LATE LOCALS

The dredge Fielding, while dredging in the channel brought up several pieces of an old wreck, which are thought to be part of a brig lost there some sixty years ago.

Mrs. Joseph K. Watson, of 184 Waterloo street, found the pocketbook which was lost in the depot on Friday by a woman bound from Boston to Sprignhill, and has handed it to the police.

Patrolman McNamee's services were requisitioned on Saturday evening to cool the ardor of Charles O'Dell and his wife, who were engaged in a duel of words and household utensils.

The annual associational gathering of the United Baptist churches of New Brunswick will be held in Gibson on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Among the matters to be discussed will be the question of a return to the system of a maritime board for carrying on home mission work.

Several months ago, at the instigation of an elderly man, named Lyons, a warrant was sworn out for William Connell, a north end man who assaulted Lyons. The latter's eyes were completely closed and his face was otherwise severely beaten. Connell succeeded in evading the policemen and departed from the city, but returned recently. This morning Lyons expressed his eagerness to the police clerk to withdraw the information, but was informed that such course was not possible.

A young woman in seeking the assistance of Detective Killen in locating a watch that she believes was stolen from her on Friday by another of her sex. Under the impression that a suspicion was only requisite to obtain a warrant for the arrest of the suspect, she visited the police court with the object. However, she was informed that it was imperative to swear that it was her positive belief that the party to be arrested was guilty of the theft. She was therefore advised to solicit the intervention of the detective.

On Saturday afternoon the employees of F. A. Dykeman & Co., numbering about thirty, were invited to spend the half holiday at the home of Mr. Dykeman at Renforth. The greater number availed themselves of the invitation and went to Renforth on the 11:15 train. Immediately on arrival, dinner was served on the lawn and the party embarked on the motor boat "Ogatooh" for a trip around Long Island. The party landed on one of the fine beaches of this island, where an hour was most enjoyably spent. After an enjoyable supper and a trip to Drury Cove in the "Ogatooh," the employees returned to the city on the 9:15 train, but before doing so they expressed their appreciation of the day's outing at the firm's expense by a vote of thanks and three cheers for Mrs. and Mr. Dykeman.

Chicago, July 12.—A special from Alton, Ill., to the Record-Herald says: The first roll of petroleum butter, the Standard Oil's latest product is to be turned out at the Wood River refinery near here. Preparations are being made to manufacture the product here and the machinery has been shipped. The new product will be known as "Petrol Butter." It is said to be of the same consistency as lard butter, but without color. It lasts a great deal longer than lard butter, it is said, and does not become rancid.

YOUTH OF EIGHTEEN GETS LIQUOR SUNDAY

Magistrate Makes Strong Statement—William Thompson's Mistake—A West End Affair

William Thompson erred when he chose to drown his sorrows in alcoholic beverages. His fall, a false sense of security into his system this morning previous to materializing at the police court, Thompson was taken into custody on Saturday morning and a deposit of $8 was accepted for his appearance in court today. When his name was pronounced by the clerk, Thompson strode forward in a zig-zag course. Sergeant Baxter testified, despite frequent interruptions from Thompson that Thompson was ejected from one Water street saloon and was approaching another when Baxter accosted him and suggested that his disappearance was advisable. The injunction fell on unresponsive ears, however, as Thompson attempted to enter the saloon but was rebuffed by the bartender. He was unsuccessful in obtaining entry to two other saloons on Water street and in consequence of his persistency in defying the sergeant he was locked up.

"What's the use of talking," said Thompson to the magistrate, "I can buy barrels of booze on Water street." He alluded to the police clerk's statement this morning that he was intoxicated in court as a "landrover lie." As he was not the owner of the deposit it was concluded to remand Thompson to jail until he regains his normal self.

Fred Gidney, an eighteen year old boy, admitted the charge of drunkenness yesterday on Union street, but pleaded not guilty of profanity. Patrolman Steeves in his testimony stated that he caught Gidney with three companions on Charlotte street on Sunday evening. Gidney was evidently very drunk, as he staggered constantly and fell repeatedly. He cursed at two men in a vehicle and at a number of passersby. On noticing the policeman the quartette repaired to Union street and lingered at the corner of Waterloo street. Gidney indulged in more profanity and with an accompanying oath declared: "Who cares for the cops" when Steeves approached. After being confined in a cell Gidney refused to disclose the names of the party who sold or presented him with liquor.

Judge Ritchie in commenting upon this Sunday episode on a principal avenue of the city, deplored the non-prosecution of the persons from whom Gidney obtained the intoxicant. He intimated that the fines for distribution of liquor to minors with the offence aggravated by its occurrence on Sunday ranged from $100 to $500 if the guilty one held a liquor license it was probable that the license would be cancelled and this was the proper punishment. Gidney was remanded until tomorrow morning.

William Howe, of the west side, who was reported for being one of a disorderly throng at the corner of Watson and Rodney streets in west end on Friday night pleaded not guilty. George Belyea, witness stated that Howe was one of twenty men frequenting the junction of the streets at eleven o'clock and refused to disperse until he was requested. In a verbal quarrel with George Durant whose leg was injured on the ferry boats on Saturday Belyea claimed that Howe swore frequently and was a source of annoyance to his wife who is ill.

Howe, who asserts that he is the victim of discrimination, as Belyea's son was also in the crowd, was remanded pending his ability to obtain witnesses.

Says She Will Stick by Harry Till the Last—Enquiry is on Today.

New York, July 12.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is expected to be a witness for her husband, Harry K. Thaw, at the inquiry into his present mental condition, resumed before Justice Mills in the supreme court at White Plains today.

Although she had intended starting on a vacation to Maine today, she informed representatives of Thaw's attorneys that she would gladly postpone her trip to testify for her husband.

"I will stick by him as a wife should stick by her husband," she said today, "and as I always have stuck by him, it is my duty and I shall not shirk it now."

AGED COUPLE WERE BURNED TO DEATH

New York, July 12.—An aged couple who lived on the outskirts of the village of Palchogue, L. I., supported on a weekly allowance from a son in New York, were burned to death in their beds early yesterday. The police are disposed to believe that the old people were victims of a robber and incendiary, but neighbors think that a lamp which Mr. and Mrs. Gerraty kept burning in their bedroom all night, may have started the fire.
