Last Night's War Cables Cheerful

London, March 21.—The capture of forty more villages on the front in France is announced in the official statement from British headquarters tonight. The communication says: "South and southeast of Peronne we have advanced rapidly during the last 24 hours and reached points some ten miles to the east of the River Somme. We have occupied another forty villages in this area. Between Nurlu and Arras the enemy is beginning to develop considerable resistance at a number of places. Nevertheless, his rear guards are being steadily driven from their positions, and our progress continues. We carried out successful raids during the night east of Arras and northeast of Neuville-St. Vaast. A hostile raiding party east of Neuville-St. Vaast was repulsed. The enemy blew a mine this morning southeast of Ypres, damaging his own trenches. There has been considerable artillery activity during the day by both sides in the neighborhood of Armentieres and Ypres."

Paris, March 21.—The official communication issued by the war office tonight reads: "North of Ham the situation is without change. Our light forces remain in contact with the enemy between Houpy and St. Quentin. East of Ham we forced this morning, at two places, a passage of the canal of the Somme, despite lively resistance by the Germans. The operation, conducted vigorously, enabled us to clear the north and east margins of the canal and drive back the enemy as far as the outskirts of Claesnes and Montcourt. Inundations have been caused by the enemy in this region. Most of the villages before our lines in the neighborhood of St. Quentin are in flames. We have advanced north of Terziner (which lies southwest of La Fere). In the valley of the Ailette there have been skirmishes between patrols. The enemy, who occupies in force the east bank of the Canal and the Ailette, has subjected our lines to a lively bombardment. In the region north of Solsons we made considerable progress and fought several quite spirited engagements. Most of the conquered villages are entirely destroyed. East of the Meuse the enemy delivered several surprise attacks against the Clichone trench, but these failed under our fire. The day was relatively calm on the Belgian communication. A bombardment on both sides oc-urred at various points on the Belgian front, particularly in the direction of Dixmude and Steenstraete. The morning statement records French victories in fighting on the Ham-St. Quentin road and the occupation of ten villages in the neighborhood of Ham. London, March 21.—Two British mine sweepers have been sunk by the enemy in the neighborhood of Arras. There were no casualties; in the other fourteen mines are missing and are presumed to have been drowned. The Weekly Losses. London, March 21.—A British communication issued this afternoon says that for the week ending March 18 sixteen British ships, each of a tonnage of more than 1,600 tons, and eight of a tonnage under 1,600 tons. Twenty-one fishing vessels also were sunk. The communication also gives the number of vessels arriving and sailing from United Kingdom ports during this period. It says: For the week ending March 18 merchant vessels, including one of 100 tons, exclusive of fishing and mail craft, United Kingdom ports. Arrivals, 2,523; sailings, 2,554. British merchantmen sunk by mines or submarines, 14,000 tons or over, 16; under 1,600 tons, 8. British merchantmen unsuccessfully attacked, including one during the week ending March 11, 19. British fishing vessels sunk, including 17 sailers, 217.

Canadaian Ministers and Irish Home Rule. London, March 21.—(Montreal Gazette.)—The profound interest aroused in Canada by the newspaper suggestions here that the settlement of the Irish question be relegated to a companion overseas statement is shown by the fact that Sir Robert Borden and his colleagues have received numerous cables from Canadian Irish societies, urging them to accept any such proposal, and also to try to bring the question before the imperial war conference. The ministers all refuse to express any opinion on the proposals, but I gather that they have little desire to risk their political reputations on so difficult a task. Northcliffe's speech is deeply strident Ireland, but Ulster remains absolutely unwilling to discuss a settlement. Broad-minded Nationalists are now expressing any attempt to coerce Ulster, and are substituting a plan of persuasion by offering attractive features.

All's Not Well In The Fatherland. London, March 21, 5:30 p. m.—Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent reports that it is rumored that serious riots have broken out in Berlin in connection with the scarcity of food. "A despatch from Oldenburg, Holland, says persistent rumors are current of great rioting in Berlin," the despatch says. "Frontier regiments are reported to have left for Berlin to maintain order."

London, March 21.—A Hague despatch from the correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company says: "The German ministry of finance is organizing a great canvassing campaign for the sixth German war loan, which, in financial circles, is considered less successful than the previous loan, the subscriptions being one-third lower. Berlin and Frankfurt bankers openly state that the present failure shows the uselessness of launching a seventh loan."

FRANCE TO FIGHT TO VICTORIOUS END. Paris, March 21.—The new ministry of M. Ribot made its declaration today, pledging itself to carry on the war with all possible energy. The declaration, which was read in the chamber of deputies by Premier Ribot and in the senate by Rene Viviani, minister of justice, opens with the affirmation: "We are resolved to wage with the utmost vigor and to a victorious end the terrible war into which we were drawn by inexorable aggression. We shall wage it not as our enemies, in a spirit of conquest and domination, but with the firm resolve to recover the provinces formerly wrested away from us and obtain reparation and guarantees to preserve a durable peace, founded on respect for the rights and liberties of peoples." The declaration refers to the retirement of the Germans on the French front, which it says "is without a doubt a prelude to other battles in which the enemy will exhaust his last resources."

"France," the declaration continues, "feels that her confidence is acquiring new impetus from these results of our unshakable firmness and the skillful strategic preparation of the commanders of our armies." Referring to the "much debated question of chief command of the armies," the declaration says the answer is reached in the simplest manner, adding: "The cabinet, which is responsible for the political direction of the war, under the supervision of the chamber, has a high hand in all that concerns organization and upkeep. When it has chosen a commander-in-chief who must lead our troops to victory it leaves him complete liberty for strategic conception, preparation and direction of operation. The government is happy to be able to seize this occasion to affirm its absolute confidence in the commander-in-chief and the other members of our army. Under all circumstances the troops are giving an unforgettable example of ardor and heroism."
