Clean up Our City Inside and Out.

From time to time an agitation is started for a cleaning up of our streets, the beautifying of our surroundings and the purging of our filthy slums, and sometimes an effort of a sort is made. But it has never been systematic, never undertaken with the full co-operation of the citizens and consequently it has never been thorough. It is not that we do not realize the untidy condition of our city—the dilapidated looking ranges, unpainted houses, tumble down fences, and streets that resemble river beds; or the dangers which lie in the germ infested drains, the congestion in the back streets, and the overcrowded hovels which landlords call houses and are permitted to rent. The trouble is that we have lived so long amid such surroundings that we have become indifferent, until the whole matter has reached such dimensions that no City Council cares to tackle it during its term of office, and so it goes on from bad to worse. Nothing short of a pestilence would impress us with the necessity of a sweeping change and of the adoption of up-to-date sanitary methods. So far nothing but the mercy of God and regular downpours of rain have saved us from an outbreak such as visits from time to time cities in which conditions are similar in the Far East.

So much for the external sores of our city; but there is a matter even more serious than those which requires immediate treatment. We refer to the moral side of our city life. Day by day is unfolded in the Magistrate's Court a story which depicts in all its sordidness the immorality which is rampant. It must be remembered that for each case that comes within the notice of that Court there are many of which the general public never hear. Not without good reason did the presiding judge express his abhorrence of the evidence given in several cases on Saturday last when the docket was even fuller than usual of this type of offence. Those who have occasion to follow day by day the reports of the Magistrate's Court cannot but be impressed with the fact that the extent of the vice is widespread.

There are some among us who deliberately shut their eyes to this side of our civic life, and claim that it does not exist to anything like the same extent as it does elsewhere. There are others who, when faced with the facts, hold up their hands in holy horror and repudiate any share in the responsibility of finding a remedy. There are a few who, realizing to the full the magnitude of the vice, have seriously and earnestly sought a solution of the problem and have taken practical measures to check the evil.

It is useless blinding ourselves to facts. Immorality has set its roots deep into the life of the community, and has become a menace. When the body politic is threatened with a disease or danger it behoves all right-minded citizens to demand that measures be taken to eradicate or remove it. Similar conditions have been found to exist in other cities; for example in Montreal, where for some time the authorities have been conducting a systematic campaign to stamp it out.

MEASURES TO COPE WITH THE EVIL.

Environment has a great effect upon moral development, and with introduction of better and more thorough methods to keep the city clean, by improving the housing conditions, and by extending the lighting system, a change of tone would soon be noticeable. The situation however demands that more direct measures must be taken, and as it is the youth of the city that are particularly concerned, the home and the schools can by wise counsel do much to assist in the crusade against this depravity. The authorities by a stringent enforcement of the regulations against loitering and soliciting in the streets, by imposing the maximum penalty in cases of criminal assault and similar offences, and by sentencing without the option of a fine those found guilty of keeping houses of ill-fame, will do much towards stamping out the iniquity.

Publicity is perhaps a greater deterrent to evil-doers than anything else, and the names of all those found guilty of the above offences should appear in the press reports. Those who have come from outside to carry on their nefarious practices here should be deported.

Tug Hero

SINKS WHILE LYING AT MONROE'S WHARF.

Through some cause which cannot be definitely determined until she goes on dock the Tug Hero filled with water yesterday and sank as efforts were made to beach her in Monroe's Cove. The tug had recently been acquired by Messrs. A. S. Rendell & Co. was moored at the head of Monroe's wharf on Saturday night and when the crew left her, yesterday, one of the crew noticed that something was wrong, and investigating, found that the vessel was rapidly filling. Assistance being procured the "Hero" was hauled into the cove where she sank until her forward deck was awash. This forenoon Diver Squires went down and fastened the hatches in preparation for pumping out the water which will be done at low tide this afternoon.

A Denial by the Council.

Editor Evening Telegram
Dear Sir.—In Saturday's issue of your paper there is an item stating that the man Norman, charged with indecent assault, was an employee of the Council in control of the amusement apparatus at Bannerman Park. I am directed to say that this statement is not correct and that the man Norman referred to is not an employee of the Council.

