

CORONATION OF KING GEORGE PROBABLY JUNE TWENTY-FIRST

Preparations for Great Historic Event Are Already Proceeding—Enormous Rush to London Indicated—Premiers and Other Ministers From Overseas Dominions Will Reach London in May.

London, Oct. 27.—Though no official confirmation of the fact is as yet obtainable, the Pall Mall Gazette states on good authority that in the entourage of the Royal family it is now generally accepted that the coronation of King George and Queen Mary will take place in the week commencing June 18, probably on Wednesday, June 23.

This date will in all probability be officially announced in the course of the next few weeks, and at the same time the date of the investiture of the Prince of Wales at Carnarvon castle will be made known.

In fixing the date of the ceremony in Westminster Abbey precedent has been largely followed, the coronation of King Edward having been originally fixed for June 26, and Queen Victoria's first jubilee having been celebrated on June 21. It is expected that His Majesty's birthday, which falls on June 3, will not be officially recognized before the coronation week, in which also occurs the anniversary of the birthday of the Prince of Wales, who was born on June 23, 1894.

Arrangements already in hand. Already the arrangements for next year's great historic function are well in hand. It is to be made a great event of empire, in which every one of the Overseas Dominions will take a part. The prime ministers and other members of the governments of Canada, Australia, South Africa, and New Zealand and the governors of every state and dependency, owing allegiance to the British crown have been invited.

Each will be represented by a contingent of troops, and the procession which will accompany their Majesties from Buckingham palace to Westminster and the forces that will guard the line of route will be thoroughly typical of the might and strength of the empire.

According to present arrangements, the first arrivals will be the premiers and other ministers from the Dominions overseas for the imperial conference. They are expected about the end of next May, and though nothing has yet been definitely agreed regarding the program to be submitted for their consideration, it is intended to

A hard times social was held in connection with the Women's Institute of Tring, Alberta, on Wednesday, Oct. 19th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Dale. A large number of people were present, the bachelorette, of course, predominating as is usual in these parties.

The imperial delegates will, as usual, be the guests of the government, whose duty it will be next year to dispense hospitality to an extent unprecedented. This is a matter which will not be affected by any uncertainty that may exist in regard to the political situation.

The government then in power will have to find accommodation for some thousands of fellow subjects from all parts of the empire, and in the entertainment of the nation's guests there will be no stint.

The coronation will bring to this country a considerable number of European, though, of course, no reigning monarch ever attends a coronation. At the coronation of King Edward, among the foreign dignitaries present were: Prince and Princess Henry of Prussia, the Crown Prince of Denmark, the Duke and Duchess of Sparta, the Crown Prince and Crown Princess of Romania, the Grand Duchess of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, the Grand Duke of Hesse, Prince Charles of Denmark, Prince George and Princess Frederica of Hanover, and many others, and it is expected that there will be an equally distinguished gathering of royals next June.

In the thousands of invitations which will be issued to less exalted guests the mayors of all the principal cities of the empire will be included. Already scores of rooms have been engaged at the big hotels, and hundreds of passages have been booked on the great steamship routes from all parts of the world.

The "rush" from America, which is growing in volume every succeeding year, is managed by one of the leading shipping lines, which will exceed anything yet known. This information was corroborated at one of the big Anglo-American hotels, and by the manager of one of the chief tourist agencies, who remarked: "London will next year be the capital, not of the British empire only, but of the world. From the universal inquiries we are receiving I am convinced that there will be a much larger crowd as even London has never seen before."

VILLAGE OF HARDISTY WILL SEEK INCORPORATION AS TOWN

Ratepayers Meeting Held to Take Steps to Doff Swaddling Clothes—Speakers Point Out That as a Town for Rowing, Powers Will be Wider, and More Permanent Improvements Can be Made—Meeting is Unanimous.

Hardisty, Oct. 21.—The ratepayers of the village of Hardisty held a public meeting in the Orange hall last night for the purpose of taking steps for the incorporation as a town. Alan Johnstone, chairman of the village council, occupied the chair, and about forty ratepayers were present. Secretary H. B. Wood explained the procedure necessary to incorporate as a town.

W. G. Whyte spoke of the advantages of incorporation of a town having more power because getting more revenue from both taxation and increased borrowing powers, thus enabling more improvements to be made. He expressed his conviction that the advantages far outweighed any disadvantages in more improvements and also increased the value of property.

Dr. Callbeck favored the incorporation. There would be greater possibilities but also greater powers. He expressed his pleasure at such a large attendance. Increased valuation owing to more improvements such as sidewalks, would be a great advantage. Hardisty would be on every map and would be far more advertised. Two years ago he bought a lot for a pony. Today he would have to give five horses for a lot. Next year he hoped to see the town of Hardisty on the map.

O. D. Sullivan favored incorporation. Even if it did increase taxes it would increase the revenue to be used for improvements.

J. G. Thurston said no better step could be taken than to incorporate. It would show the world that Hardisty was a growing town and every resident close to the town should be willing to pay taxes if thereby necessary improvements could be made. Incorporation would increase the borrowing powers and allow the village of Hardisty to be made on the long term payment plan.

H. B. Wood favored incorporation but also considered that the village of Hardisty had been wide-awake in the past.

W. Danzig favored progress and incorporation as a town. He thought it possible the village council could have even borrowed the $2,000 allowed to a village.

W. G. Whyte said that Hardisty was in as good a shape financially as any town in the district. Hardisty should show on borrowing and spread the payments over a long term of years so that the citizens of the future should help pay for the improvements from which they would receive benefit.

W. A. Skinner, editor of the Hardisty Mail, considered incorporation a step in advance, and a step towards improvement.

W. R. Aigar, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, favored incorporation for it allowed taxation by licenses to protect the business men permanently located in the town. He strongly favored improvement of the town.

C. Long favored incorporation. The postmaster said he never attended a meeting where everybody was so unanimous.

"Hardisty is the best town on the line between Saskatchewan and Wetaskiwin. Hardisty is all right; the people are all right," he said. He added that he was going to use his garden rake and paint brush and clean up. He hoped that others would follow his example and that soon the town would have clean yards and streets and be pointed right in the eyes of the public. He urged everybody to boost the town.

Sam will eventually get $50,000 out of it. He has already got $25,000 out of it. It is now being built for $10,000 which was the first payment and he is now back for the first time again after a fruitless chase for three years. He has found out that here in Canada, some even in Sam's own British Columbia.

Sam found that his old parents were no more, having departed some years ago but there are still a lot of oldsters and youngsters among the people who are still numbered among the living. He was among the people who were of a roving adventurous disposition, not content with the life of the old world, had "gone to Canada."
