WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER
Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.
Says inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.
For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated daily by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.
A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.
A quarter-pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull aching head or have furred tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, sallow complexion, others who have bilious attacks, acid stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly.

VENICE FEARS GERMAN BOMBS

Measures Completed For Protection of St. Mark's Cathedral

Venice, Oct. 25.—(Correspondence)—Measures for the protection of Saint Mark's, the famous monument of Venice, from the enemy's bombs have now been completed. The face and sides of the cathedral are enclosed by an armor of bags of sand held in place by scaffolding which is lined with asbestos as a protection against incendiary bombs such as the one that fell a year ago within a few yards of the main entrance.
The mosaics, both inside and out, are protected from shrapnel of air that might result from explosions by canvas stretched beneath them which would serve also to catch all the fragments that might fall and preserve them for restoration.
All precious objects and works of art that could be removed, including the four colossal Greek horses on the facade have been removed to safety in the treasury which has been transformed into a strong room, stoutly armored. Those in the interior that could not be removed have been covered with mattresses stuffed with sawed wood which are piled buttresses of sand bags.
The high altar beneath which St. Mark is buried and the tomb of Andrea Dandolo have been protected in this way. The domes of St. Mark have received a thick coating of liquid cement which, hardening, constitutes an armor, while the wooden portions have been treated with a non-inflammable liquid.

LADIES LOOK YOUNG

Use Grandmother's Tea and Sulphur

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked with a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur, enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.
Don't stay gray—Look young! Prepare the recipe at home or get from the nearest bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides no one can tell it is not natural. It is applied to the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.
Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Books in War
What's the idea? What have books got to do with war? asks a chairman of the Army and Navy's Recreation Commission. The Mexican border, last summer, I can remember that in some of those lonely camps, as the train stopped at the water tank, the soldiers would come through asking if we had anything to read—a book, a magazine or a newspaper. They were absolutely without any thing to read and they would beg to do. A situation like that must never occur again, and I do not believe it will.

HOME FROM CHINA

(Associated Press.)
Pekin, Oct. 25.—M. Conty, the French Minister to China, has left Peking and will return to Paris very shortly, where he will be assigned to duty in the Foreign Office.
M. Conty has been in China many years. Recently he has been very unpopular with the Chinese press and public, because of France's aggressive action in forcibly seizing an addition to its concession in Tientsin. M. Conty was in Paris at the time the French actually took over the Chinese territory in Tientsin, but he was regarded by the Chinese as the official responsible for that action.

TRAFFIC EARNINGS

(Associated Press.)
Montreal, Oct. 25.—Traffic earnings of the three principal Canadian railroads for the week ending October 21, aggregated $5,535,044, against $4,971,744 for the corresponding week a year ago, an increase of $563,300, or 11.7 per cent. Each of the three railroads showed an increase and the aggregate for the week ending October 21, was the largest since the first week in July, when the earnings showed an increase of 13.8 per cent. The total is well up to the high record for a seven-day period this year, nearly $5,600,000, the second week of the current month.

ALL OCEANS BEING SEARCHED FOR HIDES TO SERVE IN PLACE OF LEATHER

Shippers Constructed of Sharkskins to be Offered For This Year's Trade

Fish skins for the feet are sought in the seven seas—a quest that is already considerably advanced in Boston, as the nation's leading leather mart and the world's second fishing centre.
A few of the tough hides of the oceans are being tanned experimentally at Peabody this summer to make slippers for the season of holiday shoppers. More of them may be required later. A representative of the National Bureau of Fisheries is circulating among the shippers of this section to tell them of new sources of leather, developed at Washington. A Danish inventor has patented in the United States his scheme caught sharks of the deep, and one of some of the roughest hides of battle-sea monsters. The New England Shoe and Leather Association quotes the authority of Sir Ernest Shackleton as favoring an effort, already begun in a tentative way, to get valuable skins from the Antarctic. Even the financial sharks have become alert to the chance of getting to unwarlike investors the uncaught sharks of the deep, and one of the trade journals is already warning its readers against speculators who are promising huge dividends from the tanning of fishskins! If the war continues, and hides grow still scarcer, companies very likely will be organized on the Boston Curb to capitalize the leather-making possibilities of the sea serpent.

Why this eagerness to draw tough skins from Neptune's salt pickle is easily explained by the world's present live-stock situation, becoming more critical month by month. While the armies of Christendom are eating more meat than the pampered hordes of the East, they are simultaneously wearing out shoe leather faster than it grows on the backs of cattle, sheep or pigs. The Food Administration at Washington has lately given out figures that show a decrease of 115,000,000 meat-making animals since the war began. The hides as well as the steaks and chops of most of these creatures have by now gone into the discard, and the wherewithal to replace them is not in sight—unless the Old Man of the Sea can be induced to give up out of his abundance of untanned skins.

