Students, Attention!

Rare Chance to Secure a College Education.

We have made arrangements that enable us to place within the reach of a limited number of deserving students, opportunities for securing, on easy terms, a classical or commercial education. A little work during the vacation season will secure this for the one worthily striving for such a boon, but who may not be in possession of sufficient money to realize his heart's desire. The facilities at our disposal enable us to offer a year's board and tuition at

St. Dunstan's College

to any three young men who will fulfill the necessary, easy conditions required. These may be beginners, or former students of the College who have not been able to complete their course. In addition to this we have at our disposal four scholarships at the

Union Commercial College

of Charlottetown. A full course in this excellent Commercial College may be won by any four young men or women, in town or country, who will fulfill the easy conditions we require. Whenever anyone satisfies the requirements in either of the cases enumerated he or she will be given a certificate entitling the holder to the educational advantages offered. A rare opportunity is here placed within reach of those desirous of acquiring a good education, and no time should be lost in taking advantage thereof. Only a little work is required in order to secure the coveted boon, and all can easily be accomplished during this summer's vacation, so that the winners may enter either college at the opening of the next academic year.

For particulars apply in person or by letter to the editor of the HERALD, P. O. Box 1288, Charlottetown, P. E. I. June 20, 1906—tf

From Now Till Spring

Your Overcoat will be the part of your dress by which the world will estimate what kind of a man you are. No man ever knows real comfort and satisfaction until he has an overcoat.

Made to Measure.

Many who have their suits made to order have an idea that they can get what they want in a Ready-made Overcoat. But they are quite as objectionable as ready-made suits and show at a glance the lack of style and fit. We incorporate the very latest style ideas in our tailoring, and by only the best materials, which is a guarantee in itself. Before you buy a new overcoat give us a chance to show our new overcoats and talk things over with you.

The Faith in the Hebrides.

Thursday, the 8th of November, was a red-letter day in the annals of Barra. People assembled from all parts of the island, as well as Brackay and distant Mangulay, to assist at the solemn opening by his Lordship the Bishop of Argyll and the Isles of the new chapel, which is dedicated to St. Bar, the patron saint of the island. Near by are the hallowed ruins of old St. Bar's or Kilbar, where still may be seen the remains of the old altar, and in a recess near the entrance, the holy water stoup, which tradition affirms was never known to be without water through the changing years and times and tides, bearing silent yet eloquent witness of the unchanging faith in Barra. New St. Bar's, in every way the worthy successor of the old, was filled to overflowing by a congregation of well over 300 people. Pontifical High Mass was sung, for the first time on record in Barra, by his Lordship the Bishop, with Father M'Donnell, of Dalibrog, as assistant priest, and Father Cameron, of Beubeaul, and Father M'Neil, of Brackay, as deacon and sub-deacon respectively. Father McMillan of Bigg, acted as master of ceremonies. A select choir of priests from Glasgow, under the leadership of Dr. Rogan, gave a masterly rendering of the Gregorian Mass for the Octave of All Saints, the whole ceremony being followed with the deepest devotion and interest by the pious island Catholics. The preacher for the occasion was the Very Rev. Archibald Campbell, S. J., of St. Joseph's Glasgow, as well known both for his biding interest in the welfare of his fellow Highland Catholics in Glasgow and his missionary labours in the Hebrides.

