

THE PROTECTOR & CHRISTIAN WITNESS

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 18, 1858. THE RULE OF EQUITY.

The rule of equity which the World of God has laid down for the observance of man in his dealings with his fellow-man, is "Whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them." Has this rule been observed by our rulers, by those set over us as our examples? Far from it; the very reverse of this has been practised. They have done to others what they would be very sorry indeed should be done to themselves. They have demanded of their late Postmaster General that he should give them three months' notice; and yet, without any notice to him, they have dismissed him. Is this doing to others as we would they should do unto us? In this conduct worthy of men who are the rulers of a British colony? They have required that the work of which Mr. Owen had the charge should be well and faithfully done, and yet they deprived him of the services of an efficient and faithful assistant. They looked for the due and punctual performance of all the work done in the Post Office at the hands of their Postmaster General; and yet they demanded—what he had not to give—a considerable portion of his time in attending a railway brought in from the country, the duties of Mr. DeBrisay's office. Was this carrying out the rule of equity,—the rule which the Son of Man laid down for the observance of his professed followers? Far from it; it was rather the rigorous exaction of that law which an ungodly King of Egypt of old laid down, when he demanded the Israelites to diminish the weight of their daily task, and required the full complement of bricks to be made though he gave them not the means of making them. As Pharaoh of old—who knew not God, and said "Who is the Lord that I should obey his voice to let Israel go? I know not the Lord"—said to the oppressed Israelites, through his task-masters, "go ye, get ye straw wherever ye can find it; yet nought of your work shall be diminished," so our rulers—who have discarded the blessed Book of God from our institutions and public schools, and will not be bound by any rule of equity laid down therein,—to Mr. Owen, "Get you to your work; fulfil your daily task, though we will deprive you of the means of doing so, and impose additional burdens upon you." Our rulers seem to have forgotten that the rule of equity, as if they wanted him to resign,—as if they wished to compel him to throw up an office which he had made burdensome to him. Their acts are all of a piece—they are unjust and tyrannical; but this last act of theirs seems to be the act of men driven to desperation,—men reckless of consequences,—men who care not what happens, after they have been driven in disgrace from offices they have been found incompetent to fill.

The more we think of the dismissal of our late worthy and highly esteemed Postmaster General from the office which he so creditably and satisfactorily filled for sixteen years, and the more we consider the years of laborious and faithful service he has given,—and for which, up to the last few years, he has been inadequately paid,—the more thoroughly are we persuaded that there is nothing the present party would do, in order to enrich themselves at the public expense, or to show their power over those who would not bow down in servility at their feet. We made a few observations on this subject in our last issue, but we are not done with it yet; and we will not be done with it till we lead our readers to agree with us that this abrupt and unchristian dismissal of a faithful and meritorious public officer, is an unjust, a tyrannical and disgraceful act,—an act that ought to stamp the character of our public rulers with infamy, and compel every man among us who has a proper sense of right and wrong, to rise up and endeavor, by every legitimate way, to rid themselves of the oppressive rule of men who have too long for the peace and happiness of the colony held the reins of power. Had Mr. Owen acted unfaithfully,—had he discharged his duties to the dissatisfaction of an intelligent public,—had he put the Government to any expense in defending his liberal and party acts,—had he brought his department of the public service into contempt by any unworthy act of his,—had he put the public money into his own pocket, and robbed his employers, or had he opened private letters and helped himself to their contents,—we would not say one word about abrupt dismissal; but when he has acted faithfully under different administrations—been a loyal and not a gainer in the public service—been a zealous and trustworthy officer, and brought some credit to the colony by the efficient manner in which he conducted his department, we say, without any hesitation, that those who could bring the country for their own party ends to dismiss such an officer, and at a moment's notice, are not worthy of public confidence, or of the support of right-minded, intelligent and public spirited men, and ought not to be allowed any longer to run the country, destroy our credit, or make us a by-word among the neighboring provinces.

