

before the co-production is finished. The replacement of a co-producer may be allowed only in exceptional cases and for reasons that are satisfactory to both competent administrations.

The competent administrations will keep each other informed of their decisions.