Dunlop.

Our engineer can handle the reins well, but he had quite an adventure with a mettle steed on the way home from the Kintail fair. Some practical joker struck the animal with a whip, causing it to bound into the ditch. The engineer got it on the road again, to collide with a got it on the road again, to coinde with a passing yoke of oxen belonging to a Leeburn man. He kept his seat skilfully, but at the Port the animal again took fright, upsetting the driver into the ditch. He held on to the lines pluckily, regardless of broken shafts, etc, until rescond has a super Durken friend. He rescued by some Dunlop friend. He could not be induced to have his injuries attended to by the people of the Port, preferring the nursing and liniments of our famous sick committee.

Mr. Welsh, the well-known house decorator, of Goderich, has just finished the residence of Mr. Chas. Morris. It is handsemely painted inside and outside. Mr. Welsh states that the Good Templars used him well at Leeburn, but he couldn't get reconciled to the goat.

FAMILY REUNION.—A pleasant gathering of the Morris family took place at ering of the Morris family took piace at the residence of Mr. Joseph Morris on Saturday last, and a right merry time was spent by all. In the midst we noticed the beaming countenance of the patriarchal John Morris, the head of the femily, and contact the oldest set-

Colborne. He boked hearty, and was as gay as when 49 years ago he first lived in the log house on the site of which his son's barn now stands. Great changes have been wrought in the township since that time. The wilds have been changed to beautiful farms; the old settlers have given way to a new generation who taste but a portion of what their fathers and grandfathers endured. Mr. Morris now lives at Morrisdale in the township, but is a welcome visitor at the houses of his sons and daughters. He is full of reminiscenses of old times.

FARM SOLD, -Mr. E. Chesser las sold his farm of 70 acres, on the Huran road, a short distance from Clinton, to Mr. James Brown, of Hay, for the sum of $3,850. This is considerably more than Mr. Chesser paid for the property a short time since, and shows that farms are again rising in value.

PRESENTATION. - At the regular meeting of the Clinton Conservative Associa-tion, on Friday evening last, Mr. Cor-bett, on behalf of the association, presented Mr. W. H. Cooper, with a splendid gold chain, in recognition of his services on behelf of the party. The reci-pient, who did not anticipate anything of the kind, briefly acknowledged the gift. If anyone deserves well at the hands of his political friends, "Bill" certainly does, for he has labored early and late in the cause in which he is an enthusiast. —[New Era.

DRY WELLS. - Many of the wells have gone dry, and a number of our farmers have to draw water from the lake.

How I THIS, DUNLOY. - Several of our farmers helped each other with threshing during the week, and some rare experience in stack building oc-curred. The well-known Yorkshireman, aided by eight others, essayed to build a monster stack, but it suddenly tumbled upon them, almost burying some of the party alive. The engineer and R. D. Morris came up bravely to the rescue and helped the unfortunates out. But, truth to say, every man can build a straw stack better than the man who has the jeb.

THRESHING. -- The shrill whistle of the "Reynards" steam threshing machine stirred up the drowsy bachelors at the north of this hamlet, early on the morning of the 3rd instant. The threshing party were operating on the farm of Mr. Foley, and were under the command of Morrow Bros., of the Nile. Mr. Thos. Morrow is head engineer, assisted by Mr. Chas. Dodd. The tedious feeding department was attended to by Donald Mr. New of Pall Proceedings of Pall Procee McNevin, of Bull Run Avenue, and R. Morrow, of Turkey Line. They are a jolly set, and the only charge against them is, that there is a sheep less at every farm house after they have threshed. They have been out for two months, and their biggest record is 400 bushels of wheat in six house on the form of wheat in six house, on the form of ACCIDENT.—While Mr. Thos. jewitt, of the Bayfieldline, and his wife were on their way home from Goderich, on Monday evening, they met with what might have been a serious accident. The bellyband of the harness gave way, causing the shafts to raise. The buggy came in contact with the horse's legs, and he kicked vigorously. All were precipitated over an embankment, the occupants receiving little or no injury.
