'Native' Replies 'to S.W. Arm.'

Crow Head Demands a Representative on Road Board.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—In the columns of the Sun of the 2nd inst. appears an item signed "S. W. Arm," purporting to be a reply to "Native's" letter, which appeared in the Evening Telegram on the 21st ult.; but as the scribbler made no particular reference to points in my letter, I shall make no further comment any more than to exonerate a gentleman to whom he referred in such caustic and grotesque terms—a person who had nothing to do with the letter in question. Certainly that egotistical and pompous individual in his little circumscribed sphere imagines that there is no one in Twillingate who can do anything but those in his own little circle. No doubt he paid a very high compliment to "Native" when he made the assumption that a certain gentleman, who is regarded as the most brilliant and ablest, if not the ablest, statesman that ever Newfoundland produced, wrote the letter signed "Native." For the present I shall leave him in his somnolent condition. Perhaps he may have another vision, then he might disclose his identity, as he is identified by others. With your permission, sir I wish to briefly state that the hydro-head monster, Toryism, is not dead yet. It is like the ostrich, it may hide its head but a portion of the body is visible. Crow Head, which is situated near Long Point, Twillingate, has upwards of fifty voters, and strange to say (and yet not strange after all, for it is characteristic of the Tory faction) this locality has no representative on the Road Board from its own harbour. A certain man residing near the coastal wharf, a distance of two miles from Crow Head, has the expending of the money and putting the men to work. The people are very indignant over the matter, so much that some would not submit to the conditions of the Board, consequently they refused to perform any work on roads last fall. When the Road Board was formed there could not be found one Tory voter to take a seat on the said Board, hence the reason, so the People's Party (?) they had to appoint a man two miles distant from the Cove. Under the Bond administration they had a member on the Board, Back Harbor has two members with a population not much larger than Crow Head. The people there represented the matter to the Government, but no action was taken. They said (if not by words they said by their actions), "You are on the wrong side. You are an intelligent, prosperous, thriving and energetic people. You pay more taxes we believe, than most people in Twillingate; but we do not permit free and independent electors to exercise their free will against our interests without being punished." Of course Crow Head as well as eight-tenths of the electorate of Twillingate will answer to the query in no uncertain sound. During the winter several Change Island Notes.

A few bedlamer seals have been killed here during the past few weeks.

Owing to the mildness of the past winter, and the lovely spring weather which we are now enjoying, the ice-bridges, which have spanned the Tickle for a short time, have broken, and the ferry has had to take up its regular work much earlier than usual.

On Tuesday evening, 5th inst., a most successful sociable was held by the members of the L. O. A., in their capacious hall, under the able management of Mr. S. D. Cook. A splendid tea was served, to which the members of the order and their friends did full justice. After tea games of various kinds were indulged in, of which the most exciting was the clothes pin contest. It would not do for me to describe the games in detail; but suffice it to say that they were kept up with unusual interest and vim until 12 p.m., when supper was served. There was not a dull moment from start to finish, and Mr. Cook and his associates, who took so much trouble to make the affair a success, are to be complimented on the result achieved.

Your correspondent and others of Change Islands wish, through your columns, to tender our heartiest congratulations to Capt. Kean, and the other successful commanders of the sealing fleet of 1910, and to convey our sympathy to those who were less fortunate.

If the present weather conditions prevail we trust to have the pleasure of seeing two of the most successful Vikings of the sealing fleet again in charge of the good ships Prospero and Clyde on their regular route in the near future.

A Practical Work Apron.

There is always a certain charm about a dainty white House apron. This one is easily made and is very becoming and serviceable, as well. The princess front adds greatly to the dressy character of the garment and the frills that form the trimming give the wide shoulder effect so essential to the present styles. It would also be suitable as a maid's apron. Sizes Small, Medium and Large, and requires 4 1/4 yards of 36 inch material for the Medium size.

RAISED TO THE PEERAGE.

THE COST OF ADMISSION TO THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

Although titles cannot be bought in this country in the open market, as they can in many Continental countries by merely paying so much gold "over the counter," Mr. Herbert Gladstone and Mr. Ivor Guest will not get into the House of Lords for nothing. They will both have to pay pretty heavily for their peerage in stamp duties, Crown Office fees, and Home Office fees—the total in each case running into several hundred pounds, and all fees are collected strictly in advance.

