

BETTER IN EVERY WAY

After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ingomar, N. S.—"I took your medicine for a run-down condition and inward troubles. I had pains in my right side so bad at times that I could not walk any distance. I saw about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and have taken five bottles of it. I am better in every way and you can use my letter to help other women."—Mrs. ALVIA M. PERRY, Ingomar, N. S.

Nervous Breakdown Relieved

Toronto, Ontario.—"It is pretty hard to explain your feelings in nervous troubles. I felt low spirited, had pains in my head and eyes, always crying, and did not want to go anywhere. I do knitting and fancy work, and I would get irritable after a few minutes of work. I have been in Canada five years and have been this way ever since I came. I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I sleep better and it seems to make me eat, and I must say I am feeling more jolly. I have great faith in your medicine because of what it has done for my husband's sister and she recommended it to me."—Mrs. A. SMITH, 10 Burleigh Avenue, Todmorden, Toronto, Ontario.

All druggists sell this dependable medicine, and women suffering from these troubles so common to their sex should give it a trial now.

STORY OF WRECK OF HUDSON BAY SUPPLY SHIP

Montreal, Aug. 26—Forty-six men and two women marooned on a drifting ice flow fifty yards square, sixty miles from land in a driving rain-storm which lasted ten hours. This is the story of the wreck of the Hudson Bay supply ship Bay Eskimo in Ungava Bay on July 23, as told by one of the survivors who has reached Montreal. After the ship had been squeezed in pack ice on her journey through the bays and inlets of the sub-Arctic she sprung a leak and sank, carrying with her supplies for the outposts of civilization as well as for Eskimo settlements in a vast northern territory. Captain J. Lloyd transferred his crew and passengers to the floating ice and ten hours later they were picked up by the steamer Nascope and landed at one of the trading settlements.

The Hudson Bay Company has since chartered another ship to carry supplies to the posts on the Bay Eskimo's trail. The Bay Eskimo left Montreal on July 7, laden with food, medicines, luxuries and merchandise of every description to meet the varied needs of the trappers, fur traders, company agents, missionaries, and not least, of the Eskimos who have come to depend to a great extent on the company's supplies for many of the necessities of their every day life.

Past Ladrader and Cape Chidley the ship had fair weather but headed for Button Island she encountered packed ice. After four days of cautious crawling through the treacherous packs she put into Port Burwell for examination. No serious damage was observed and the Bay Eskimo resumed her journey. The next day a leak developed necessitating steady application of all available pumps.

A wireless call was sent to the Nascope who had passed within hail the day before and the boats were lowered and victualled. About ten p.m. the whole personnel of the party including missionaries and traders going north were in the boats watching their ship disappear under the drift ice. Ten hours in the cold, driving rain with only sail cloth and one small tent in which the women were placed for protection, made the arrival of the Nascope next day a welcome relief. The derelicts were taken to Port Burwell from which Captain Lloyd and two of his crew travelled by motor to Labrador; 500 miles in three days. The remainder of the party were eventually brought from Port Burwell by the Percival which ship is taking the place of the Bay Eskimo on this year's supply trip.

Stoney Indians Prepare for Celebration

1. Stoney Mountain Indians gathering in the hotel yard at Banff for the distribution of the Pow-wow prizes. Insert: The Duke of Connaught as a Tachantoga chief.

These are Tachantoga or Stoney Mountain Indians—"people of the woods". Time was when they were a blood-thirsty lot, with a partiality for white men's scalps and an unpleasant habit of slaying anybody they did not happen to approve of. But look at them now. Their war-like glory has departed and they realize that the white-man is not such a bad sort of chap after all. Big Chief Powder-face is as friendly as a Rotary president, and he and his six hundred braves come over every year to Banff, all decked out in their gala attire, and celebrate the burying of the hatchet by a two-day carnival and Pow-wow.

The occasion is called an "Indian Day and Pow-wow" and consists of a series of parades, sports and encampment scenes and events. It always takes place on the third Monday and Tuesday in July, falling this year on the 23rd and 24th. The individual in the insert is not, and never was, blood-thirsty nor fond of scalps. It is the Duke of Connaught in his regalia as an Honorary Chief of the Stoney Mountain Tribe. The picture was taken on the occasion of His Excellency's visit to the Rockies when he was Governor-General of Canada during the war. This year's Pow-wow and Indian Day will be the thirty-third since its inauguration. After the field events, the members of the Tribe meet in the yard of the Banff Springs Hotel for the distribution of prizes. The big picture above depicts the scene which usually follows the prize distribution.

Incomes Some Authors Earn

A writer in the London Evening Standard has been giving to his public some information on the incomes of living English authors. His disclosures contain some interesting surprises. At the top of his list stands Hall Caine with an income of $500,000 a year. More than a million of Caine's books have been sold within the last three years; no play of his has ever failed, and he adds to his income from sale of the motion picture rights.

Next comes James Barrie, who has made as much as $230,000 in a year out of his novels and plays. "Peter Pan" alone brought $250,000 in royalties to him. Such an income from delicate and whimsical fantasies must provoke both envy and bewilderment in those who write solely for money and have always imagined that the ore road to wealth was through "red blooded" stuff or through audacious novels heavily flavored with sex.

Incomes of $100,000 a year are achieved by H. G. Wells, Bernard Shaw, W. Somerset Maugham and E. Phillips Oppenheim. Mr. Wells is credited with having made $300,000 out of his "Outline of History." Arnold Bennett's average income is put at $80,000 a year.

Forty-Five Million Dollars Increase In Trade Of Canada

An increase of over forty-five million dollars in the grand total of Canadian trade during the four months of the present year, is shown by figures issued through the Department of Customs and Excise. The grand total of Canadian trade during the four months just ended was $647,865,298, while during the four month period a year ago it amounted to $602,636,714. Imports from foreign countries during the four months ended July 31 last, were to the value of $292,883,091, as compared with $271,256,586, or an increase of $20,824,505. Domestic exports also increased their total value this year, being $351,407,904, as against $327,309,594 during the four months of last year. This is an increase of $24,098,310.