Fellow colonists, we have a word to say to you. Where is your love of fair play? Where is your love of freedom of action and of thought? Where is your love of honesty and justice? Where is your manly and contemptible? Where is your sympathy with the suffering, ill-treated and down-trodden? Where is your regard for integrity and the faithful discharge of public services? Where are all these—if you do not rouse yourselves to get rid of men who would sell your liberties, barter your rights, and make your country a bankrupt, and sooner than lose one farthing of their salaries, make the slightest retrenchment in the public expenditure, or be deprived of the exercise of power they know not how to use either for your good or the safety of your country? Make Mr. Owen's case your own. What would be your feelings if, after sixteen years' faithful service, you found yourselves abruptly dismissed from office and compelling you to an advanced period of life, to look around for a new mode of living? What would be your feelings if your aged father was treated as Mr. Owen has been? If a beloved brother, esteemed relative or friend was treated thus?—would you not like to be sympathized with,—to hear the indignant voice of a justly offended community speak out plainly on the equity and justice against iniquity and wrong? Would you not like to see the matter taken up with spirit and determination by those who valued the blessings of liberty, and would not be borne down by oppression? Would you not like to hear the hills and dales re-echo the shouts of an indignant people,—to hear the steady and determined tramp of thousands as they marched to the place of concourse, there to give full expression to their honest sentiments, and to utter forth in the very ears of their unjust rulers their merited condemnation. In time of drought you like to see the little spot in the distant horizon becoming larger and darker, and approaching nearer, till at length it bursts a mighty cloud and pours down its refreshing waters upon the thirsty soil.

In the present time, then, when you see your island home day by day becoming more and more impoverished, and the very soil is looking for the refreshing counsels of good men ere it becomes altogether barren, we would earnestly beseech our rulers, as they ponder upon the present miserable state of our finances, and the unhappy condition of our colony, owing to the mismanagement and reckless expenditure of our rulers, to become a drop in the dark and gathering cloud, and to form a part of that advancing storm which will sweep on, and on, till by its overwhelming power it bears down all opposition and leaves all things right and straight among us. As you love liberty and truth,—as you desire equity and justice,—as you wish to be governed by men of standing and moral worth in the community,—as you desire to be presided over by rulers who are guided by principles of equity, and not the pliant and subservient tools of a party,—we call upon you, unless you wish to kiss the feet of taskmasters, be dragged as slaves after the chariot wheels of oppressors, and whipped with scorpions by unprincipled rulers, to rouse yourselves now that an opportunity is given you of expressing your sentiments as freeborn men, lovers of equity and justice. Now, or never, come out, and speak out, and act as men; let every man put his shoulder to the wheel—every man bear his part in the coming struggle of freedom over oppression, and put his name to whatever petition it may be necessary to lay at the feet of our Sovereign, which shall give expression to our sentiments, and declare to her the many acts of injustice and wrong that are practised by those who are in authority over us. Once more, we say to you, fellow colonists,—submit yourselves to the British Empire, and lovers of order and good government,—come out now, or else forever blame yourselves, if you are made to lie down in chains and lug the feet of your oppressors.

CORRESPONDENCE.

We cheerfully open our columns to the defense of any party who may fancy he has any just ground of complaint for any remarks of ours. Below we give two letters, one from Adjutant-General the Honorable Captain Swaby, Colonial Registrar, &c. &c., in which he states that his salary as Adjutant General is £25, although we can only discover the sum of £16 13s. 4d. charged in the Public Accounts as paid to him for that service during the past year. We care not what the sum may be, the question of paramount importance with us, is, what service was rendered for the payment made. We know of none. The other letter is from Mr. DeBrisay, who appears to be ror-struck at "the calamity which we have so widely scattered." If he had any reason to complain, it surely cannot be for our giving greater publicity to the public records than they themselves would give; but as he states, the cost of the maps are included in his account, then he should blame the Government for the following entry:—"John Ball, being his account for following five maps of the Island, showing the Militia Districts, £7 10s. 0d." We are glad to observe that the exposure of a few out of the many extravagant charges on the public purse, has brought two of the parties to explain to the public. A little more light on this subject will do good. The people have foolishly left the management of their affairs too long in the hands of those who care not for results, so long as their party is upheld. We shall be happy to give publicity to whatever information others who are in the same position, and who may have received public money unjustly.

TO THE EDITORS OF THE PROTECTOR.