As a viscount Mr. Gladstone will be charged £467 4s. 6d., the amount being made up as follows:—Stamp duties, £200 12s.; Crown Office fees, £229 16s.; Home Office fees, £37 2s. 6d.

A viscount is, of course, the fourth degree in the British Peerage, the first being a duke, whose rank is inferior only to princes of Royal blood.

After a duke comes a marquis, and then an earl. Viscount was anciently the name of him who held the chief office under an earl. The latter being often at Court, the viscount was his deputy to look after the affairs of the country. In the reign of Henry VI. the title became a degree of honor and was made hereditary.

The coronation robes of a viscount are the same as an earl's with the exception that he has only two and a half rows of ermine; his cap is the same, and the golden circle of his coronet is surmounted by sixteen silver balls.

The robe of a viscountess has two and a half inches of miniver, and two and a half bars of ermine, a yard and a quarter train, while the coronet is the same as her husband's.

Mr. Herbert Gladstone can thank his lucky stars that he was not given one of the higher ranks of the Peerage, for the duke has to pay fees amounting to £809 12s., while a marquis has to pay up £691 12s., and an earl a sum of £573 12s.

Mr. Ivor Guest, having only been made a baron, gets let off with a mere £260 17s. in fees—quite enough, however, for an empty title, especially if the House of Lords is soon to be abolished altogether! The sum is made up as follows: Stamp duties, £150

12s.; Crown Office fees, £179 10s.; Home Office fees, £30 15s.

The coronation robes of a baron have but two rows of ermine; in other respects they are the same as those of other Peers. King Charles II. granted a coronet to the barons, who until his reign wore only a plain circle of gold. It is formed of six silver balls set at equal distance on a circle of gold bordered with ermine.

A baroness has two inches of miniver and two bars of ermine on her coronation robe, which has a train a yard long. She wears a coronet the same as that of the baron.

It will be remembered that when Lord Roberts was made an earl he strongly objected to paying the bill of more than £1,750 with which he was presented.

The reason why the fees were considerably in excess of those quoted above was that, having no son to succeed him, he wished to have what is called "a special remainder" to his daughters. All "extras" of this description have to be paid for.

In addition to all the fees enumerated above, there are many more charges that a newly-fledged Peer must pay before he takes his seat in the House of Lords. There is the licence for the coronet on his carriage and notepaper, and, if he wishes them, the expensive coronet and robes of his new dignity.

It may, however, be whispered in confidence that not every Peer possesses his own coronet and robes. In the case of the older families, of course, these are treasured family heirlooms, but in the case of new creations, they have been known to be borrowed or hired for the occasion.

Some people appear to think that the British Peers habitually wear their coronets in the House of Lords or on grand occasions. As a matter of fact, the only occasions on which Peers put on these symbols are at a State Coronation of the Sovereign, or when they wish to have their portrait painted or to be photographed "in State." A few years ago a newly created viscount was so fond of his coronet that he had it emblazoned on everything—even his luggage. The result was that, when travelling in Spain, he was mistaken for the Prince of Wales.

For a long time he could not make out why he was treated with such extraordinary ceremony and charged such wonderful prices. It was only when the Mayor of a certain town proposed to offer him an address that the mystery came out.

A baronet has to pay £294, 9s. 6d. for the privilege of seeing "Sir" in front of his name and Bart. behind it.

Jack Gleason, one of the promoters of the Jeffries-Johnson fight, who is in New York, says the tickets for seats in the Emeryville Arena will be printed by a local firm and will be placed on sale at the offices of the various railroad companies, to be announced later. He says there will be eight prices of admission: $5, $10, $20, $25, $30, $35, $40 and $50. Each priced ticket will be a certain color, to be presented at an entrance similarly painted, a scheme that will prevent confusion.

hundred dollars have been expended by a certain commissioner on work in connection with the coastal wharf and not a single Liberal has received one hour's work. There are several men with large families who were not too well provided with the necessities of life who would have been too glad to have received work during the dull winter months. They warn the Tories party not to send any more candidates to Twillingate seeking the support of the electorate, for if they do not immerse them in the salt pond they will certainly cover them with an avalanche of ballots. Thanking you for space.

Yours very truly,
NATIVE.

Death of Mr. Whitten.

