Douma, in Secret Session, Addresses to Country

Appeal Thoroughly Revolutionary in Character Accepted While Troops Converge on Meeting Place—Final Act of Russia's First Parliament.

St. Petersburg, July 23.—The curtain dropped this afternoon on the final act of the drama of Russia's first parliament, when, under the spur of the threat of the government's Rechenburg and with troops already converging on the Hotel Belvidere, where the meeting was to be held, the members of the lower house, 186 in number, hurriedly adopted and signed an address to the people, which is thoroughly revolutionary in its nature, elected a perpetual executive committee, headed by Paul Dolgorouff, vice-president of the house to carry on the work of liberating Russia, and adjourned the legislative assembly, including President Doumourout, Ivan Petrunkevich and Count Heyden, returned to St. Petersburg by evening train.

The Constitutional Democratic party, which intended to go into St. Petersburg in a body in the morning, but many of its members, fearing arrest on their arrival at the capital, will remain for the present in Finland, or return by roundabout routes.

The address, which bears a remarkable similarity to the manifesto issued by the Council of Workmen last November, which landed its authors and the editors of eight St. Petersburg newspapers in cells of the fortress, and the delay in its most vulnerable point, by declaring that the administration of the country is the responsibility of the parliament, and by proclaiming a cessation of payment of taxes and of military service and renunciation of future loans. The address follows:

Address to People.
To the people from their popular representatives.
Citizens of all Russia.—Parliament has been dissolved by ukase of July 21. You elected us as your representatives and instructed us to fight for our country and freedom. In execution of your trust and our duty, we drew up this manifesto in order to ensure freedom to the people. We demanded the removal of irresponsible ministers, who were infringing the laws with impunity and oppressing freedom. First we wanted to see the distribution of land to the working peasants and involving the assignment to this end of the surplus of the clergy, and compulsory expropriation of private estates. The government held that such a law was inadmissible and upon parliament once more urgently putting forward its resolution regarding compulsory expropriation, parliament was dissolved.

On Brink of Ruin.
The government promises to convene a new parliament seven without Russia must remain without popular representation for seven whole months, at a time when the people are standing on the brink of ruin and industry and commerce are undermined, when the whole country is seething with unrest, and when the military has definitely shown its policy to be directed against the people's needs. For seven months the government will act arbitrarily and will fight against the popular movement. In order to obtain a truly representative parliament, should it succeed, however, completely suppressing the popular movement, the government will convene no parliament at all.

Rest Tax.
Citizens stand up for your trampled rights, for popular representation. Russia must not remain a day without popular representation. You possess the means of acquiring it. The government has, without the assent of the popular representatives, no right to collect taxes from the people nor to summon the people to military service. The dissolved parliament was justified in giving neither money nor soldiers. Should the government, however, contract loans in order to procure funds, such loans will be invalid without the consent of the people. The Russian people will never acknowledge them and will not be called upon to pay them. Accordingly, until a truly representative parliament is summoned, do not give a kopeck to the throne or a soldier to the military.

REPRESSION.

The result of the Russian government's action in ordering the dissolution of parliament has apparently restored all the conditions of repression, wholesale arrests and reliance on a display of military force that obtained before the people had their brief taste of representative government. In St. Petersburg itself there was little surface indication of trouble in the face of the strong force of troops, but there were many arrests last night.

The most important developments of the day took place at Viborg, Finland, whither members of parliament had fled to continue the sessions formally dissolved at St. Petersburg. The members had been frantically at work on their manifesto to the people, anticipating the possible arrival of troops, when the assemblage was informed that the governor-general of Finland had ordered a little surface indication of trouble in the face of the strong force if necessary.

The governor-general added that such meetings could not be held in Finland.
At the last moment the Constitutional Democrats joined the Radicals and the Douma adopted a hastily prepared proclamation protesting against the dissolution of parliament. The assemblage then adjourned.

JEWS FEAR NEW MASSACRE FOR KILLING OF COSSACK

Odesa, July 23.—The Jews here are in a state of panic, fearing an anti-Jewish outbreak as the result of the killing of a drunken Cossack, who recently wandered thru the Jewish quarter, brandishing his sabre and shouting "Death to the Jews."

Governor-General Kaubars, addressing a deputation of Jews to-day, said: "I vouch for my soldiers, but I am unable to say what the Cossacks or Christian civilians might do."
Cossacks to-day looted three Jewish shops.
Four hundred political arrests have been made here within 24 hours. The streets are not patrolled, the Cossacks are confined to barracks and martial law is being rigorously enforced.
At midnight, the inhabitants are moving in masses thru the late crowded. Cossacks have declared that they will to-night slaughter all the Jews in Prokhorovka-street, where their comrades were killed.

Church Treasurer Who Misused Funds to Escape Proceedings.
At a special meeting last evening the congregation of St. Giles Presbyterian Church decided to increase the stipend of the pastor, Rev. Robert Herblson, from $1200 to $1500, the increase to take from January last.
It was also stated that on the advice of Hamilton Cassels, K.C., to whom the matter had been referred by the congregation and the Presbyterian Session, no proceedings, criminal or civil, would be taken against the late treasurer of the church, who had illegally possessed himself of church funds to the extent of nearly $1500. The church sessions commenced in 1896. The church was advised to assume the amount as a bad debt.
Dr. Macdonald and Mr. Coulter were elected to the board of trustees.

