LONDON AND BAY CITY DIVIDED HOLIDAY PAIR

Tecumsehs, With Curtis on Mound, Blank Visitors in the Morning, But Cristall's Club Bats Local Pitchers Hard in Afternoon Contest.

The Tecumsehs won the morning game, but lost the afternoon contest at Tecumseh Park on the holiday. Bobby Curtis blanked Cristall's team in the morning mix-up, but the visitors took kindly to the joint offerings of Gough and Scott, and walked away with the p.m. fracas. Good crowds attended both games.

Curtis Too Good for Visitors.
London made it three straight by winning in the morning session at Tecumseh Park yesterday. Curtis of the local squad pitching a shutout, the final score being 3 to 0. The game was played under protest, Manager Cristall of Bay City protesting on the ground that Curtis is the property of the Columbus Ball Club of the American Association. Curtis states that Columbus has no strings to him what ever, and it is not likely that the Tecumsehs will be cheated out of their victory.

The affair was a pitcher's duel, with Curtis as the premier moundman. His teammates backed him up, and scored the necessary runs to win, a three-base hit by Milligan in the third, and a two-base hit by Newman in the fourth stanza being features of the game. Whaley of Bay City also tripled in the second inning, but he was marooned on third base with no help forthcoming. Curtis struck out two Bay City heavy hitters in succession in the eighth frame.

London was never in danger until the ninth inning, when with two Bay City men retired, Curtis, who had pitched a perfect game, was hit by a home run, and the necessary runs to win, a three-base hit by Milligan in the third, and a two-base hit by Newman in the fourth stanza being features of the game.

A big holiday crowd, attracted by the fact that the Tecumsehs had won three games in a row, saw an unhappy reversal of fortune when in the West London baseball pastime in the afternoon. Bay City had no trouble in winning this contest by the score of 14 to 2. The visitors drove Gough to the dugout in the second inning and toyed with Scott during the remainder of the game, although he gave them a temporary setback for a couple of innings after Gough retired. The whole trouble was poor pitching. The visitors collected a total of twenty hits, seventeen of which were pried from Scott's queer assortment.

Cook, a husky youth, served up the slants for Cristall's team, and his work was quite good. He had one or two bad innings, but was never so far gone as to lead anyone to think he was due for the hook. In the third inning, the heads bunched, but he was hampered by a couple of bases on balls and finished under wraps.

A Long-Drawn-Out Contest.
The game was a long-drawn-out affair of little interest. Both teams had several errors, London's proving the most expensive. Umpire Burke got his usual punning from the stands, although his mistakes were not so glaring as to deserve it all.

Gough started off well in the first frame, but he was hit by a home run in the second. He walked Berger to start with, and Whaley followed with a single. Yim bunted, and Gough pegged wildly to third to get Berger, who was batting for the second time. Berger was a victim of a fly to Stewart. For three frames, Scott held the Cristall crowd in check, but from the sixth inning on he was hammered hard. Berger had two triples, scoring two men ahead of him each time. He tried to stretch the second one into a homer, but was out at the plate. Command, if he was batting for the second time, and Cook also had triples, while Pittenger drove in two of London's runs with his.

EXCITING FINISH OF DUNLOP BICYCLE ROAD RACE

This picture was snapped just as Harbord crossed the finishing line of the long bicycle grind. E. Cousins, the London boy, is shown right at the very yards.

London Youngster Battles Toronto Boy All The Way for Famous Dunlop Trophy

E. Cousins of This City Only Beaten in Final Sprint of Great Race by "Dick" Harbord of Toronto Broadway Club—Big Road Race Attracts Huge Crowd.

The Dunlop bicycle road race returned to London Dominion Day after an absence of 23 years, and under the able management of the London Bicycle Dealers' Association and the Dunlop Company, proved a big success. The famous trophy, emblematic of the long-distance bicycle championship of Canada, was won by a Toronto rider, Richard Harbord of the Broadway Athletic Club, but he had to travel all the way to win from E. Cousins, a London youngster.

Cousins was a close third. Harbord and Cousins made an exciting finish, after riding side by side the whole journey. They were both given nine minutes handicap at the start, and long before they had reached the barrel turn where Dundas street is crossed by the Dorchester road, they had taken the lead. Both are youngsters, but the Toronto boy has a little more experience than the local lad. Cousins put up a fine battle, and his performance was one of the features of the event.