Mr. Robert Whitten, formerly of this city, died last Sunday at Halifax, in his 59th year. He had been ill all winter. Deceased was formerly chief steward and purser on the S. S. Newfoundland when she ran the winter mail service between St. John's and Halifax. He was highly esteemed by all who knew him. Later he settled down in Halifax and went into the commission business on Water Street. He leaves a daughter and a sister to mourn their loss.

Boy Seriously Injured.

While a lad named Stephen Guest of the South Side, was proceeding to cross the Long Bridge near the railway track at 4.30 p.m. yesterday he fell as a horse attached to a box cart was rapidly driven along, and before he could get to his feet or the driver check the animal, the wheels went over his legs and he was badly hurt. Messrs. Peter Byrne and J. Moore, of the Reid Nfd. Co., were quickly on the scene and found that the boy's left leg was badly cut, some of the leading veins being severed. They applied a tourniquet above the knee to stop the bleeding and quickly summoned Dr. Chaplin who after doing all possible for him ordered him to hospital. Besides being cut the boy's leg was also badly crushed; he was cut about the head also, and he narrowly escaped being killed.

TO PREVENT TROUBLE.—Last night Const. Stamp found a young man who was well under the influence of drink going down Duckworth St., and put him under arrest. This is the man who stabbed a young man named March last fall, and fearing that he might commit himself again last night the officer thought it prudent to lock him up.

Fell Forty Feet, But Was Uninjured.

Springing from her bed in the Women's Hospital on Mountain Street, just before 6 o'clock in the morning, Mrs. Bernicky jumped out of a window on the third storey, and fell thirty-five or forty feet into the back yard. Strange to say she was apparently uninjured by her fearful leap, and showed no ill effects except a slight dizziness which passed off in a few minutes.

Mrs. Bernicky is a young Polish woman, who has been in Montreal about a year. Six days ago she gave birth to a child in the Women's Hospital, and had been making satisfactory progress until this morning, when she suddenly developed suicidal symptoms.

She had been lying quietly in bed, and had done nothing to attract the particular attention of the nurses. They were taken completely by surprise when they found that she had disappeared through the window. Rushing downstairs, expecting to find her mangled corpse in the yard they were equally surprised to find her able to stand, and as far as they could see, none the worse for her adventure.

The woman was clad in nothing but her nightdress, and it is a remarkable thing that she pitched on her bare feet on the only soft spot of earth in the yard. She had fallen between a rail and a big stake, and had she fallen a few inches more either to the right or the left she must inevitably have sustained fearful injuries.

The woman was immediately carried back into the institution, where she was attended by Dr. Reddy, the medical superintendent, who found that she had suddenly gone insane. After she had rested awhile an ambulance was summoned and she was conveyed to the Longue Pointe Asylum.

"Don't put this down as another remarkable case of sleep walking," said Dr. Reddy, in discussing the occurrence afterwards. "It is simply a sudden attack of puerperal insanity. It is a marvel to me that the woman

The Comet Programme

To-day the comet rose 50 minutes before the sun; on the 16th of the month it will rise an hour and a half before it, on the 24th an hour and fifty-five minutes before it, on May 6th two hours and ten minutes before it, and on May 10th two hours and twenty minutes before it. Beginning to return toward the sun, the comet on May 14th rises just two hours ahead of the sun, and on the 16th one hour and a half ahead. By this time it is getting hard to see again. Then it swings over to the evening sky.

On May 22nd it will set two hours and forty-five minutes after the sun sets, on May 24th three hours and twenty minutes after it, on the 26th three hours and fifty minutes, and on the 28th four hours and five minutes after sunset. By this time the comet should stand out brightly in the dark sky. Then it begins another dash at the sun, setting on the 30th of the month only three hours and fifty minutes after it.

How Cured of Rheumatism

Cost him $100.00 for medicines which failed—Cured by DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Mr. James Clark, Maidstone, Sask., writes: "I suffered for four years with rheumatism in my shoulders and could not lift my arms above the head. I had nearly all the advertised remedies but none of them gave me relief. It cost me at least $100.00 for medicines before I used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

"With the use of this medicine, I soon found relief. I followed up this treatment for six months and was then quite free from rheumatism. While using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I also used Dr. Chase's Backache Plaster when so stiff that I could scarcely bend. They always found the weak spot and gave relief while the internal treatment was bringing about a thorough cure."

The success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills has been phenomenal. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanison, Bates & Co., Toronto. Dr. Chase's Recipes will be sent free on request.