TEN MILLIONS TO INVEST IN CANADIAN INDUSTRIES

Montreal, July 23.—(Special)—D. M. Stewart places at $10,000,000 the amount of capital which British and other investors wish to place in the industries of the Dominion of Canada.
The general manager of the Sovereign Bank explained that these capitalists, with a long experience in the United States, South Africa, Australia and elsewhere, had reached the conclusion that Canada, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, offered the best and safest field for the investor. They had come, he said, to appreciate the Dominion's great and varied resources, and have the fullest confidence in the future of the country.

Mr. Stewart has been deputed by these capitalists to secure a strong interest in several of the growing industries of Canada, but he could not yet particularize as to name and locality. Some preferred woollens, others pulp mills, according to the wishes of the several investors.

"Are you acting on behalf of the Sovereign Bank?" Mr. Stewart was asked, but he replied that the bank had nothing to do with it.

THOMAS POWER O'CONNOR.

Member of parliament, journalist and president of the United Irish League of Britain, is to visit America in September as the guest of Sir Thos. Shaughnessy, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and it is expected that he will visit Toronto in his trip.
Few members of the English lower house occupy a more prominent place in the public eye than does Thomas Power O'Connor, who is more familiarly known to thousands of his admirers as plain "T. P." With no other capital than his courage and a fine education, he entered the London journalistic field as a young man, and in spite of countless discouragements in the line of that profession, achieving at the same time success as a politician and as a leader of the Irish people.

SMALL BOY BATHING IN DON SINKS TO HIS DEATH IN HOLE.

Albert Francis North, 12-year-old boy, met death by drowning in the Don about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. His father, Thomas North, is a laborer with the Construction and Paving Co. and lives at 73 Lewis-street.
The little fellow was bathing in the river a short distance below Taylor's brick works, with two chums of about his own age, George Baker, 83 Lewis-street, and John Baker, 719 East Queen-street. The water is shallow near the edge at that point, but he ventured out beyond his companions and sank suddenly from view in a deep hole. The younger was unable to swim.
The other boy, frightened at his disappearance, ran away and it was not until two hours later that the body was recovered by two employees of the brickyard.

Adherents of World Peace Cry "Long Live Douma"

At Opening Session of Interparliamentary Union W. J. Bryan Offers Resolution to Submit Disputes to The Hague.

London, July 23.—The 14th conference of the Interparliamentary Union was opened in the royal gallery of the Palace of Westminster. Representatives of international peace from all the parliaments of Europe, as well as several of those of the western hemisphere, were present.

Scarcely had the conference opened when, amidst a scene of considerable excitement, Prof. Maxim Kovalevsky, a member of the lower house of the Russian parliament, announced that he and his colleagues, representing until yesterday the youngest parliament in the world, would be obliged to withdraw in consequence of the dissolution of the body they were officially appointed to represent.

Lord Weardale (Sir Philip Stanhope) opened the congress, his preliminary sentences of welcome being specially addressed to the Russian representatives, whereupon the delegates rose in a body and turning toward the delegation of the late parliament, cheered them to the echo.

LONG LIVE THE DOUMA.

He especially greeted the members of the Russian parliament present, and also paid a tribute to Emperor Nicholas, who had done so much towards the enhancement of ideas of peace, and that the Russian parliament, although dissolved, was sure to again come into existence. Then the premier, in a sudden outburst of enthusiasm, shouted: "La Douma est morte. Viva la Douma!" ("The Russian parliament is dead. Long live the Douma!")

WOODSTOCK AND WATNER STAND IN LINE FOR POWER

Growing Industries of Latter Place Would Welcome the Assistance of Niagara's Cheap Energy.

CONVENTION TO-DAY.
"Niagara Power" is the subject of the convention of delegates at Galt to-day, representing the Union of Western Municipalities, interested in the distribution of electric energy through the province.

Hon. Adam Beck will attend the meeting and speak. Cecil B. Smith, the engineer of the hydro-electric commission, will also be present. Aid. J. H. Fryer, Galt, is president of the union, and George E. Gold, Galt, secretary, and the executive committee are J. W. Lyon, Guelph; Fred Clark, Preston; D. P. Dewar, Berlin; A. Mayton, Toronto; J. B. Hughes, Waterloo. Toronto will be represented by Mayor Cawthra, Controller Shaw and Ald. Keele. Aid. Noble was also appointed, but is at Banff. The meeting will be held at 2 o'clock, at Galt, and it is expected to close about 5 to allow the delegates to catch the evening train.

Woodstock, July 23.—(Staff Special.)—The little cities of Ontario have to consider to-morrow thru their representatives at the Galt convention what they shall take steps to participate in the advantages of cheap power from Niagara, or whether they will acquiesce in the policy of building up corporations which is to bring up a congested manufacturing district in the neighborhood of the Falls. They will be assured that they will never have cheap power from the corporations unless they take steps to secure it by co-operation under the plan proposed by the hydro-electric power commission. This is generally recognized by the various cities visited. What was evident in Galt and Berlin, and reported from other towns on that branch of the proposed power line, west to Stratford and St. Mary's, was enthusiastic for it, is equally apparent in the towns to be served by a line touching Paris, Woodstock, Ingersoll, Tillsonburg, London and St. Thomas. Tillsonburg by reason of its smaller consumption, and St. Thomas because of its distance, have the highest estimates on this schedule as estimated by the commission. Tillsonburg, for a full load of 234 horse-power, is being quoted at $24.80, or for half-load, $31.80, and St. Thomas for 2000 horse-power a rate of $21.80, or $7.21 for the half-load. These figures are for 24-hour rate. When comparing them with steam horse-power prices this should be noted, as the prices usually met for steam horse-power are practically for 24-hour power, and attempts have been made by interested persons to use the rates for making electric power in making comparative steam with steam. Measured steam power would come at a much higher rate.
