HYPNOTIC EXPERIMENTS.

rring Magnetic Energy to A French physician has recently made some experiments in connection with magnetism and electricity in relation to hypnotism, which have led to remarkable results. The latter discovery establishes the fact that the cerebral activity can be transferred to a crown of magnetised iron, in which the activity can be retained and subsequently passed on to a second person. Incredible as this may seem, the possibility has been proved by the experiments referred to. The doctor placed the crown, which in reality is only a circular band of magnetised iron, on the head of a female patient suffering from melancholia, with a mania for self-destruction, and with such success was the experiment attended that within a fortnight the patient could be allowed to go free without danger, the crown having absorbed all her marked tendencies.

About two weeks afterwards he put the same crown, which meanwhile had been carefully kept clean from contact with anything else, on the head of a male patient suffering from hysteria, complicated by frequent recurrent periods of fethargy. The patient was then hypnotised and immediately comported himself with the manner of the woman who had previously worn the crown. He practically assumed her personality, and utted exactly the same complaints as she had done. Similar phenomena have, it is reported, been observed in the case of every patient experimented upon. A nother experiment showed that the crown retained the impression required until it was made red hot. Crown of Iron Thus Curing Insanity. A French physician has recently made

WHY JIM WOULD WIN.

Figures-Interesting Mathe

Jim and Tom agreed to get up a little Jim and Tom agreed to get up a finter match in addition, whereby the winner will be the one who first reaches a hundred by calling out a number alternately which, when added to the foregoing, is no less than one and not more than seven. Now, Jim knows a thing or two, and wins the match, and, moreover, he predicts to Tom that he will surely win it, in spite of all that Tommy can do not to prevent it. Which numbers must Jim name in succession to be sure to win it, in spite of all that Tommy can do not to prevent it. Which numbers must Jim name in succession to be sure to win the game every time?

In this case, Tom begins with three. The solution is:—Jim names every time that it is his turn the highest number which can be divided by four but not by eight. No matter what number Tom names, keeping within the range of seven upward from Jim's number, Jim follows up with say four (Tom having begun with three), twelve, twenty, twenty-eight, thiry-six, and so on up to ninety-two. Now Tom is compelled to name a number within range of ninety-three to ninety-nine, and it is, of course, Jim's turn to say one hundred.

Try it, and let your fellow-contestant begin with any number he chooses. You are sure to beat him every time by following this method.

When the penguin in the London Zoo-logical Garden is fed the fish are thrown into the water, and the bird, which cannot fly in air or swim on the surface of the water, at once plunges in and is transformed into a swift and beautiful transformed into a swift and beautiful creature, beaded with globules of quicksilver, where the air clings to the close feathers, and, flying through the clear and waveless depths with arrowy speed and powers of turning far greater than in any known form of aerial flight. The rapid and steady strokes of the wings are exactly similar to those of the air birds, while the feet float straight out level with its body, unused for propulsion or even as rudders, and as little needed in its progress as those of a wild duck when on the wing. The twists and turns necessary to follow the active little fish are made wholly by the strokes of one wing and the cessation of movement in the other; and the fish are chased, caught and swallowed withof movement in the other; and the fish are chased, caught and swallowed without the slightest relaxation of speed, in a submarine flight which is quite as rapid as that of most birds which take their prey in mid-air.

The leading paper in a Provincial town recently published the following matrimonial advertisement:—"A young lady of enormous wealth, who is prepared to pay off all the debts of her intended husband, desires to form the actended husband, desires to form the ac-quaintance of a respectable young gen-tleman, with a view to matrimony. Each reply to be accompanied by a phote of the sender and addressed to J. P., at the office of this paper." The delicate hand which drew up the above delicate hand which drew up the above lines and thereby secured a very large number of offers belonged to no less a personage than Herr Itzig Schlaucheles, who had lately opened a clothing establishment in the town. By means of the photos sent in he was enabled to ascertain which of his would-be cusacertain which health of leaving their tomers were in the habit of leaving their debts unpaid.

for our bonds in London, and a cable from Paris reporting some anxiety with regard to their crop, and quoting their flour and wheat market higher. Re-ceipts at primary points were 300,000, against 210,000 last year. Receipts at Minneapolis and Duluth were 420 cars, against 130. Seaboard clearances were small, about 180,000 bushels of wheat and flour. The effect of small clear-ances, however, is more than offset by and flour. The effect of small clear ances, however, is more than offset by the continued demand at primary points by country millers, and should this increase perceptibly, it would stimulate buying from abroad, as it would demonstrate the fact that our large visible might decrease materially, with only moderate exports. It is doubtful if a small advance would bring out any long wheat, consequently with a good long wheat, consequently with a good speculative demand we believe short seilers could not fill the demand, and higher prices would be the result. Provisions were lower and somethin of a break was prevented by sympatic with strength in grain markets. Pace ers were selling, and some local holdings were thrown over. Receipts hogs were targe at all packing points, and the cash demand was chiefly for pickled meats; with so small a short interest and outside trade it will be

Henry A. King & Co.'s special wire from F. G. Logan & Co., Chicago; Wheat ruled fairly active, with a tendency to respond quickly to even moderate buying. Very little weakness was observed during any dull periods, but a firm to strong undertone has been the chief characteristic. chief characteristic. Foreign markets are better, notably Paris, on both flour and wheat. Seaboard clearances were moderate, and primary receipts are keeping up surprisingly well, though large ortion of arrivals in the Northy proportion of arrivals in the are said to be from country elevate weather conditions favorable for cr but we repeat again, we are con closer and closer daily to crop sca with about the lowest crop on rec Corn ruled moderately active and fire early, easing off some on selling by larg local holders, the best buying by those who previously sold. A better feeling prevails in the market, partly due to the prevails of the market, partly due to the solution of dition of eastbound rates. Provisions were influenced by large receipts of hogs. At the decline all offerings were taken by brokers, doubtless representing packers. Quality of hogs very poor, which
