

An illustration of a woman and a young child in a domestic setting. The woman, with her hair in an updo, is wearing a light-colored dress with a ruffled collar and is gently holding the child's face. The child, wearing a bonnet and a light dress, is looking up at the woman. The scene is framed by a decorative border of stylized flowers. The background is dark, with some flowers visible on a table to the right.

"Why, you use
PEARS' too."

A bar of Pears' Soap, partially unwrapped from its paper. The soap is dark and has the words "MADE AT PEARS IN GREAT BRITAIN" embossed on it.

Matchless for the Complexion