SELLING OFF

Don't miss this chance.

THE good old West India Raw Sugar is now hard to get,—for the refined article is cheaper and has almost crowded it out of the market We often hear the remark made: sugar sold now-a-days is not as swee as that we used to get years ago.' Whether this is so or not we shall no attempt to say .- but we do know this that those who taste our Porto Ric Sugar declare it to be 'the real article and 'something like the thing.' It i weet-and no mistake but it is dear 7 cents per lb. Can we sell it any eaper than this? Not if we are t make any profit out of it. But w bave promised to give some bargains this winter and we will begin with this Sugar and for a little we will offer it a 6 CENTS PER LB. Now this is a genine bargain and much below the valu of the Sugar, -and we expect those who want some of it to procure without delay. It won't last long a