Yours very truly,
J. J. MAHONY,
City Clerk.

Editors Note.—In our account we stated that the above mentioned individual "was presumably employed looking after the children in Bannerman Park." That Norman was so occupied is beyond question. By whom he was detailed for the work we know not, and therefore made no reference as to by whom he was engaged.

The Life of a Shot Gun.

What is the average life of a Shot Gun? Most shot gun barrels cease to give satisfactory service at an early age, because the inside of the barrel becomes pitted and rough—all originating from rust—due to lack of cleaning and oiling. The celebrated WINCHESTER and REMINGTON Oils and Cleaners will keep your gun in good shape for many years. Sold by Ayre & Sons Ltd.—sept10.14.19

Runaway Accident.

MR. T. VOISEY, CARMAN, INJURED.

As a result of his horse taking fright about six o'clock Saturday evening, Mr. Thomas Voisey, the well known cabman, suffered injuries to his face and head by being thrown from his driver's seat to the ground. Previous to the accident Mr. Voisey was delivering a passenger on Patrick Street. After the beast had been turned into Water Street on the return trip East, one of the breechings broke, and frightening the animal it started at a furious rate along that thoroughfare. The driver trying in vain to stop him. Upon turning into Queen Street the victoria collided with a long cart. Mr. Voisey was thrown heavily to the ground, receiving a bad cut in the head, and bruises to his face. The vehicle was badly damaged in the mix-up, while the horse, which was captured in Queen Street, escaped uninjured. Several passers-by who witnessed the accident, picked up Mr. Voisey, who was then in a half dazed condition. He was driven to the hospital for treatment, while four stitches were required to close a wound in the head. He was later removed to his home, where he will be compelled to remain for some days before he is well enough to get around again.

At St. Thomas's.

At St. Thomas's church yesterday, at all services, special prayers were offered for the millions of sufferers in Japan, who have recently experienced a catastrophe without parallel in the history of the world, the smiling "Land of the Rising Sun" having been turned into a realm of darkness and death. The congregations were privileged to hear two eloquent and inspiring sermons. In the morning the Rev. Canon Bolt dealt specially with the hundred years' work of the Colonial and Continental Church Society, in connection with which the centenary collection will be taken up in the Parish next Sunday. The preacher at the evening service was Rev. P. Wynne Lichbourne, B.A., of Montreal, formerly assistant editor of the "Canadian Churchman," and during the War a Captain of Artillery. Prayers were also offered for the protection of Bishop Mowll during these troublous times in Western China. Recent reports record the murder of two of the Church's missionaries in his Diocese by brigands. In his journey to Facing Bishop Mowll and his party were in danger, as the following note from the Bishop's Journal will relate:

"This (mountain pass) is a great haunt of brigands and I was told afterwards that one of them, heavily armed, was seen watching us all the time. Fortunately we were not molested and I was unconcerned of it. Constantly it seemed one could almost hear the rustle of angel wings as heaven's legions were before and behind and on either side as we travelled."

"Citizen" of Catalina Complains.

Magistrate's Court.

A laborer employed discharging S. S. Silvia was arrested and arraigned before the Magistrate's Court Saturday afternoon, charged with the theft of a quantity of tobacco from the ship's cargo. Mr. W. J. Higgins, who appeared for the accused, made arrangements for the postponement of the hearing until this morning, but as the defence was still unable to proceed a second postponement of the case was granted. The accused man was remanded and allowed bail on his own behalf until called upon.

Two ordinary drunks arrested over Saturday night were liberated.

A drunk was arrested charged with breaking a pane of glass in the shop window of J. Dot, valued at 60 cents. He was ordered to pay costs.

A drunk charged with indecent exposure on the public street, was convicted and fined $2.00 or 7 days.

A 25-year-old laborer taken in for safe-keeping, was allowed to go.

