CAPITAL AND LABOUR.

Capital is simply the savings of previous labour and is useful in sustaining present and future labour.

Capital, therefore, is produced by labour. Labour is simply toilsome work, which is generally performed under the direction of bosses or task-masters, and is rewarded by drafts on the fruits of previous labour or Capital. Labour, therefore, is sustained by Capital. Capital and Labour are inter-dependents.

The custodians of Capital may abuse their position and grind the faces of labourers; and, labourers may form trades-unions and organize strikes; but, labour and capital will not quarrel any more than a man will quarrel with his meals. Cheapside believes in paying labour handsomely, as no country can be prosperous without well paid Isbourers.

votes of the Conclave." . The Cardinal Camerlengo it must be observed, represents the ancient vestiarius or steward of the property of the Church. Within his attributes originally fell whatever even remotely touched the interests of the Papal Exchequer, while he had jurisdiction also over secular cases in the city and comarca of Rome. Of course therefore, his office constantly brought him into disagreeable relations with other dignitaries; and, as he becomes. on the death of a Pope, the first personages in the Papal State he may usually except to see all the other personages of the State combine to prevent his temporary supremacy from opening into permanency. It is possible, however, that the appointment really helped Cardinal Pecci, since the Pope was dying and naturally would desire to leave the presidency of the Church during the interregnum in good hands.

In appearance the newly elected Pontiff is tall and dignified, with remarkably impresive features. He has a deep, sonorous voice, and preaches with great fervor. A correspondent of the London Times des-cribes bim as resembling Cardinal Gonsalvi, the Prime Minister of Pius VII. His bearing in public is dignified and stately almost to austerity; and good and universally respected Pope Pius IX, and his voice, while it lacks the winning sweetness of as a mark of respect to his venerated memory, this that of Plus IX. is full strong and impressive. In meeting do now adjourn until this night week. private life his manners are simple and unassuming, as are also his personal tastes. He is lively in temper and of a very kindly disposition, and quite as fond of a clever piece of wit as his predecessor. Morally and intellectually equiped for his great of-fice. "He is," writes one authority, "a man of blameless character, sincerely religious, well-versed the Rev. Father Campeaux express himself on the in Church matters and of moderate opinions. "They give him credit," says another, "for a deep knowledge of the world and great dexterity in the management of affairs." Sighor Bonghi, in his book. "Pio Nono, ed il Papa Fujuro," first pub-lished in 1873 and reproduced last November, included Cardinal Pecci in his list of seven Papabili or persons engible for the Papacy, and characterized him as "one of the most elevated minds and one of the most even tempers in the Sacren College."

The name of Leo taken by the new Pope, recalls some of the most eventful and glorious days in the history of the Papacy. At least five of the twelve Popis who have borne the names made themselves famous among the rulers of the Holy See. Leo I. canonized and surnamed the Great, who occupied the Papal chair from 440 to 461, appeased a quarrel between Actius and Albinus which threatened to leave Gaul and Italy exposed to the barbarians, saved Rome from Attits, persuading "the Scourge of God" to retire with a ransom, and made Genseric and his Vandals agree that in the sack of Rome three of its churches should be spared and the lives of all its citizens. The same great Pontiff restored discipline and harmony among the African churches, annulled the fraudulent episcopal elections of Gaul and enforced celibacy upon the clergy. Leo III., also canonized, Pope from 795 to 816, founded many of the finest or the Roman churches, crowned Charlemagne Emperor of the West, and gave to the Church the solemn services known as the "Rogations." Lee IV., a third saint Pope from 847 to 855, headed, clad in his priestly robes, the sally of the citizens of Rome in 849 against a great Saracen host which had landed at Ostia. and, routing the enemy, took such booty that he was enabled with it to reconstruct the whole circuit of the walls of Rome, having already built ramparts about what is now called the Leonine City. Leo X, the most illustrious of the name, from a sccular point of view, was a son of Lorenzo de Medici called the "magnificent. He bccame Cardinal at thirteen, at seventeen a legate, and at thirty-eight Pope, succeeding Julius II., in 1513. Before com-ing to the Papal throne this Pontiff had been the companion and patron of the most eminent artists of the day. He reconstructed the great Roman University, and made it the most eminent scientific body in Europe, with its hundred professors teaching every branch of science, sacred or profane, including medical botany then first taught. He patronized the arts with all the munificence of the Medicean family; he founded the Greek Institute on the Equiline, established a Greek press in Rome encouraged the study of the Oriental laguages, and printed at his own cost Sante Pusgnino's Bible and a key to the Egyptian heiroglyphics by Piero Valer-iano. Under him was held the fifth general council of Lateran; to him Portugal sent the first fruits of Albuquerque's East India conquests; he added to the Pontifical domains Siena, Perugia and Bologna. and regained Parma, and Placenza. Under his reign the building of St. Peter's was completed. He strove in vain to form a league of Christendom against the Turks, and died after a reign of eight years, leng and gratefully remembered by the Romane as an era of happiness, and prosperity, and destined to live in the annals of art and literature while the names of Raphael and Michael Angelo survive or scholars recall Bembo and Sadoleto. The latest Leo of the line, Leo XII., who reigned from 1823 to 1829, was a firm governor, who exerted himself vigorously to repress brigandage and mendicity, established an efficient police at Rome, did much for the Saplenza University, and was most roundly abused for his circular letter to the Christian nations attacking Bible societies, and his resolute warfare upon the secret organizations so obnoxious to the Catholic Church.

