The Life of Pope Pius X.

tempered jest. A strong and lovable character, not without those contradictions which strong characters sometimes possess. We are also told that he dislikes pomp, yet is a great stickler for ecclesiastical ceremonial and discipline. He has always been rather of that type of man represented by the pattern parish priest than the diplomatist. Indeed, of international diplomacy he knows practically nothing. He has never had a university education and is unable to speak any language but Italian and Latin. Yet, he is a ready speaker and writer, and at Venice he attended to all his correspondence with his hand. He has great determination, and is one of those persevering men who succeed in everything they take in hand. He is essentially a spiritual-minded man, a friend of the poor, humble and generous to all.

HIS LINE OF POLICY.

It is believed that he will pursue a political policy of pacification without any surrender of principle. The London Times, voicing English opinion, says: "The new Pope has shown that he is a man of strong popular sympathies, that he has great practical good sense, and that he loves conciliation where conciliation is possible." He is acceptable to Austria, and is on good terms with the Emperor. He is popular in Spain and Italy. All the American prelates have warmly welcomed his election. Of France he is reported to have said that he is by no means hostile to France because he makes a great distinction between a Government which passes and a nation which remains. Like the late Pope, he is on terms of personal friendship with the German Emperor whom he met at Venice. He is also personally friendly with Queen Margherita of Italy.

THE CHOICE OF TITLE.

There is something in the choice of title. Pope Leo XIII. wished to be called Pius, but was informed that it was not customary to take the same name as his predecessor. Cardinal Sarto, it is understood, chose the name partly because Pius VII. was elected at Venice. Here is the list of Popes named Pius, with the dates of election: 142, St. Pius, martyr; 1458, Pius II., the most learned man of his time; 1503, Pius III., only 21 days Pope; 1559, Pius IV., Cardinal de Medici, instituted the Vatican printing press; 1566, St. Pius V., published a bull excommunicating Queen Elizabeth of England; renowned for the great victory over the Turks at Lepanto; intimate friend of St. Charles Borromeo; 1775, Pius VI. drained the Vatican marshes, completed the Vatican museum, robbed by the French, expelled from Rome by Bonaparte, died in exile at Valence; 1800, Pius VII., elected at Venice, concluded the Concordat with France, crowned Napoleon at Paris; and afterwards excommunicated him, imprisoned at Savona and Fontainebleau, afterwards restored; 1829, Pius VIII., reigned two years; 1846, Pius IX., hailed as the leader of united Italy and deprived of the Papal estates. When asked what name he intended to take, Cardinal Sarto replied, "Relying on the merits of the saints who have defended the Church, I take the name of Pius the Tenth."

COINCIDENCES.

The proclamation of the fact that Cardinal Sarto had assumed the title of Pius X. was made to the world by the same divine who announced to watchers in the Vatican, and through them to the world, that Pius IX. was dead. Cardinal Macchi was then but a humbly-placed ecclesiastic. He stood by the bedside of Pius IX. when he breathed his last. Accompanied by Cardinals Manning and Howard, he stole from the room on tip-toe and whispered to the anxious throng awaiting in the ante-chamber that the Pope was dead. "Another saint in paradise" were the words he used to convey the sad tidings. And on Tuesday it was the same man, become a Cardinal in the meantime, who told the world that Cardinal Sarto was Pope. The new Pope was within a few weeks of the age of Leo XIII. at the time of his election. The alleged prophecies of St. Malachi gave as the motto of the new Pope "Ignis ardens et veniet a litore"—a burning flame from the shores of the sea—and whatever weight may be attached to them, there can be no doubt that a great man of the people, pious, loving, noble and wise has been found in Pius the Tenth to take the place of the "Lumen in coelo" whom he replaces. Long may his light shine!

Death of Rev. Father Brennan

The death of the Very Rev. Father Albertus B. Brennan, O.C.C., occurred at St. Joseph's Hospital, Buffalo, last Sunday. Father Brennan was a member of the Order of Carmelites of Niagara Falls, Ont. He was one of their chief missionaries, and his death is a very great loss to the Order. Father Brennan was well known in both the United States and Canada, having given missions in both countries.

(From a Special Correspondent.)

Rev. Albertus Brennan died on Sunday, August 16th, inst., at St. Joseph's Hospital, Buffalo, after a long and painful illness. Father Brennan was a member of the Carmelite Order, and was stationed at Niagara Falls View, Ont. At one time he was parish priest of Niagara-on-the-Lake, where he was much beloved by his congregation. More recently he had been on the missions in the United States, in which work he was very successful, being an eloquent preacher, and a man who, through his kindness of nature, was able to draw sinners back to penance and the service of God.

The death of Father Brennan is a great loss to his Order, and the Church, as he was a young and very energetic priest. May his soul rest in peace.

An Aged Irish Poet

The recent celebration of Sir Stephen de Vere's ninety-first birthday at Foynes, County Limerick, was a unique function, as the poet-baronet, by way of evidence of his undimmed powers of versification, had neatly turned of some exquisite translations from the Latin in commemoration of the event. Though overshadowed as a poet by the greater powers of his deceased brother (Aubrey de Vere), the Lord of Curragh Chase, born on July 26th, 1812, has given the world perhaps the finest English translation of the Odes of Horace. The Walter Scott Publishing Co. have issued a revised edition of his Horace in the "Canterbury Poets." Sir Stephen de Vere succeeded to the title and property in 1880, but his father, Sir Aubrey de Vere (whose real name was Hunt), died as far back as July 28, 1846.

Why a Man Aged 40 Should Insure

Because insurance is the guardian of the home. It is the poor man's necessity, and the rich man's security.

For a yearly payment of $20.70 a man aged 40 may, in event of death, provide his beneficiary aged 35 with an annual income of $50.00 for life; $287.00 provides for a life income of $500.00; other amounts in proportion. Full particulars of this, the CONTINUOUS INSTALLMENT Policy, given upon request.

It overcomes the danger of leaving a large sum to beneficiary who may be entirely unskilled in the investment of money.

To The Trade:

THREE REASONS

We are expecting a greater rush of business this August and September than usual, for 3 reasons.

- 1st. The great Industrial Exhibition of the Dominion of Canada is to be held during the last week of August and the 1st and 2nd weeks of September in the City of Toronto.
- 2nd. Merchants and their buyers will avail themselves of the special rates by rail and the opportunity of seeing the most interesting and one of the Greatest Exhibitions ever held on the American Continent.
- 3rd. The decided upward tendency in the Silk, Linen, Wool and especially Cotton markets will induce merchants to do their assorting business earlier than in past seasons.

We want every merchant and buyer to feel thoroughly at home when visiting our warehouse and that their visits be both pleasant and profitable to them.
