ENERPRISING YANKEE BUYERS

Reaping Immense Profits Off Canadian Farmers

An End Should be Made to the Boasts of American Speculators of the Beef Trust.

A gentleman from the United States has recently made a tour of Ontario, and he thinks the people there are "dead slow." He says that at every place he found a "Yankee from the States" engaged in speculation. At nine villages there were "Yankee hog buyers, who up to April 1 had purchased 6,112, mostly shore pigs, at 21/2 cents a pound. These were worth 5 cents in the United States, and the cost of food in driving them was paid for by the increase in weight. The writer villages, where the merchants were buying hogs by the carcass for Yan- Wolseley Barracks this morning. kees, at from $2 75 to $3 25 a hundredweight, to pack. At the same time, pork was $7 a hundredweight in New York and $6 a hundredweight in Buffalo. Result: Pork that cost the Yankees $10 a barrel, they are now asking $16 for." But the clever "Yankees" did not spend all their energies in the purchase of cheap pigs. Two "Yankees" spent the winter in buying up 14,000 ords of beach and maple on the banks of the Trent River and Lake Ontario. They paid our farmers a dollar a cord for it, and they received from the railways to whom they sold it from $3.50 to $4. The freight arranged was a dollar, so they got a profit of from one dollar and fifty cents to two dollars a cord, or some hundred and fifty to two hundred per cent. Says the critic: There was a hundred and fifty per cent business for the Yankee, while smoking his cigar at a hotel, while hundreds of Canadian farmers were at work for him at a mere pittance." Then again, railway ties for delivery to New York and Ohio are taken out from the Canadian shores of Lake Ontario and Erie. Yankee contractors are paying our farmers from 10 to 15 cents each for these, and they get from the railways 40 to 50 cents each. It is said there will be 100,000 of these ties shipped this year, while of railway bridge timber there will be 3,000,000 feet

There is a potato famine in the United States and prices at Buffalo are $1 25 a bushel, yet Canadian farmers are delivering them to shipping points at from 25 to 31 cents a bushel. Yankees are buying our cows at from $10 to $15 a head. Last week, our friend says he saw a drove of 800 of them going to Yankeeland by way of the suspension bridge—and when on the other side they were worth $25 or more. They would have to pay a duty of twenty-seven and a half per cent, but even when that was paid there was pretty nearly a hundred per cent profit. Eight hundred cases of butter were bought recently in Toronto at twelve and a half cents a pound, and were sold in the United States at twenty-five and thirty cents. specific instance is quoted of a Yankee having "picked up five hundred kegs of butter in Hamilton in one day at thirteen cents. Three days more and at a net advance of two dollars a keg." at a net advance of two dollars a keg.' Making all allowances for exaggera- for the complainant and Mr. Ivey for tion there is no doubt sufficient truth the defendant. in this indictment for a useful lesson to be learned. Instead of our farmers doing business with these enterprising gentlemen at the country store, they must do it directly in the big cities with reputable firms and companies. Canadian cities there are many middlemen of wealth, probity and capacity, with whom our farmers might do business, to their mutual profit, while a study of the fluctuations of prices in the great meat and provision markets ought to stop such sacrifices as those quoted. What applies to Ontario also applies in some measure to other provinces, and they cannot be acquainted too quickly with the fact that he Yankees are boasting and laughing about the way they are skinning our country people. The beef trust is causing famine prices to be paid for all farm produce in the United States, and Canadian farmers ought to get good prices for their eggs, cattle, pigs and what not they are asked to sell to the agents of the trust or speculators

When the empire or Can-Africa, in Canada again, perhaps, or humble. When the empire, or Canada, or their own city have had cause for happiness through all these years, like villages. Wherever it may be, the bells have pulsated in unison with the joy in the hearts of the people. When the people have been saddened, their sorrow have been echoed by the tolling of these old bells. When Paar-deberg was celebrated, they thrilled ed with the merry pealing of the bells the air with gladness, and when the in the tower of St. Paul's.

Historic Chimes Shipped to Queen died, the old bells attuned themselves to the sorrow of the city. Now they have gone. They started today on their return voyage to England, to Croydon, the birthplace of much of the world's melody. They will be broken up and melted, and then will begin a second life as portions of newer and yet more tuneful bells, whose experiences may be much more wonderful than these have been in the old tower above the green churchyard at of Croydon send their silver-toned products to all the world, and it may be that the bells that these will be from an English spire, in one of England's cities, or one of her gardenthey will long be remembered here, where half a century of their existence has been lived, remembered most affectionately, no doubt, by the hundreds and hundreds whose thoughts

The committee comprised Rev. Messrs. Johnston, Hamilton and Scott. Their resolution was as follows:

