

LIQUOR-FILLED

that no titles should be granted in the meanwhile. The honorable member for Springfield wanted to withdraw his own motion, and declined to vote for it, when his request was voted down. The honorable member for Qu'Appelle voted against the motion he had seconded, and the member for Peterboro did the aeroplane act and flew out of the room. The crack of the lashes of the prime minister's whip is still ringing in my ears, and I still see the honorable members cowering before their master. What happened, what was done at the conference?

Borden's Brother Knighted.

"The speech of the throne should have enlightened us on this matter, but it does not, and I am not in a position to know, but what I know and what every member knows, is that a few weeks after this slavish incident, contrary to the solemn wishes of the prime minister, titles were conferred on three persons, namely, the clerk of the Senate, Mr. Blount; the brother of the premier, and the minister of trade and commerce, who must have known what was coming to him when he defended the titles a few days before with a voice trembling with pathos and tears.

Mr. Speaker, of all the speeches made by members on your right, the one which impressed me most was the eloquent address of the minister of immigration (Calder).

Poser for Calder.

"I wish to ask a few questions to my honorable friend, very respectfully, I do not insist that he should reply to my questions, but I wish he would spend a few minutes of his valuable time on them, and see if the answers to these questions are quite satisfactory to his conscience.

"First of all, what is Liberalism? Is it an association composed of members who are at ease to belong to it when they wish, who can join when they want to, who can be expelled from it, no matter what their ideas or principles are, or is it a creed, a faith, a group of fundamental principles? Is it not a political history, Mr. Speaker, that no matter what are his principles, his ideas, nay, his company, a man can always call himself a Liberal, and be an adept of Liberalism?

"I quite agree with the honorable minister of immigration that no one has the authority to rule him out of the Liberal party. He has the perfect right to call himself a disciple of Liberalism so long as he wishes, but his assertion in order not to be contrary to the truth must be supported by his principles, his ideas and his company.

"Let us see first if his principles and ideas are those of Liberalism. What is Liberalism? I have read somewhere that Liberalism is in essence the problem of realizing liberty. It seeks the setting free of the mass of the people in regard to self-government, trade, religion, education, industry, in all the manifold ramifications of society. The opposite to Liberalism is restriction, it means the centralization of government in the government classes, setting the brakes on social progress and liberty. The aim of Liberalism is the common good, the aim of those opposed to Liberalism is the individual good."

Other Speakers.

During the afternoon Mr. McQuarrie of New Westminster criticized the granting of the "majority" of British Columbia to the Dominion of Canada. Another British Columbia member, Dr. Bonnell of East Kootenay, strongly supported the proposed department of public health as a means of helping the fight against tuberculosis.

Mr. Henderson of MacDonald, Man., thought that, as the government had been elected to deal with war issues, such as reconstruction and repatriation.

Col. Peck, V.C., will continue the debate tomorrow afternoon. It is expected he will be followed by Hon. W. S. Fielding.

LIBERALISM EXPRESSED FOR LIBERAL UNIONISTS

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, March 13.—At the conclusion of his remarkable address in the House of Commons tonight, Joseph Archambault of Chambly-Verchères said the following questions to Hon. A. J. Calder (Liberal-Unionist), minister of immigration:

"In three words I will give you my own conception of Liberalism or anti-Liberalism. Masses versus Classes. 'Mr. Speaker, being a minister in the Unionist cabinet, my honorable friend is responsible constitutionally for all the acts of the Government, and constitutionally again, in order to release his responsibility he has only one means—Resign.' Having not done so I logically surmise that all the measures of the Government have his approval.

"Now, Mr. Speaker, I beg leave to put my questions."

These Liberal Principles?

"Is the voting against a measure abolishing titles in Canada included in the Liberal doctrine?"

"Will my honorable friend pretend that the war time election act, breaking faith with thousands of citizens and dragging the honor of Canada and its fair name in the mud, a Liberal measure?"

"Is it the opinion of the honorable minister that the military voters' act, especially for the purpose it was used in the past elections, is imbued with Liberalism?"

"Was the campaign of racial and religious prejudices carried out by the Government to which the honorable gentleman alludes like a leech, Liberalism?"

"Is the consolidation of the financial ring of Toronto, erstwhile denounced by my honorable friend, an action that he could call Liberal?"

"Is the combination of food profiteers and the benevolent patronage of bacon carters fit for anyone who still calls himself a Liberal?"

"Are the instructions of the military officers to disregard the order of the established courts, in accordance with the Liberal principle?"

"Is the exemption of taxes on Victory loans, a camouflage enactment by which the men who have enriched themselves during the war will avoid paying income tax, a Liberal measure?"

"Can my honorable friend state without wincing that the censorship of the press and the gagging of independent opinion is pure Liberalism?"

"Is the censorship on publications, going so far as making it a criminal offence to have in his possession 'Piano's Requiem,' anything, but anti-Liberal?"

"Is the wholesale buying of the press of this country for political purposes a Liberal measure?"

"Is the incompetency and indifference to the welfare of the masses by the existing high cost of living, with no relief in sight, true Liberalism?"

"Is my honorable friend aware that Liberalism stands for a just share by the workman of the profits of industries?"

"Does my honorable friend believe that militarism in its most Prussian form can be regarded as an offspring of democracy?"

"Will my honorable friend dare contend that the forcible sending of men to Siberia without authorization by Parliament is in accordance with the Liberal ideas?"

"Was it a Liberal sentiment which prevented the calling in Parliament of the representatives of the people during nine months of the most momentous times of our history?"

"Does the most flagrant abuse of the war measures act, passed with all confidence at a critical time, appeal to the Liberalism of my honorable friend?"

"Is the government of the people by orders-in-council, even when Parliament is sitting, considered a Liberal principle?"

"Did my honorable friend ever consider that the passing of orders-in-council, with a retroactive effect, is in direct violation of the liberty of the citizen?"

"Can the honorable minister contend that the use of the war measures act three months after the war is over to put a railway company in liquidation is up to the Liberal standard?"

Good Rubbers Mean Foot Comfort, Shoe Economy and Health Protection

Why are they comfortable? Because in the Dominion Rubber System brands, you can get just the size and shape of rubbers to perfectly fit every pair of shoes.

That is one advantage of having a great organization like the Dominion Rubber System to study your needs. With factories and service branches all over Canada; and with experts in constant touch with the leading shoe manufacturers, the Dominion Rubber System is able to make and supply your dealer with every style of rubbers required.

How do Rubbers economize on shoes? They protect shoes against slush and rain—make shoes wear longer and hold their shape better—and enable you to wear old shoes in bad weather.

Is it necessary to speak of health protection? With the epidemic of "Flu" so vividly in mind, and the warning of physicians to keep the feet dry, surely no one will run the risk of going without rubbers on wet days!

When you choose rubbers, ask for one of these brands:

"Jacques Cartier" "Merchants" "Maple Leaf"
"Granby" "Dominion" "Daisy"

These trademarks guarantee quality; and behind these trademarks is the Dominion Rubber System, a power of protection to every pair of these guaranteed rubbers.