A widow was up for selling her beer over the 2 per cent. proof. Mr. D. J. Davies, who analysed samples from No. 1 and 2 Kegs as obtained by the police, found that they each contained alcohol by volume 2.1 per cent. and 2.4 per cent. which would be a trivial amount overproof. The court suspended sentence in this case, and warned the accused to either quit selling or keep the home brew below the standard.

An assault case between two laborers was settled out of court.

A 35-year-old ship's carpenter, James Street, stood before the bar charged with the larceny of $15.00, the property of a 12-year-old school-boy named Joseph Saunders, 295 Pleasant Street on Saturday last. Mr. W. J. Higgins, K.C., represented the accused and entered a plea of "not guilty." The boy, who was present in court with his mother, was called into the witness box and after taking the oath, which he knew was to tell the truth and nothing but the truth, told how he had been robbed of $15.00 in broad daylight, after he had left the office of Franklin Co. Water Street, on his way home. Saunders stated that he had been sent on an errand by his mother to purchase a 1/4 ton of coal at the office of Franklin & Co., and was given a cheque for $20.00 to make payment. After he had completed the order a girl in the office gave him his change, which amounted to $14.20, made up of a ten dollar bill, one five and $1.20 in silver. The boy placed the bills in the right pocket of his trousers and the silver in his left, and was proceeding home. He crossed Water St. and was going up Springdale Street, when he was halted by a man from behind near D. Pelley's store, who told him that he had received the wrong change. The boy, seemingly thinking that such was the case, withdrew his right hand from his pocket and drew out $15.00 in bills, which he very obligingly gave to the man. The man with the coin walked very rapidly down Springdale into Water Street out of the boy's sight, while he remained on the spot for a few minutes expecting his friend to return. Saunders, who is a very bright boy for his age, fearing that his assailant might have decamped with the money, went back to Franklin's office and told the counter clerk that a man had taken his money, stating that he had received the wrong change. The official at the office was at a loss to understand the lad's story, and told him to run home and tell his mother to have his assailant arrested. The lad forthwith proceeded home and told his mother of the deed. The accused, apparently thought that the lad would not recognize him, but on returning to Water Street with his mother, young Saunders quickly spotted the thief, and acquainting Const. Wells, who was doing duty near Steer Bros., Wells went along with the boy and his mother and handed the culprit. The policeman formally charged him with stealing $15.00 from the boy, which he denied. He was then arrested and taken to the Police Station.

Const. Wells, who gave evidence, stated that the prisoner placed his hands in both pockets after he had been ordered to remove them, he removed the left hand clenched. The officer grasped the closed hand and held it until the man was conveyed to the lockup, when the closed hand was opened and found to contain $15.00 in bills, one ten, and one five. Saunders identified the bills as his, saying "That's the same man." Mr. Higgins, K.C., called the accused himself to the bar. The man denied all knowledge of having anything to do with the robbery, or ever seeing the boy. When the constable came

The Peacemaker.

A countryman, a bluff, good-natured old fellow, was on his first visit to London.

"Th. but London is a big place," he muttered to himself, as he made his way past the House of Parliament and Westminster Abbey, and on to Buckingham Palace.

There he was attracted by the sight of a pair of sentries.

He stood for some minutes deeply enthralled. Then a French gentleman on his brow, as the red-coated figures walked up to each other without exchanging a single word.

At last, unable to control himself, he stepped up, and as they met once more he said: "Come, lads, can't you make it up?"

on the scene and made the charge of theft, he stated that he had been waiting for the return of Mr. Butler the shipwright, for his week's wages. The $15.00 found on him in the police station was a saving of three months and it was to be used on Saturday to purchase a mattress for his home. The wife of the accused man was also brought into court as a witness, and said that her husband had been working occasionally, and had given her the most of his earnings. She knew he had been laying aside a certain portion for the purchase of a mattress, which he was to have bought on the day that he was arrested. Mr. Higgins put up a very able defence on behalf of the accused, but the evidence as submitted by the witness for the prosecution was too strong against him. Judge Morris said there was no doubt about it. The accused was already in court for larceny, having served a sentence of three months on one occasion. The accused was convicted of the larceny, and a fine of $25.00 or two months imprisonment was imposed.
