Every Building Crowded -Phenomenal Record Frankland School Placed Before Board of Control by Chairman McTaggart - Enlarged Three Times Since Nineteen-Ten.

Frankland Avenue School has phenomenal record. This was pointed out by Chairman McTaggart of the board of education at the conference of trustees and controllers, as demonstrating the urgency of acquiring new school sites. Frankland School, it was pointed out, the only opened in 1910, has had to be enlarged twice, and a third enlargement is being made this year. It is located on Logan avenue, just south of Danforth. When stated in 1909 some trustees thought they were going too fast in erecting an 11-room building, but it was soon overcrowded, and a seven-room addition crowded, and a seven-room addition made. The next year six more rooms had to be added, making it a 24-room school. This was overtaken by the rapid growth of the district, and another six-room addition will be com-pleted this summer to meet the re-

Not Too Close.

The criticism offered to the purchase of the Robert Davies acreage, off Pape avenue, that it is contiguous to the new $109,000 school in Todmorden, is met by the measurements which show that the district from the Frankland School to the Davies pro-property, as well as that from the Davies site to the Todmorden School is greater than the distance between the other public schools in Toronto. The distance from the Davies property to the Church of England site, on Greenwood avenue, is also greater than the usual distance between city NEW OFFICERS ELECTED

All the schools in ward one are crowded. Coleman School, which was taken over in the annexation of Eas Toronto, is practically on the line of the city limit. In consequence, th children living south of the city limit use all the class rooms except one.

The children from school section No 26. who live north of the city limit use one room in the Coleman School, and several class rooms in portable buildings in the township. A special com-mittee is to report on the erection of a new school building there by the Toronto Board of Education, in conjunc. ion with the township school section trustees, in view of the early annexaof the southern part of the sec-

Our Milk Supply OT many of us have a personal acquaintance with the herd of cows that furnish us with our butter, cheese, milk, cream, roast beef and soup, and the statements the alarmist likes to make about this food source are not calculated to make us anxious to investigate.

"I have to pretend sometimes that germs are in the same class as fairies and bogey men before I can enjoy a meal," says a fastidious neighbor who reads all the food magazines. This publicity is necessary, newsyer, to keep dealers in food supplies awake to dangers of infection so easily transmitted. Tuberculosis, typhoid, measles, scarlet fever germs may all be carried in foods, especially in carelessly handled milk, besides but I'm not an

As milk is our best food, provided it is pure, suppose we visit the cows that provide it. See if they are properly housed, well-fed and milked in a fivgienic way. A simple proposal, but impossible to carry out, for milk s gathered from many farmers' herds and shipped to great depots where t is pasteurized; bottled and sold.

Yet there remain a few dairies where the milk is sent from the dairy house direct to the consumer. Most of these are now models of cleanliness, for the milk is tested by health inspectors and if it falls below a standard of richness and wholesomeness, cows and darry are condemned.

In these ideal dairies cows are groomed before they are milked and then each milker changes to a clean while duck suit, washes and manioures his hands, and receives a sterilized pail. With this in hand he passes an inspector or manager who admits him to the milking shed-The fresh milk is carried to a cooling room which the milkers do not enter, but pass the milk thru a window. As chairman of the management committee, and chairman of the board of education last year. Ald. Hiltz was a vigorous advocate of raising the age for admission to the first book class to seven years. He pointed out to The World yesterday that of 69 school principals consulted by the board last principals consulted by the board last year, 60 favored seven years as the earliest school age. Three were for raising it to eight years, three to nine, and three were in favor of lowering it to 61% years.

In his letter to the board Ald. Hilts In his letter to the board Aid. Hiltz says that the trustees were manimous in applying to the department of education last spring for the age to be raised and that a deputation presented the matter to the minister of education. He is of the opinion that the kindergarten affords all the schooling of advantage to children under seven. The raising of the age limit is also advocated as a practical method of solving the overcrowding problem in solving the overcrowding problem fast growing urban districts.
