Carson's Forecast.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, To-day Sir Edward Carson's forecast the appointment and a provision government for Ulster, is a welcon change from the threats of blood a revolution which he has all alon been making. At the same time it i filled. A provisional government requires practical unanimity. How can this be assured when Ulster returns a majority of Nationalist members. The question of the birthplac of electors living in Ulster would al of electors living in Ulster would also be a drawback to such a Government. Then again it is hardly likely Orangemen would pay sufficient taxes to carry on, what after all, would be a sham government. Ulster must not forget that revolution breeds revolution, said a leading Irish Parliamentarian.