CANADA GUARANTEE COMPANY .- This flourishing company recently issued its fifth annual report. The manager Mr. Edward Rawlings was able to show a handsome balance sheet in favor of the company.

THE ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY .- This is another company of which Mr. Rawlings is Manager, and Sir A. T. Galt, President. The company shows a surplus (over liabilities and reserves) of $5,000. The company is in a flourishing condition considering the times.

THE LADIES OF MOUNT CARMEL MONTREAL .- GRAND BAZAAR IN THEIR BELIEF.—A Grand Bazaar for the benefit of the Ladies of the Carmel is in progress, at 440 St. Joseph street. Considerable interest is taken in the affair, which has been increased by the opening of a poll to test the popularity of the two candidates in St. Ann's Ward-Lx-Ald, McShane and Mr. Michael Farmer. Thus far Mr. McShane is a long way ahead. Mr. Farmer's friends should look after his interests here. EMERALD SNOWSHOE CLUE.—The fourth annual meeting of the Emerald Snowshoe Club was held on the Montreal Lacrosse Grounds last Saturday afternoon. The day was somewhat disagreeable, but for all that the audience was pretty well attended. The programe was as follows:—1st. Two miles (open)—Won by Lefebre. 2nd. Half mile (open)—Won by H. Downes. 3rd. Two miles (open)— Geo. Starke. 4th. 160 yards (open)-Robert Summerhayes. 5th. Not run. 6th. Quarter mile (open) Won by Cairns. 7th. Half a mile for the Band in uniform. This was well contested and won by Lynch. 8th. Querter mile (for the boys).—Won by Rudolph Boyle. 9th. Half mile (Club) was eventually won by Joseph Boyle after a spirited contest. The prizes were ultimately presented aminst the general satisfaction of the people, who loudly applauded each recipient. Captain Kirwan's, or the St. Jean Baptiste fife and daum band, was in attendance, playing very select music. On conclusion three cheers were heartily given for the Queen, and the meeting broke up. - Gazetu. [The Emerald men did not show very well in the competitition, but these two last men Mr. Iver the champion amateur 100 yards runner, and Farmer the Lacusse player were not entered .- E. T. W.]

St. PATRICK'S LITERARY ASSOCIATIONS OTTAWA .-A very largely attended meeting of the above Associatian, took place last week in the St. Patrick's Hall. The object of the meeting was to receive the report of the Managing Committee; on the celebration of St. Patrick' Day, but owing to the death of his Holiness the Pope, no business was transacted the following motion being unanimously adopted. Moved by T. McCabe, seconded by Ald. O'Kuefe, that this Association has learned with sincere sorrow, and regret of the death of our Holy Father, the The report of the Managing Committee will be presented at the adjourned meeting, next Tuesday evening.

CARILLON.—The Catholic Church of the Parish of St. Andrew, was yesterday filled with a large congregation, all anxious to hear their worthy pastor good life of our Holy Father the Pope, and which he did in an able and eloquent manner. He also informed his parishioners about a Grand Ball that is to take place in Carillon on the 28 instant, and advised them not to attend it through respect of the death of his Holiness, and no doubt the good Catholics of the parish and surrounding district will comply with his request. There was also a solemn High Mass celebrated this morning for the repose of the soul of the deceased Pontiff.

To CONSUMPTIVES .- Wilbor's Cod Liver Oil and Lime has now been before the public for ten years. and has steadily grown into favor and appreciation. This would not be the case unless the preparation was of undoubted and high intrinsic value. The combination of the Phosphate of Lime with pur-Cod Liver Oil, as prepared by Dr. Wilber, has produced a new phase in the treatment of Consumption and all diseases of the Lungs. This article can be taken by the most delicate invalid without creating the disgusting nausea which is such a prominent ocjection to the Cod Liver Oil when taken without Lime. This preparation is prescribed by the regular faculty, and sold by the proprietor, A. B. WILBOR. Chemist, Boston, and by druggists generally.
