The Vogue of the Wash Waist

The Wash Waist looms large on the horizon line of fashionable Costuming this season, and is not only a strong factor of personal daintiness, but an economical element in the category of sartorial expenditures as well since it can be readily cleansed and renovated at home. This is particularly true of the soft silk qualities, the Shantungs, the Crepe de Chines, the Georgette Crepes, and the Jap Silks. All that these Waists require is a couple of immersions in tepid water that has been treated with some good soap, and the operation of an electric iron, to look as fresh, immaculate and dainty as though they had just left the dealers. The process of renovation is, therefore, even more simple than the laundering of a handkerchief, for neither scalding nor bleaching is necessary. Here are a few price hints:—
