a closed stove, its mere presence in a room by no means solves the problem of ventilation for that room, as is often fondly supposed.

It is a very pretty thing to look at and an excellent means of providing healthful exercise by causing the occupants of the room to take their turn in standing or sitting directly in front of it and turning themselves round and round, like meat on a spit, to keep from being chilled on one side and roasted on the other. But it is almost as much of a broken reed for purposes of ventilation as of warming in really severe weather. As an ornamental addition to a room already warmed by furnace or steam heat, and as a temporary resource and addition to comfort during the unsettled weather of spring and fall, before the main heating system is in operation, it is most excellent, but it can only be regarded as an addition to methods of real ventilation and real heating.—Dr. Woods Hutchinson, in November Outing.

Lucky Inventions.

Lucky Inventions.

A writer in a Paris newspaper speculates as to what will be the reward of the inventor of the safety hat pin for ladies, and suggests it will not be less than $200,000. He arrives at this sum by comparing the gains of other successful inventors. Fox, who superseded whalebone ribs for umbrellas by the paragon frame, we are told netted $1,200,000. The inventor of the shoe tip cleared $1,000,000. The hawker who conceived the idea of lead pencils with an India rubber tip cleared $100,000, and the designer of the piece of round India rubber for shoe heels retired with a fortune of $800,000. The reviver of Diana bolo, a game known under the Directore, is, said to have made $600,000. From his ides.

Curiosities of Human Body.

In the ancient world there were seven wonders. In the modern world there is but one—and that is the human body. but one—and that is the human body. Regarded from a merely mechanical standpoint the human body is so infinitely complex, so exquisitely responsive, so strangely perfect that by comparison it dwarfs all other things known to man and stans alone as the world.

and stans alone as the wonder of the world.

In all mechanics and architecture, in all the machines and inventions of man, there is not to be discovered one single device that is not found in the human body. The arch, the lever, the inclined plane; a pump, a grist mill, a cames, a stringed instrument; hinges, pulleys, ball and socket joints—all these and a score of other man made inventions are merely crude copies of the same devices found in his own body. The lungs, through their 600,000,000 tiny openings, have a surface equal to the floor of a room 40 feet square. The body contains 2,000 miles of tubing, through which half a barrel of fluid is constantly pouring. The blood travels 168 miles a day. Truly we are "fearfully and wonderfully made."

Ed. Martindale tells this story as one of the incidents of Governor Stubb's visit at Washington. Stubbs met a Kentucky colonel, who had on a pretty big load of the juice that invigorates and later inebriates. The colonel started out by availage.

and later inebriates. The colonel started out by saying:
"Governor, we, the people of Kentucky, sah, have heard of you, sah. I am glad to meet you, sah. My people sah, think you a greater man than Washington."
"You flatter me overmuch. George Washington was a very great man."
"George Washington!" exclaimed the colonel. "Thunder, no! No, sah. I meant Booker T. Washington!"
