

THE MONTREAL COURIER is published daily during the six business months of the year, viz. from the 1st of May to the 1st of November, and the other six months tri-weekly, on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. Subscription, six dollars ($6) per annum, payable in advance.

THE COURIER.

MONDAY, JUNE 30, 1851.

On Wednesday last, Mr. Bagley moved the second reading of the Bill to provide for the management of the Church of England in the Diocese of Montreal. This motion afforded an opportunity for the enemies of the Church to come forth in opposition to the hon. mover, not with any hope of success, but for the very salutary purpose of getting out of a little of that superabundant bile with which they are usually charged. Mr. Chauveau, among others, spoke in favor of the Bill, and took occasion to say, with great truth, that the portion of the Press with which Mr. Mackenzie and his party seemed to be connected were the most scurrilous, funtional, and intolerant, that he ever knew. We are always happy when we have it in our power to express ourselves in complimentary terms of a political opponent, and we are of opinion that his hon. member for Quebec never in his life uttered a sentence containing a more palpable truth than the above. The Roman Catholic members in the House, generally, as well as the two members for Quebec and Montreuil, will find it their interest by-and-by to support the influence of the Church of England, as they may be assured that she at this present moment stands between them and a vigorous attempt at spoliation. Were her hornworks and little patrimony swept away,—were she put upon the same footing as "Baptists and Quakers,"—the ruins of her ecclesiastical and civil rights would only be made a lever by which a long pull, a strong pull, and a pull altogether, would be made by these "scurrilous fanatical intolerant" in the tottering walls of Roman Catholic vested right. This is not the question, or even a part of the question, of "Popish Aggression." It is only for them to sustain.

sensible of the pleasure they are calculated to afford. And not content with their own adulation,—if we may so use the word—of the floral kingdom, they represent the dignitaries—the dignitaries of a thousand tales,—as actually crowned of the rose, and carrying it in its embrace with the wild witchery of song, and all the tenderness of imposed coronation.

The public are very anxious to know when the Corporation propose requiring the pinked foot-paths. The American ladies are in the habit of taking short, rapid staps in walking, and really the holes are so big, and so numerous, that the Road Committee have fingered the Legislative Council. (Continued from Toronto Patriot.) WEDNESDAY, JUNE 25. The Hon. Speaker reported that the Council had passed the Bill for the incorporation of the Clergy Reserve question, and that the Hon. Member for the Clergy Reserve had forwarded the address to the Legislative Council.

Legislative Assembly. WEDNESDAY, JUNE 25. Several petitions were brought up. Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10.

and followed by a long array of Clergy in robes, entered from the west, and filled the space before the altar, making a most imposing scene. The Rev. Mr. Mackenzie, who had been seated in the front of the choir, rose and addressed the assembly.

Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10. He then moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Campbell, which was also adopted.

and followed by a long array of Clergy in robes, entered from the west, and filled the space before the altar, making a most imposing scene. The Rev. Mr. Mackenzie, who had been seated in the front of the choir, rose and addressed the assembly.

Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10. He then moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Campbell, which was also adopted.

and followed by a long array of Clergy in robes, entered from the west, and filled the space before the altar, making a most imposing scene. The Rev. Mr. Mackenzie, who had been seated in the front of the choir, rose and addressed the assembly.

Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10. He then moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Campbell, which was also adopted.

and followed by a long array of Clergy in robes, entered from the west, and filled the space before the altar, making a most imposing scene. The Rev. Mr. Mackenzie, who had been seated in the front of the choir, rose and addressed the assembly.

Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10. He then moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Campbell, which was also adopted.

and followed by a long array of Clergy in robes, entered from the west, and filled the space before the altar, making a most imposing scene. The Rev. Mr. Mackenzie, who had been seated in the front of the choir, rose and addressed the assembly.

Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10. He then moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Campbell, which was also adopted.

We are requested to notice the meeting, on Wednesday evening next, of the Royal Mount Cadets of Temperance, for the election of officers-bearers to the Society Office, Great St. James Street. This is, we understand, a Society of young ladies who have formed themselves into a union for the promotion of Temperance principles, than which nothing can be more praiseworthy. Drinking ardent spirits is in all cases an acquired, not a natural, habit, and when a course of Temperance has been adhered to throughout youth and early manhood, abstinence also becomes a habit from which there are but few lapses in maturity and declining years. All the youth of the present generation would persist in abstaining from intoxicating drinks, there would be no need of Temperance Societies in the next. These institutions would have finished their benevolent work, and might repose upon their laurels with more honor than he who boasted that he had found a city of brick and left it of marble. They could say that they found a world of drunken men, and were leaving a generation of sober, industrious, and God-fearing citizens.

Chief Justice The Hon. Sir James Stuart, Barrister at Law, is engaged in the American ship New York, and is expected to return to Montreal on the 1st of July. He is accompanied by his daughter, Miss Stuart, who is a very accomplished young lady, and is expected to be very popular in Montreal.

Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10. He then moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Campbell, which was also adopted.

Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10. He then moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Campbell, which was also adopted.

Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10. He then moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Campbell, which was also adopted.

Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10. He then moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Campbell, which was also adopted.

Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10. He then moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Campbell, which was also adopted.

Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10. He then moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Campbell, which was also adopted.

Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10. He then moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Campbell, which was also adopted.

Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10. He then moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Campbell, which was also adopted.

Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10. He then moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Campbell, which was also adopted.

Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10. He then moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Campbell, which was also adopted.

Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10. He then moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Campbell, which was also adopted.

Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10. He then moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Campbell, which was also adopted.

Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10. He then moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Campbell, which was also adopted.

Mr. Mackenzie moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Price, which was adopted by a majority of 10. He then moved the resolution of the petition of Mr. Campbell, which was also adopted.