

Cuckoo! Cuckoo!" Lyddon stopped whistling to imitate it, light-heartedly.

Mary watched and listened, with tender eyes.

Then she folded the soiled shirt. "If we're shiftin', it'll have to do to-morrer," she said to herself.

THE END