"In view of the increase in the quantity of liquor entered for consumption in the Dominion of Canada, according to the inland revenue receipts of recent years, and in view of the decision of the Privy Council regarding the power of the Provincial Government to deal with the matter of legislation don desires to express its conviction concerning the inherent evil and baneful results of the traffic in strong drink righteous effort put forth for the ultimate suppression of the traffic. In view also of the fact that information has reached us that those interested in the traffic are seeking to pledge the candidates for the local legislature to a policy that would establish and perpetuate these evils, the alliance holds that it is the duty of the Christian attainment of an end which would, we feel convinced, be disastrous to the cord: "We have reason to believe that Mr. Wilson was ever earnest and energetic in his work there. When he was placed there over seven years ago, we knew the work was far from encouraging. The congregations were small and financially weak. At his that province, and induction, seven years ago, his united charge drew $200 from the augmentation fund, and Newbury was carrying burden of nearly $1,000, contracted through the building of a new manse. "In three years the congregations were about doubled in membership; the congregations were self-sustaining, and before he tendered his resignation Newbury had paid the debt on the manse, and in each congregation there was placed a new organ to help lead the service of praise. It is with regret that the presbytery acquiesced in Mr. Wilson's resignation, and the strong deputation appearing at presbytery to obtain, if possible, the withdrawal of the resignation, as well as the gifts given by both congregations, before he moved from the field, testify in a tangible way the love in which Mr. Wilson and his wife also, were held by them.

"This presbytery wish also to testify to the faithfulness shown by Mr. Wilson in his attendance upon the courts of the church, and his readiness and ability to at all times do any work set for him by the presbytery.

"It is our hope that Mr. Wilson will soon find a field of labor congenial to his wish. It is the prayer of brethren here that his efforts, wherever exerted may be blessed to the furtherance of the kingdom of our Lord Jesus Christ.

What Is Money?

Colonel Henry Watterson, Pride of Kentucky, and Titular High Priest of Dr. Macrae wanted to know. No, Miss the "Star Eyed Goddess of Reform," Brooks had not, but she had heard attended a performance of "Arizona" that electricity was very good for at the Columbia Theater, Washington, recently, and was moved to philosophic flights by a sentence in Mr. Thomas' text. "The world should pity a weman who has money.' The golden voice of Grace Thorne intoned the sentiment at the climax of act third; the curtain fell a moment later. Colonel Watterson leaned toward General Madison C. Butler, senator from South Carolina, and reflected aloud:

'Money? What is money anyhow' Its value is only measured by the in-tensity with which we desire something that money will buy. Now for instance, the last pair of top boots that I purchased-that was Kentucky gentlemen took to wearing

"That's nothing," ejaculated Senator Butler. "I paid $2,500 once for a coat-it was a gray coat and I bought surrender.' "Yes," put in Colonel Phil Thompson, who entered the box at that moment, "and both you and Mar'se Henry here committed your deplorable extravagence in the same kind money-Confederate money. I had so much of it at the end of the war that I used it to stuff a mattress."

Forty Miles of Scinde Railway Destroyed

And Many Lives Lost-Anniversary of Edward the Elder.

Bombay, May 19 .- A destructive hurricane has swept over the Province of Scinde, British India. Forty miles of the Scinde Railroad were washed away and bridges, houses and embankments disappeared. Fifty miles of telegraph wires were also destroyed. Many lives were lost.

EDWARD THE ELDER'S ANNI-VERSARY.

London, May 19. - Kingston-on-Thames, one of the many charming little riverside towns on the outskirts of the great metropolis, will today be en fete. On Whitsunday, 902, King Edward the Elder, son of the successor of Albert the Great, was crowned on a stone that now rests in the market-place at Kingston and the thousandth anniversary of that interesting historical event will today be popularly celebrated. A stained-glass window commemorative of the good deeds as Edward the Elder as they have filtered through the shadows of the dim and distant past, was unveiled in the town hall by the Bishop of Rochester on Saturday. THE PAGEANT.

Today the main thoroughfares of the town will be given up to pageantry.
The procession promises to rival the annual shows in London on Lord Mayor's Day. There will be a historic tableau of the Saxon coronation, with archbishop and nobles complete; a car depicting Father Thames, and others representing the ancient trade guilds. A May queen will be drawn in a garlanded coach by sixteen children. A military tournament, with the quintain and other mediaeval features, is fixed for the afternoon, and in the evening Morris and May-pole dances will take place by limelight. It might not be easy to trace many points of resemblance between Edward the Elder and Edward VII., but, as the

The governor, Lieut.-Gen. Von Wahl, was leaving the circus at Vilna, at about midnight, when a man stepped up behind him and fired twice with a revolver, wounding the governor in the left hand and right foot. The would-be assassin was pounced upon by the po-lice, and bystanders, and was thrown to the ground, but he succeeded in firing a third shot, harmlessly. When arrested the man gave the name of Hirscheldert.

Dallas, Texas, May 19.-There are 53 Pandora's box they wouldn't hold out. Miss Brooks is a very pretty woman -very demure. She is the last person on earth who would be taken for a female sleuth. Her latest exploit was to visit the office of Dr. Macrae and get an electric jolt for rheumatism. She went to him with a woman friend and told him that she had rheumatism in the left shoulder. Had she ever been treated by electricity was what rheumatism. She made an appointment with him and came again in a day or so with her friend, bared her shoulder and got a shivering shock added to her singular medical history. In court Dr. Macrae advanced as & defense the claim that he was not practicing for himself, but was employed by another physician. It was
