SOME SEASONABLE ADVICE.

It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and much more prompt and satisfactory results are obtained when taken as soon as a cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by keeping the remedy at hand. This remedy is so widely known and so altogether good that no one should hesitate about buying it in preference to any other. It is for sale by all druggists. SOME SEASONABLE ADVICE.

TALES OUT OF SCHOOL.

More Merry Mistakes Recorded by Henry J. Barker, M. A.

It is a remarkable fact that children It is a remarkable fact that children rarely or never make use of proverbs or "sayings" in their ordinary talk and conversation. If their teacher or parents happen to use proverbial language it is as much lost on the child as though it were so much Chinese or double Dutch. I came across an amusing example of this whilst I was examining a class of South London boys on the coalfields of England and Wales.

Wales.

After a certain lad had correctly informed me that one of the most-important coalfields of England was that of Northumberland and Durham, I asked the question:

asked the question:

"When you hear people say as regards a certain action that "it is like carrying coals to Newcastle," what do they mea 1?"

Out of a large class of over six y boys only two put up their hands; and they did. I noticed, with some hesitation and diffidence.

"Well," I said to one of them, "what do people mean by the expression?"

"Well," I said to one of them, "what do people mean by the expression?"
"Why, sir," he answered, "they mean that carrying coals to Newcastle would be very hard work."
The lad had evidently in his mind the picture of a man carrying a sack or scuttle of coals all the way from London to Newcastle.

don to Newcastle with a smile, I turned to the other boy, and asked him what he thought was the meaning.

"It means, sir, that you'd most likely "It means, sir, that you'd most likely be persecuted for cruelty to animals."
This lad, too, had evidently a picture of some poor broken-winded horse drawing a load of coals all that distance, and being urged on by the driver's whip or stick.

The Church's Feminine.

The Church's Feminine.

The masculine and feminine genders of nouns and pronouns often prove a great difficulty with children.

A certain inspector, after eliciting from a class of London boys that the feminine of "Jew" was "Jewess"; of "bachelor," "maid"; of "master," "mistress," etc., proceeded to give them some rather harder questions.

What is the feminine of inspector?"

some rather harder questions.

'What is the feminine of inspector?' he asked, pointing at a little ragged urchin behind.

urchin behind.

"There ain't none," said the lad, thinking, possibly, that the inspector was laying a trap for him.

"Oh, yes, there is," said the gentleman; "lady inspectors are plentiful enough. For instance, I daresay you know there is a lady who inspects the laundry work in the girls' department of this school. Now, what would you call her?"

or this school. Now, what would you call her?"
"Why," answered the urchin, "a washerwoman, of course!"
Another inspector informs me that in dealing with the genders of nouns, he asked (playfully laying a little trap for the hovs):—

"Has the word 'church' a feminine?"
After a pause, a thoughtful-looking d cried out.
"Yes o'r."

Yes, sir. "Oh, indeed," said the inspector, with smile; "pray, what is it?" "Chapel, sir."

MADE BAD BARGAIN.

Queen Victoria and King Edward Lose on Hereditary Revenues.

When Queen Victoria agreed place the hereditary revenues of the Crown at the disposal of the nation for Majesty made a bad bargain for the royal family.

King Edward did the same thing when he came to the throne, accepting a clear yearly sum of £470,000 ($2,-350,000). At the present moment the nation is making a profit on the bargain. It amounted to £22,500 ($112,500) last year, and is increasing very rapid-

Among the properties thus assigned were considerable portions of the West End, including much of Pall Mall and St. James. Rents have risen greatly there in recent years, and as leases fall in the Commissioners of Woods and Forests will naturally raise their demands.

They are doing so now with great success. One instance is the Carlton Among the properties thus assigned success. One instance is the Carlton Hotel, for which the ground rent was only £763 ($3.816) per annum, but which is now £4,200 ($21,000), an enormous increase.

Several West End clubs have felt the increase in valuation of their premises. One of the most striking examples, however, is that of the land at No. 81 rental from £5 ($25), to £125($625). A new lease cost the lessee £900 (4,-

Making a Great Speech.

A lawyer, whose eloquence was of the spread-eagle sort, was addressing the jury at great length, and his legal opponent, growing weary, went outside to rest

"Mr. B.— is making a great speech," said a countryman to the bored counsel.

"Oh, yes; Mr. B.— always makes a "Oh, yes; Mr. B.— always makes a great speech. If you or I had occasion to announce that two and two are four, we'd be just fools enough to blurt it out. Not so Mr. B.—. He would say, 'If by that particular arithmetical rule known as addition we desire to arrive at the sum of two integers, we would find—and I say it boildly, sir, and without fear of successful contradiction—we, I repeat, should find by the particular arithmetical formula before mentioned—and, sir, I hold myself perfectly responsible for the assertion I am about to make—that the sum of the two given integers added to the other two integers would be four.'"—London Tit-Bits.

The Robber Robbed.

"I remember a long time ago," said a burgiar, "going late one night into a room in which there was one man sleeping. His clothes were on a chair near the head of the bed. I was bending over these clothes and about to take them out to the hall when the man suddenly wok. up. Without a moment's hesitation he threw his arms around me. I was young then and strong, but this man was four times as strong as I was. I think he could have crushed me to a jelly if he had wanted. As it was he put me out of the honse with the greatest ease. But before he did that he carried me over to the table and it a light. As he looked at me my watch chain caught his eye, and, do you know, that man took my watch and chain and kept them!"—London TitaBits.

THE GRAVE OF ELIA.

SOAPS for nothing.

Hutton's "Literary Landmarks of was largely a labor of love and was the result of years of hard work. Mr. Hutton gives this example of the difficulties that stood in his way: "Another Sunday afternoon I devoted to a pious pilgrimage to the grave of Charles Lamb at Edmonton. As usual, nobody at Edmonton knew anything The churchyard is not a small one, and it is entirely filled. The sexton and the It is entirely filled. The sexton and the gravedigger and a few persons wandering about could give me no information. Most of them had never heard of Mr. Lamb, and I could not find the sacred spot. Naturally I applied to the rector, and as he left the vestry door after service leaning on the arm of a pretty young woman I approached him, raised my hat and asked politely if he could tell me where Charles and Mary Lamb were resting. Really he could not say! And I, forgetting the day, the place and his sacred office, cursed that rector for his criminal ignorance.

" 'Great heavens,' I said, 'you ought to be ashamed of yourself! In your care have been placed the ashes of one of the foremost men in the whole his-tory of English letters. And you don't know where they are! They have made your churchyard and your parish distinguished all the world over. I have come 3,000 miles to visit Charles Lamb's grave, and you, the rector of the church, don't know where it is! You ought to be heartily ashamed of yourself.' And I turned upon my heel and left him standing there speechless and confounded."

Half an hour after the above incident occurred and while Hutton was grop-ing around the graveyard in the twilight the rector came to him, hat is hand, apologized most humbly for his iguorance, which he had corrected in the meantime, and conducted him to the grave of the immortal Elia.

A VOCABULARY TEST.

Words Strange to You That Are In the Dictionary.

number of obsolete words that are to be found in Webster's Dictionary is considerably larger than people have any idea of. The following letter, written by an alleged poet to an editor who had treated his poetry with derision, furnishes some idea of them:

"Sir—You have behaved like an impetiginous scrople! Like these who impetiginous scrople! Like these who