A Hundred Riders Start.
Long before 10 o'clock in the morning, the time for the race to start, crowds lined Dundas street between Waterloo and Wellington waiting to see the riders off. Over a hundred riders faced the starter. They all had various handicaps on Harold Bounsell, the Toronto champion, who was the only man placed at scratch. The course led straight out Dundas street through London Junction to the intersection of the Dorchester road, and after the riders left the paved streets of the city, they were met by a hard and endurance began. They not only had to battle with ruts and a rough, hard track, but a cloud of dust raised by autos and bicycles along the route.

The first riders got away shortly after 10 o'clock, and an hour later all the 42 survivors of the grind had finished. Some Spills, But No One Hurt.
The course was well policed and every precaution taken against accident. Some of the riders met with spills, but none were seriously hurt. Several wheels were broken on the hard going beyond the asylum entrance. It was here, at the top of the first hill, that the weaker riders found the pace too much for them, and were forced to withdraw. It was here that Harbord and Cousins, closely followed by Verschove and Pocock, gained the lead. The riders were well bunched on the hill, but stretched out from then on.

The Fastest Time.
Roland Brady of the H. M. A. C., Toronto, won the time prize. He made the fastest trip over the course. He was given a 5-minute handicap, and was the fourth to finish in the race. James Lowry of the Toronto Classic Club, winner of last year's time prize, and F. Ruesslin of the Boardway Club won the other time prizes, there being a second difference in their speed over the route.

The Dunlop shield for the club winner the most points was won by the Herbert McDonald Athletic Club of Toronto, whose riders finished fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh.

E. Cousins, the local youngster, wins the prize for the first London rider to finish.

An interesting feature in connection with the race is the fact that Lou Bounsell, father of Harold Bounsell, the scratch man, was a rider in the race held in London in 1896.

Hate Off to These People.
Great credit for the success of the

RICHARD HARBORD, of the Broadway Athletic Club of Toronto, who won the Dunlop Bicycle Road Race held in London Dominion Day.

LONDON RINKS WIN ALL THREE EVENTS AT ELMWOOD TOURNEY

Frank Brown and Albert Trick Carry Off Trophies For the Thistles.

Frank Brown of the London Thistle Club skipped the rink that won the Hyman trophy at the Elmwood bowling club's big Dominion Day tournament. The finals between Brown and Snegrove of the London Young Club were finished at a late hour. The Ward trophy also went to the Thistle club, A. M. Trick's rink winning from Skip Lemon. John Lochead's London rowing club won the consolation event, defeating J. E. Reid in the finals by 6 shots.

Fine weather and a large attendance made the tournament one of the best ever held here. The new system of play inaugurated by the Elmwoods was popular with the bowlers.

BARRING A FEW DETAILS, STAGE ALL SET FOR BIG BOUT

Both Fighters Are Doing Only Light Training—Last Nail Being Driven in Great Arena.

Toledo, Ohio, July 2.—The last of the preliminary details for boxers, promoters and arena constructors will be completed today, the gathering up of stray strands the stage will be set for the heavyweight championship fight between Joe Willard and Jack Dempsey, scheduled for Friday afternoon. The principals will do but little training for close to a week, a few rounds with his tired and battered sparring partners, while the challenger will confine his efforts to easy limbering up exercises and some shadow boxing.

At about the same hour the last nail will be driven in the arena, which is to seat some 80,000 spectators, and the of the city the last test of the burden of humanity on the 4th of July. Built at a cost of $150,000, the structure includes 1,500,000 feet of lumber and hundreds of kegs of nails and bolts, the combined weight of which runs into many hundreds of tons. In addition to the 80,000 spectators who can be seated comfortably, there is a standing room for close to 20,000 more, so that the total capacity approaches the 100,000 mark. It is four times the size of the Reno fight stadium.

ORIENTS AND WOODSTOCK VETS SPLIT DOUBLE BILL

Flint Pitched Steady Game in Morning But Downs Was Hit Hard and Retired in Fourth

WOODSTOCK, July 1.—The Orients of London and the local G. W. V. A. ball teams divided a double bill here today. In the morning, "Yankee" Flint pitched a steady game for the visitors. Vance was accorded poor support at critical moments, but was hit rather steadily all through. The score was 11 to 5.

In the afternoon, the G. W. V. A. trotted out their pitching ace, "Lefty" Bond, and the soldier boy had no trouble in routing the Orients, while his teammates hammered Downs, who retired in the fourth. Flint again took the pitching, but the soldiers continued the pounding until the score stood 14 to 1. Summary:
