

1. Strangers and new comers feel at home with us.

Notes

Envelopes for Convention Fund have been arranged in bundles of twelve, and can be secured at the close of every service. A special united effort will give us the required amount. Let us be loyal to our Denominational work. There is great need of a contribution as liberal as possible from each one.

The business meetings of the church is of the greatest importance. It is the Lord's work and ought to have our attention. It is not treating the cause fairly to neglect this service. It is the duty of every church member to assist in having the Lord's work performed "decently and in order." Are you doing your part?

"The only difference between a groove and a grave is a matter of depth." There is a constant danger of the Christian society or church settling down into grooves. Only as Christian societies and churches and individuals are vitalized by close communion with God, will this danger of formation and death be averted.

"Nothing more effectually prevents a Christian worship than a carping, censorious spirit of criticism that regards the minister of the gospel in no better light than that of a popular lecturer, the church choir as an operatic attraction, and the house of God as a place for the gratification of the esthetic. Parents often think it strange that their children grow away from the church, and lose their veneration for sacred things when the blame rests upon themselves. If parents teach their children to look only for amusement and entertainment in God's house: if church members freely find fault in the home with the sacred institution of divine service, it is needless to expect in the younger generation a spirit of veneration and loyalty to Christian observances."—Record of Christian work.

Ian MacLaren says:—"Never was a sermon so poor and thin but it contained more than its hearers could practice."

Application for Sittings should be made to Deacon J. S. McPherson. The seats are assigned, not rented. Each holder of a sitting is expected to be a contributor.

THIS CHURCH IS SUPPORTED by the voluntary contributions of the people, that is to say, every member of this church is covenanted voluntarily to subscribe towards the expenses of the church whatever sum it is in their power to give, and shall so inform the Financial Secretary, and from him receive envelopes for that purpose. All bills or accounts are to be sent to A. E. Soule, 119 Robie St. All monies contributed, donated or raised by and for the church, are to be handed to N. L. McDonald, Fin. Sec'y.
