Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerre Strength, or Nerve Weakness-nothing more. Pos-fitively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in it solf, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, of Heart Nerve "simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves. ## BOY'S STRUGGLE FORL

Mr. S. J. New, of 154 Baldwin St., Toronto, says: "I can trace my son Harold's trouble to when he had the measles five years ago, from which he never really recovered. Some of the best physici ns attended him, but with months of suffering he in turn contracted whooping cough, bronceitis, and then pneumonia."

Month after month went by that we shall not soon forget; months of sleepless nights, fearful coughs, weakening night sweats, left my boy a mere shadow. He had no appetite, and my heart ached to see how he was wasting away. He spent one whole summer at the Lakeside Home for Sick Children, and came home greatly improved, but the cold winds of October took him off his feet again. The doctor advised me to send him to Muskoka, but heavy doctor's bills had depleted my financial resources, and such a step seemed out of the question.

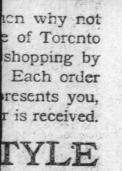

At this point we tried PSYCHINE, and human lips cannot describe the change that took place. No words can express the thankfulness of his mother and myself when we saw the crisis was over, and realized that our boy was fighting his way back to life and health. PSYCHINE had mastered that which all the doctor's prescriptions had failed to check. Day by day Harold grew stronger, and all through the winter, although continually out of doors, he failed to take cold, and he out on flesh very quickly. By the spring my son was completely bured, and developed into a strong, sturdy lad."

PSYCHINE is the greatest strength restorer and system builder known to medical science, and should be used for Course, Colds, Weak Lungs, Loss of Appetite, Weari-
