had been indiscreet in his treatment of Taylor, and had exceeded his authority in interfering with him for calling his dog a reprimand was all that was considered necessary.

Sergeant Walsh laid a charge against P. C. Cheesman for neglecting his duties in visiting vacant houses. One house in particular, 518 Wilson street, it was alleged, he had neglected.

The constable said he had visited the house on the nights in question, but had made a mistake in entering the time in his book. He said he saw the sergeant several times the night he was looking for him.

The Commissioners decided that Cheesman had been neglecting his duty but left the matters in the hands of chief Smith with the recommendation that he should not be accepted at the end of his six month probation if his work had been poor, but if in all other ways he had shown himself to be a good officer, not to let this case stand in his way, as it might have arisen from lack of thorough understanding.

W. J. Wheatley, stableman, applied for a raise in salary. His application was laid over.

The appointment of a market constable to fill the place of Constable Nichol was also laid over for consideration.

Albert Gillespie, age 21 years, height 6 feet; chest, 36 inches; weight 163, was put on probation on the force.

P. C. McLean tendered his resignation to the Commissioners, which was accepted, to take effect on the 15th of this month.

An attempt will be made this time to put a stop to it for a long time to come.

TROUBLE ON POWER LINE.

W. A. Lovett, of Ancaster, Ordered the Men Off.

There were doings again on the Hydro Electric Power Line out Ancaster way on Monday. Mr. W. A. Lovett is one of the shrewd men of the township, who knows what right of way, easements and various other things are worth, and he does not propose to be bluffed or frightened by threats of what may happen or by illegal arbitration notices.

He told them pretty plainly that something unpleasant would happen if they did not get off. They got off that was early last week. On Monday they returned and began operations again. Mr. Lovett a little more emphatically warned them off again. They got off. Yesterday two things happened. Mr. Hydro Agent bid him to Toronto to consult with his superiors, and Mr. Lovett came to Hamilton, and again talked the matter over with his solicitor.

Mr. Lovett does not want to block the Hydro scheme. What he does want is justice—value for value. He considers that what he is asked to give up for thirty years is worth $2,500, and he does not propose to part with it for less, and until he is settled with it he is prepared to defend his property just as any other man would defend his against any unlawful act.