Sharks in the trade mean the hides of sea mammals as well as of some of the largest species of fish. The scaly skins of cod, halibut and mackerel, landed at South Boston, it should be said, are not yet under consideration of practical tanners; though it must have occurred to anyone who has ever tried to take the hide off a two-pounder that here is a leather out of which boots might be made. The idea at present is to discover whether a limited but helpful supply cannot be developed from marine leathers whose qualities are already fairly well known. It is therefore, this far, mostly the promoters who are talking of skinning Nanant, pollock and hounders as first aid to the industries of Woburn and Peabody. There is a suspicion that it is the public's skin that they are after first and foremost.

Sharks and skates, rotd everywhere in the seas in well-nigh limitless numbers, are naturally the first thought when it is a question of helping out the dwindling consignments of "packer" and "country" hides. There are sections of the southern Atlantic where with a stout hook and a heavy line you can in a morning pile the deck of a windjammer deep with the unlovely corpses of man-eating sharks. On the Florida and Bahama Keys the sharkers already pursue one of the recognized specialties of the fishing industry. It has not heretofore been held very profitable, but an increased demand for the product would probably result in more efficient methods of taking and flaying the brutes.

Shagreen, certainly, the remarkably tough hide of several species of shark, is no novelty in the leather world, though its usefulness up to now has never been what force of circumstances may later cause it to be. The skin of most sharks is covered by fine and closely set spines of papillae which give it the roughness that made it valuable to the old-time cabinet maker as a sandpaper. A hard leather assuredly, to handle, and it is a good knife that will go in to a full-grown shark's skin without turning its edge. Applied science, however has solved many a similar difficulty, and quite likely as an abundance of shark skins from Jamaica and Miami becomes assured the Bay State tanners will find ways of economically preparing commercial leathers from the outer covering of the whales of the sea.

RETURNED MEN PRAISE VETERANS

Gallant 22nd Battalion Still Holds Its Place in the Front Rank

Montreal, Oct. 25.—Officers and men returned from the front are continually singing the praises of the 22nd French-Canadian Battalion. This famous unit, which had 17 out of 21 officers and more than half its men on the casualty list after Courcellette, is still doing remarkable work in the front line trenches.
The 22nd Battalion was raised at Montreal by Col. F. Gaudet, former superintendent of the Dominion Arsenal at Quebec. Recruiting was started on October 14th, 1914, and men of French-Canadian birth or descent from all over Canada were accepted. After trainings in Canada, the battalion left for overseas on May 20, 1915. Its first big fight was at Zellebeke in Belgium from June 2 to June 14, 1915, when it greatly distinguished itself.
Three months later came the

PARLIAMENT SHOULD KEEP A MANBUSY

France to Prevent M. P.'s From Holding Other Offices

(Associated Press.)
Paris, Oct. 25.—To prevent members of parliament from holding any other public office, elective or non-elective, or from participating in business dealings with governmental departments, a bill has just been introduced into the Chamber of Deputies. This bill is supposed to have been provoked by recent revelations and rumors regarding the participation by members of parliament in business transactions with different branches of the French government, neutral, and, it is asserted, even with Germany.

At present the same person may be at the same time a deputy or senator, minister, mayor of a town and a member of the general council of his department. There is nothing which prevents him from engaging in business enterprises with the state department or communal administrations. This bill is intended to prevent cumulative office-holding, excepting that deputies and senators may still become ministers.

"MUTT AND JEFF"
The biggest laugh spot of the year in local showdom is scheduled for the Grand Opera House for Saturday, Oct. 27th, matinee and night, when "Mutt and Jeff's Divorce" the newest Bud Fisher cartoon musical comedy will lose its erstwhile variety of ludicrous situations. Mutt and Jeff are the storm center of a divorce case in the new piece. A baby-faced young woman causes trouble between the long and short pair and their wives. It's all on account of a love letter. The first act is scarcely under way when the trouble maker arrives at the Mutt and Jeff camp. After that, it's a free for all attempt to get away, with Mutt and Jeff headed off at every corner. The production comes here with the approval of Broadway; the two Fisher scripts being voted "most absurdly grotesque" the ever.

PATRONAGE LIST TO BE ABOLISHED

Announcement is Made in Official Memorandum Issued at Ottawa

A PURCHASING BOARD Committee Appointed on War Supplies to Act for All Departments

Ottawa, Oct. 25.—Sir Robert Borden has announced the abolition of patronage lists in the government departments and the intention to make all purchases of supplies by public tender through the body now known as the War Purchasing Commission. That commission has hitherto bought only war supplies for the Militia, Naval Service and Justice departments. It will in future make purchases on requisitions from other departments. The War Purchasing Commission has been composed of Sir Edward Kemp, chairman; H. Laporte, of Montreal; and George F. Galt, of Winnipeg. Sir Edward Kemp, who has been appointed Minister of the Overseas military forces, will on his departure for his new post in England relinquish his place on the War Purchasing Commission. A new chairman will be named to succeed him, and, in view of the enlargement of the scope of the commission's duties, it is understood two additional members will be appointed, making the number of commissioners five.