The following is the substance of the very able Gaelic sermon delivered by Father Campbell on the interesting occasion:—Twenty years ago last autumn, said the rev. preacher, the restored Hierarchy of Scotland met in a General Provincial Council in the Benedictine Abbey of Fort-Augustin. There were present the two Archbishops of St. Andrews and Edinburgh and of Glasgow respectively, with the four Suffragan Bishops of the Province of St. Andrews and Edinburgh along with the principal clergy of the country. The Fathers assembled raised their voices in grateful thanksgiving to God and to the Visar of Christ for having again restored the Church of Scotland to its place among the Churches of Christendom, after a widowhood of three hundred years. They expressed a sincere hope, despite the ravages of the Reformation, that better things were in store in the centuries to come for this Church which was in ages past the "special daughter of the Holy See," and while they deplored the general destruction of the faith throughout the kingdom, they were cheered with the thought that there were still spots in our benighted country where the faith was as pure and as lively, and even more so, if possible than in the days of St. Columba, St. Brendan, and St. Bar. These places all knew were Banffshire, Glenlivet, and Braemar, Strathglass, Glangarry, and Lochaber, Arislag, Moidart, Morar, and Knoydair on the mainland; the Isles of Eigg and Ganna, Beubeaul, South Uist, and Brackay, and last indeed, but not least, this island of St. Bar, and of St. Brendan, and the island of Mingulay. You, my dear Catholics, have heard of this so-called Reformation; to you this word has no meaning, neither its nor so-called civilization in its worse meaning has ever tainted the faith handed down to you from generation to generation in our dear country. That your faith is a very lively one is proved in your daily lives, and within the last twenty years you have given a practical proof of the liveliness of your faith. Within the recollection of almost the youngest amongst you there was but one Catholic Church in the civil parish of Barra. Now, however, we find no less than four beautiful Catholic churches in this district. The Church of Our Lady Star of the Sea at Castleby rears its head as a thing of beauty to all who enter the bay, and its congregation has every right to be proud of it. The church in the lonely island of Mingulay is dear to its Catholic-hearted inhabitants, and today we are gathered together in God's name; headed by our dear and respected chief pastor, to open a House of God in this northern portion of the island. You, my Catholic Brethren, have reason to be proud of this beautiful edifice, and your beloved pastor will find himself a hundredfold repaid for the energy and devotion which he has shown in this undertaking. Here in your very midst is a house built for the indwelling of Almighty God—"for My house is a house of prayer." The royal bard said: "I love the beauty of Thy house and the place where Thy glory dwelleth." Not indeed as of old shall His glory dwell herein, but in His hidden life in the Tabernacle. Here will the Holy Sacrifice be offered up, as it is offered up today for the first time. Here will the Sacraments be dispensed, and here will the Word of God be preached unto you. "At the same time I must not deceive you; this cannot be called the House of God until every farthing of the debt is paid. Nothing saintly, nothing worthy of the Lord, can be offered unto Him—the gift must be unspotted and without blemish."

"The new church stands on a slight eminence at the head of North Bay. The following are the dimensions—64 feet in length and 25 feet in width, internally 16 feet in height. It is built in a very handsome and substantial manner, of native grey stone. The building presents a very pleasing aspect to the eye with its tall lancet windows, six on each side, and a large triple window in the south gable. There is a very commodious porch, with a companion building which forms a neat and serviceable sacristy. The building is from designs kindly supplied by Mr. Wolfe Brennan, architect, Oban, who was likewise the designer of the Church of Our Lady Star of the Sea, Castleby, whose massive Norman tower with its handsome clock, commands the approach to Castleby, and excites the admiring comments of all who call there—Glasgow Observer.

The Lives of the Popes.

(Sacred Heart Review)

We take pleasure in announcing the publication of the third volume of the "Lives of the Popes" by the Rev. Horace K. Mann of England. The present book contains the lives of the seven pontiffs who occupied the papal chair from 1858 to 1914. St. Nicholas I., Hadrian II., John VIII., Marcius I., Hadrian III., Stephen (V.) VI. In this work Father Mann displays the keen discernment and the accurate expression of the true historian. As a sample of his clear and forcible style we give the opening paragraph:—