Gentlemen,—The way in which you mention my name in connection with a warrant for a payment made by the Government, leaves it to be inferred that some gratuity, or unusual service, has been rendered to the Government, under a statute; and so far from the Government being chargeable with any extravagance in the matter, the statute in question, passed by the late Legislature, the salary of the Adjutant-General of the Militia, £25 to £25. I doubt not that you will see the justice of inserting this letter in your next issue. I am, your obedient servant, WILLIAM SWABY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PROTECTOR.

Sir,—Under an editorial on the "state of the colony," in your last paper, I find a most unwarrantable attack upon my character. You state that my charge to the Government for "coloring" five maps of the Island (the italics are your own) was "a gross exaggeration of my charge for coloring the Electoral Districts, &c. &c. £25, £25, £25, each map, or £25, in all—instead of £7 10s." The larger sum, incorrectly put in my article, including the cost of the maps themselves, as well as the expense of mounting and varnishing them.

THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.

Arrival of the Queen's Message! The Queen's Message, and the President of the U. S. reply thereto, were received at the Exchange Rooms last evening; they will be found below. A General Illumination will take place in the city this evening.

QUEEN'S MESSAGE.

EXCHANGE ROOMS, AUG. 18—9.30 p.m. TO HER MAJESTY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, WASHINGTON. Her Majesty desires to congratulate the President upon the successful completion of this great international work, in which the Queen has taken the deepest interest. The Queen will join with her in fervently hoping that the electric Cable which now connects Great Britain with the United States, will prove an additional link between two nations whose friendship is founded upon their common interest and reciprocal esteem. The Queen has much pleasure in thus communicating with the President, and renewing to him her best wishes for the prosperity of the United States.

REPLY.

TO HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN OF GREAT BRITAIN. The President cordially reciprocates the congratulations of Her Majesty the Queen on the success of the great international enterprise, accomplished by the science, skill, and indomitable energy of the two countries. It is a triumph more glorious, because far more useful to mankind, than was ever won by conquerors on the field of battle. May the Atlantic Telegraph, under the blessing of heaven, prove to be a bond of perpetual peace and friendship between the kindred nations, and an instrument destined by Divine Providence to diffuse religion, civilization, liberty and law throughout the world;—in this view, will not all the nations of Christendom spontaneously unite in the declaration that it shall be ever neutral, and that its communications shall be held sacred in passing to the places of their destination, even in the midst of hostility? JAMES BUCHANAN.

Collision off Newfoundland.

Daniel Davies, Esq., who left here for England on the 9th August, telegraphed from St. John's, Newfoundland, yesterday to some of his friends here, that the homeward bound steamer from Halifax, was run into by the Arabia, and had to put back to St. John's, Newfoundland—Persia to call for the Passengers about Sunday next.

THE REV. FRANCIS NICOL, for the past seven years the highly esteemed Minister of St. Andrew's Church in this town, having resigned his charge with the view of returning to Scotland, embarked yesterday with his family on board the Ann Johnston, having returned from the meeting of a Synod at Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, on Monday night. On Tuesday Evening he was waited on by a deputation from the Office Bearer and Members of St. Andrew's Congregation, and presented with an Address.—Newspaper, July 22.

THE GREAT PUBLIC MEETING.

We understand it is the intention of those who disapprove of the dismissal of the late Postmaster General to hold a public meeting in this city, on Wednesday next, the 25th instant. Let it be a monster meeting,—a meeting of order and good government,—a meeting of those who value the blessings of civil and religious liberty, and their rights as British subjects. Let it be a meeting of those who are determined not to tamely yield their privileges, nor to traitorously sacrifice their rights to any government. Great questions are at stake in the holding of this meeting, we therefore call on the free and independent electors of this great county who value the right of petitioning her gracious Majesty on any matter which they regard as a grievance, to be present and exercise their right; and we call upon the representatives of the people who value liberty of speech and the exercise of their legitimate rights to be present and give expression to their sentiments, to come forward manfully, discuss all subjects calmly yet firmly, and retire peaceably.

AN ADDRESS to the Sheriff, signed by about 400 persons, requesting him to call a public meeting on Wednesday next, was presented to-day. We understand that several others, quite as numerously signed, from other parts of the County, are still to be presented.
