Help Wanted

The TARGPR research program which is intended to provide assistance to Canada's thalidomide victims and to amputees and paraplegics generally, is dependant upon voluntary participation by student subjects. During the past two years the enthusiastic cooperation of some fifty UNB students and several student nurses from VPH has been responsible for considerable progress. This year, due to the lack of space, the project has been forced to move off campus. Also, the experimental work is more involved. Consequently, subjects must be available for at least three consecutive hours each week.

If YOU have a free morning or afternoon, please give serious consideration to this appeal for help. Those interested should telephone or visit Professor Scott, Room 221, Engineering Building at once - the work is scheduled to begin October 5th.

R. N. Scott,
President.

Attention Campus Police

Notice to all former prospective members of the Campus Police Force. There will be a meeting on Thursday, October 1st in the Forestry Building, Room 203, at 7:00 p.m. Full attendance is expected.

Chief of Campus Police

LETTERS

There are no letters to the editor this week for the very reason that none were written. If you wish to express an opinion... controversial or profound... it will be the pleasure of the editor to print all but profanity. Send along all profane letters as well. Although it will not be printed it will be read to the enjoyment of the editor. Blasphemy also read, and enjoyed.
