TWO LOCAL UNITS DEPART FOR EAST

Thousands Bid Farewell Bantam and Peel County Battalions.

MANY DISAPPOINTED

Men Entrained at Exhibition, Contrary to Mayor's Announcement.

Nearly five thousand relatives and riends of the members of the 216th Bantam Battalion and 234th Peel County Battalion were present at Exhibition Park Camp yesterday afternoon to witness the departure of these two popular C. E. F. units for a training ground further east. Owing to an announcement made earlier in the day that the Bantam Battalion would leave from Bayside Park instead of from Exhibition Camp, hundreds of the sodiers friends gathered at the downtown point and were badly inconvenienced and also enraged because of having to make a feverish rush to Exhibition Camp in order to be in time to say good-bye to their men in khaki. Major-General Logic favored entainment at Exhibition Camp because of the safety it afforded to those seeing the soldiers off.

Mayor Church, however, secured an order from Ottawa changing the departure point to Bayside Park and chade an announcement of this to the press. At the last memors parture point to Bayside Park and thade an announcement of this to the press. At the last moment, tho, the railways announced that they could not deal with the crowds at Bayside Park and that a departure from there would clash with the schedules of other trains. Therefore the original plan of having the troops leave from Exhibition camp was adhered to.

The departures of the two battalions were carried out at Exhibition thus proving the camp's advantages as a point for troop entrainments.

The 23 th Peel Battalion drew out of the camp for its journey east at 4.30. Lt.-Co. W. O. Morris went with the battalion as conducting officer.

Over a thousand of the 234th's mem-hers' relatives were present to cheer hem on their way.

The 216th Bantam Battalion left inder command of Lt.-Col. F. L. Burton. Two trains were necessary to manager the 216th, the unit being well over a thousand strong. Three dr four mousand people were present to see that the Bantams had an enthusiastic send-off. The first train hearing the 216th left at 5.80 p.m. and the second at 6 p.m.

since the war started this is the worst," he said. "We might as well have no members of parliament at Ottawa at all. The Bantam Battalion could have been taken from their barracks at Yorkville to the new C. P. R. station at North Toronto nearby, which is the finest station in Canada for embarkation, Instead of that the Grand Trunk were given the work, with poor equipment, and the Bantam Battalion compelled to march from Yorkville to the Exhibition siding because of this heartless red tape. I am sick and tirded of the whole thing. The government has given recruiting a black eye, and need not look for many more recruits from Toronto. Women and children, many of the women carrying babies in their arms, had to march all the way also, following their men. It is high time the Grand Trunk were taught a lesson by the militia authorities. The whole thing has been due to the government not being notified at Ottawa by the local authorities. this battalion was near the North To-ronto C. P. A very important fact not to be overlooked and a very pertinent factor in the R.