"In Nicholas I, the Saint and the Great, we have not only the greatest Pontiff of his century, but one of the greatest of the very long line of grand characters who have in every age adorned the Chair of Peter. It is a saying no less true than trite that of those few to whom men have accorded the title of Great, still fewer, if their claims be weighed in the balance of reason and not of sentiment, have been worthy of it. But to very few indeed have any large body of men ever given the combined titles of Great and Saint. Nicholas I. is one of that rare company who have been so honored, and in this case the distinction has been conferred on very solid grounds. In the troublous and stormy times in which his days were cast, he was the pharos to which men, buffeted about by the angry waves of life, looked with eager hope. It mattered not what was the grief under which they were groaning; it was all one whether they were strong men or helpless women; whether they were in authority or in subjection, whether they were bishops or simple clerics, peers or peasants they all in their distress turned to Nicholas; they all flocked to him as to their common father. For he did not raise his voice merely in commanding tones to warn men from the ways in which they should not tread, or to point out to them the narrow road which led to life, eternal; but in encouragement also to help them faint, weary, or wilful, along it."

No scholar who is interested in the history of the Church can afford to be without this valuable work. Published by B. Herder, St. Louis, Mo. Price $3.00.

Items of Interest.

Protestantism in Germany is evidently something different from Christianity. The "Frankfurter Zeitung" says that at least one-half of the theological professors and doctors in the Protestant faculties of the German universities deny in toto the doctrine concerning Christ's miraculous birth.

Dromore, County Down, Ireland was a scene of great rejoicing the other day, when the Right Rev. Mr. McCartan, P. P.; V. G., celebrated the golden jubilee of his ordination.

The death of Dr. von Stubelwaki Archbishop of Gessen and Posen, will probably give rise to a good deal of discussion, as the Poles will be anxious to secure a Polish successor, and the Germans, as already evident, will strive to prevent the appointment of any one but a German. The Archbishop, whose death has evoked expressions of deep regret from the Holy Father and from the people of the archdiocese, has been represented in some of the papers as a very combative pro-Pole and an active promoter of the present strife of Polish school children. But our Catholic contemporary of Gologny, the "Vollzeitung," whose words may be taken as reliable, says that his death was due to an ague, just and despatch chief pastor for the members of both nationalities—"ein gleich gerechter und furchtloser Oberhirt—für die Angehörigen beider Nationalitäten." The appointment of Mr. von Stubelwaki to Gessen and Posen was all the more noteworthy, since the last Polish prelate, Count Ledebowski, who had held the see of St. Adalbert, was imprisoned by Prince Bismarck. His successor Dr. Dinder, was a German, who died shortly after his appointment. Mr. von Stubelwaki as Archbishop showed sympathy with the Polish fellow-countrymen, but although he habitually styled himself "Prince Primate of Poland," he maintained a studied reserve in his public utterances. He will be remembered by his fellow-countrymen as a true patriot.

The young Queen of Spain has become a Child of Mary. "El Universo," of Madrid, says: "Last Friday her Majesty Queen Victoria, accompanied by the Duchess de San Carlos, visited the convent school of the Sacred Heart for the purpose of being enrolled in the Congregation of the Children of Mary. The august visitor was received by the Bishop of Sion and the superior of the convent, with many ecclesiastics and persons of distinction. The ceremony was performed with great solemnity in the beautiful chapel of the convent. The young Queen, who is the daughter of the school, many of whom wore their medals of Children of Mary. Hymns were sung in Spanish and English, and many tasteful gifts were presented to the "Flower of the North," as the Spanish people call their new queen. Her Majesty accepted them with pleasure and left wearing her medal conspicuously on her breast. Her piety had much impressed her new subjects, and has been a crushing and eloquent rebuke to those who desire to win distinction for themselves by persecuting the religious orders."

Here is a sad instance of how the campaign against Christianity is being carried on in France. The Prefect of Le Lozere has demanded the secularization of the lying-in hospital at Mende, and, pending that event, has decided that no infants born at the maternity hospital shall be baptized under any pretext whatever. Even should the newborn child be in imminent danger of death, the mother is forbidden to ask for its baptism. Yet the law of separation in its first article makes this declaration: "The Republic assures liberty of conscience." "It guarantees the free exercise of religion." We see from this what the promises of the French Government are worth.

Through the death of Archduke Otto, his widow, Archduchess Maria Josefa, is compelled to relinquish her high position as first lady at the Austro-Hungarian court. There has been much speculation in aristocratic circles as to which of the Archduchesses would succeed her. After much consideration, the Emperor has decided in favor of his niece, Archduchess Maria Annunziata, half-sister of Otto and abbess of the famous Theresian Convent of Noble Ladies at Pagan. The position of first lady at court is one of great honor and dignity, its occupant virtually playing the role of Empress.

With reference to the threatened closing of the world-famous shrine of Lourdes, an important session is about to be taken by the Catholic medical faculty of France. With the approval of the Bishop of Montpelier, Dr. Vincent, a profligate of Lyons, is organizing an appeal, to be signed by the entire medical faculty of France, to the French Government against such an outrage on Catholic sentiment.

The Pope has appointed as his private physician Dr. Giuseppe Patocci, and as his consulting physician Dr. Ettore Marchisiani, professor of pathology at the University of Rome.

THREE TRYING TIMES IN A WOMAN'S LIFE

There are three periods of a woman's life when she is in need of the heart strengthening, nerve tonic, blood purifying action of—

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

The first of these is when the young girl enters the portals of womanhood. At this time she is very often pale, weak and nervous, and unless her health is built up and her system strengthened she may fall a prey to consumption or be a weak woman for life.

The second period is motherhood. The duties of the mother are great and the unweakened nerve force and depleted blood require strengthening. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills supply the elements needed to do this.

The third period is "change of life" and this is the period when she is most liable to heart and nerve troubles. A tremendous change is taking place in the system, and it is at this time many chronic diseases manifest themselves. Especially the heart and nerve system by the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and their life over the dangerous period. Mrs. James King, Cornwall, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled very much with heart trouble—the cause being to a great extent due to 'change of life.' I have been taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for some time, and mean to continue doing so, for I have ever used for building up the system. You see at liberty to use this statement for the benefit of other sufferers." Price 50 cents per box, three boxes for $1.25, all dealers, or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MI...LLANSOUS

In a little village there once lived a boy who was supposed to be dull-witted, says a writer in the "Latter." The men of the village used to find great amusement in offering him the choice between a three penny bit and a penny, of which he invariably chose the penny.

A stranger one day saw him choose the penny rather than the three-penny bit, and asked him for the reason.

"Is it because the penny is larger?" the stranger asked.

"No," was the response, "not 'cause it is the biggest. But if I took the threepenny bit they'd soon stop offering it."

Milburn's Sterling Headache Pow.

monthly pains and leave no bad after effects whatever. Be sure you get Milburn's. Price 30 and 25 cents, all dealers.

"I suppose your late uncle didn't fail to remember you in his will?" said the sympathetic friend.

"You can hardly call it a remembrance," replied the poor relation.

"It was more like a faint recollection!"

There is nothing harsh about Laxa-Liver Pills. They cure Constipation, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, and Bilious Spells without griping, purging or sickening. Price 25c.

Minard's Liniment for sale everywhere.

Little Johnnie had been taken on a round of calls by his mother, and at the house they had visited last he had made some remarkable statements in boasting of the grandeur of his own home.

"Now, Jobbie," said his mother, sternly, as they sat in the car on their way home, "you should never tell fibs, and if I catch you doing it again I'll punish you severely. Now, get well back in the seat and draw in your legs, and try and look as small as you can when I tell the conductor you are only three."

Beware of Worms.

Don't let worms gnaw at the vitals of your children. Give them Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup and they'll soon be rid of these parasites. Price 50c.

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper.

Burdock Blood Bitters

holds a position unrivalled by any other blood medicine as a cure for DYSPEPSIA, BILIOUSNESS, CONSTIPATION, HEADACHE, SALT RHEUM, SCROFULA, HEARTBURN, SOUR STOMACH, DIZZINESS, DROPSY, RHEUMATISM, SORES, PIMPLES, RINGWORM, or any disease arising from a disordered state of the stomach, liver, bowels or blood. When you require a good blood medicine get BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.
