Our Teachers.

The other day we noted that Super- intendent Burke complained of the scarcity of male teachers, the diffi- culty of keeping good ones, and the employment, in default of trained teachers, of those who lacked train- ing.

His comments in this connection are remarkable. He states: "In this particular it is worthy of notice that, out of the large population in the city of St. John's, it may be said that practically not a candidate offers as a pupil teacher. This is especially so with regard to male teachers, and during my term of office, extending over ten years, I know of no male teacher from the city of St. John's to have been employed for one year in a school under my whole superintend- ence."

The cause is obvious. The induc- ments to the St. John's boy of his denomination to enter the teaching profession and to teach in the out- ports are not sufficiently attractive. Other calls in life appeal with greater force. This is unfortunate. For it means that the long scholastic training enjoyed by St. John's boys from their early years in the Chris- tian Brothers' schools and St. Bonav- enture's College contributes little or nothing, so far as city boys are con- cerned, to the scholastic life of New- foundland. The chief thing lacking is the lure to catch candidates for the teaching profession. When that has been done the profession "must be kept attractive enough to retain good men. Otherwise the profession- al training, such as it is, is in the main lost to the schools."

We are glad to note that the pro- fessional training of teachers is under the consideration of the Board of Examiners, and that they propose to utilize the additional grant in making better provision for it, apart from the literary or academic course.

Newfoundland Dog Fast Disappearing.

Homer L. Darrow After Scouring the Island Returns From St. John's With Only 22 of the Breed.

That the Newfoundland dog is fast becoming extinct in the land of its nativity was stated by Homer Lloyd Darrow, of New Haven, a dog fancier and breeder, who returned Friday from St. John's on the Red Cross line steamer Bornu, bringing twenty-two dogs. He went to Newfoundland in May and since then he has travelled all over the island buying dogs. Those with which he returned are all he could buy, and all of these are not pure blooded animals.

"The Newfoundland dog formerly was a very popular breed," he said yesterday, "but like all breeds it has become degenerated since it was dropped by those who had money to pay for full blooded animals. For several years no Newfoundland dogs have been exhibited at bench shows, and it is seldom that one is seen in this country."

"When these animals were in the height of their popularity Newfoundland was scoured and the supply so depleted that to-day one is seldom seen. It is only in the outlying vil- lages, seldom visited by outsiders, that you can find them at all."

"The Newfoundland thinks the world of his dogs, and this stands to reason in the way of buying them now. Most of those which I bought were puppies, for the owners in most cases refused to part with the full grown animals. Also they have been crossed largely with the Eskimo dog, which is brought from Labrador, until the characteristics of the Newfound- land dog have been lost."

"I believe there is a market for them here, and if there isn't I hope to create one. I intend exhibiting them next spring at the show, and believe that the time has come when the dog can be restored to its once popular place in the catalogue.—New York World, Aug. 8.

Was Columbus a Spaniard?

The most interesting contribution to Espana Moderna, from the point of view of the general reader, is that on "The True Nationality of Christo- pher Columbus."

The subject is not exactly new, be- cause a controversy has long raged round it, but the present writer brings into relief certain facts which make it interesting. The general opinion is that Columbus was a native of Genoa, and Columbus himself is reported to have declared so when signing a document concerning the succession to his estate; but his son contradicted this assertion at a later date, and stated that his father's place of birth was unknown. Probably La Riega gets nearest to the truth in his work on Columbus. He says that the dis- coverer of the New World was of Spanish birth, and born at Pontevedra in Galicia.

La Riega says that a family by the name of Colon-Pontevedra, residing in Pontevedra, emigrated to Italy on account of the revolts and uprisings in Galicia, about 1444 to 1450, taking with them one of the funnel-shaped French gowns, and a huge scap- honnet shaded by a dense grove of ostrich weepers, but she attracted even more notice when the baggage began to pile up in a leather moun- tain alongside of her and the cus- toms inspectors got busy.

Acting Deputy Collector O'Connor and two assistants spent three hours going through little Mrs. Hayes' bag- gage. They took out blue gowns, green gowns, pink gowns, white gowns until one end of the dock look- ed like a rainbow. They examined hats, the like of which was never seen by the eye of man before; and they checked off 140 hat pins, some with big diamond heads, some with pearl beads and some with knobs on them as big as a man's fist.

Mrs. Hayes declared the 17 gowns at $10,000 and the hats at $2,200. Mr. Hayes declared a new collar button that he bought in Paris and an Eng- lish umbrella.

