FOR CLASSIFICATION GEM'S NEW BILL IS A DELIGHTFUL ONE

"Two Little Imps' a Great Hit as Picture and Vaudeville is Fine

For clear enjoyment, wholesome fur and at the same time sustained interest in a delightful story, the Gem's picture feature in its new programme is outstanding. It made a big hit on Saturday night. It is called "Two Little Imps," is a five reel Fox production and stars those wonderful tots Jane and Katherine Lee. This picture shows the five and seven-year-old Baby Grands at their best. They have been seen by motion picture followers many times in photo plays in which others have been starred, but here they blossom out as full fledged stars themselves. They are the same delightful youngsters as of old and in this new picture their film friends will have many a laugh.

The "Imps," are left by their mother.

Imp-Mont Blanc collision was resumed this morning. To Mr. Burchell, Pilot MacKay said that before the collision there were on the Mont Blanc's bridge the captain, first lieutenant and himself. In orders for the helm the witness spoke and made motions with his hands as well as he knew the French for "port" and "starboard" and the captain would also repeat port and starboard after he used them. The orders were all carried out. The witness understood his position as the captain had described it in his evidence—that the pilot was there to advise the captain who was always in command of his ship.

Bob goes back, but as one of three crooks. When he finds he's in his father's room he turns straight, and with the aid of Jane and Billy helps in the capture of his pals. Then Billy proposes to Betty as Jane and Katherine look on The youngsters also see Bob and his father reconciled. That's but a glimpse at the real thing. The picture has laughs and sobs in it and is most delightful.

Jane Lee is now five years old. "Big sister" Katherine is slightly more than seven, but Jane, with thirteen appearances for Fox Films, has the longer record in the celluloid. Both had important roles in the great spectacle, "A Daughter of the Gods." Jane's last work was in "A Small Town Girl," with June Caprice, while Katherine's most recent playing was in "Sister Against Sister," starring Virging Pearson.