The writer shows how Spanish Col- umbus was in his way of thinking; he gave Spanish names to the places he discovered, and we have to re- member his comparisons between the New World and the fields of Cordova, the nightingales of Spain, and "so forth." If Columbus were an Italian, then he seems to have been a con- tradiction; if he were a Spaniard, then all these seeming contradictions vanish, and he becomes quite natural. It was perfectly logical for Columbus as a Spaniard to recollect the beauty of his own country at such a solemn time.

Oregon Woman Returns From Europe With a Mountain of Trunks.

New York, July 22.—Mrs. Queenie Hayes, who is pretty and pleasantly plump and young and a blonde, came home from Europe this morning accompanied by her husband, Frank Hayes, who is in the lumber business in Oregon and is said to be wealthy. In addition to a husband, Mrs. Hayes brought back the following items:

Eleven extra large-size wardrobe trunks.

Twenty-two hat boxes.

Seventeen Paris gowns valued at $10,000 just by themselves.

Twenty-two of the dearest millin- ery creations ever seen in these parts.

One trunk full of filmy lingerie, all ribbons and ruffles and stuff and things.

The most expensive collection of hat pins yet exhibited on a New York pier.

Everything else you could think of. Mrs. Hayes attracted a lot of at- tention as she came down the gang plank of the White Star liner Adriatic wearing one of the funnel-shaped French gowns, and a huge scap- honnet shaded by a dense grove of ostrich weepers, but she attracted even more notice when the baggage began to pile up in a leather moun- tain alongside of her and the cus- toms inspectors got busy.

Acting Deputy Collector O'Connor and two assistants spent three hours going through little Mrs. Hayes' bag- gage. Says Farms Alter the Criminal Mind

Solving the problem of reclaiming criminals by "getting back to the earth" is one of the greatest works of the Salvation Army in England just now, according to Commissioner T. H. Howard, foreign secretary of the Salvation Army, who arrived re- cently on board the New York, of the American line. Commissioner How- ard, who was met by the leading Sal- vation Army officials here, will go to Toronto on a special mission and will stay but a few days.

"Here in America you have plenty of land," said Commissioner Howard, "and such work as we have attempt- ed would be much easier. We have interested large owners in the sub- urbs of London in this movement and have obtained many tracts, of per- haps ten acres each, which we first lend to the released criminal and later arrange for payment on easy terms. So far we have aided nine hundred men, and the work is a grand one, for it seems that it changes the whole of the bad nature of a man to get back to Mother Earth."

"These little farms are for intensive farming, the raising of garden truck, which finds a ready market, and so great has the interest become that a committee or Board has been formed, composed of members of vari- ous societies for the improvement of the condition of discharged prisoners and the poor. The movement is much more important than it looks, for it will supply a deficit that exists in England's productive agriculture."

"Another interesting feature of Sal- vation Army work is the fact that the English government has placed whole tribes of criminals in India under our control. These are the tribes that are born to steal, plunder and maybe commit more serious crimes. Robbery is the principal crime, and we have more than one million per- sons in the northwestern part of In- dia to care for."

Commissioner Howard said that the successor to General Booth prob- ably would be his son, who is active in the work in England.

Johnson and Langford.

Chicago, Aug. 8. — Australia, the place where Jack Johnson first sprang into the championship limelight, will probably be the scene of his next en- counter, with anyone who seek heavy- weight honours. The champion an- nounced yesterday that in all proba- bility he would head for the Antipodes next summer, following his theatrical engagements in Europe.

Jack said that there would be nothing doing in this country for some time, whereas he had a number of flattering offers from Hugh McIntosh, the promoter, and might close a deal, McIntosh is on his way to the British metropolis at present, and will re- main there until Johnson arrives. Then he will unfold his plans for a fight in England or Australia. Just who his opponent may be is the last thing the title-holder can think of, but a match, all he need do is to put up sufficient money.

Struck Oil.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 6.—Oil has been struck in the midst of a busy hum of this city. Within a few feet of a street where the trolley whizzes by every few minutes, a well was brought in on the north side yester- day, and during the day flowed 60 barrels. Nineteen years ago this loca- tion was known as Jock's Run, and at that time oil was struck, but so many wells were driven that the develop- ment was soon exhausted.

The strike has caused a flurry among the neighbours. The oil is of a high grade, and is found in the hundred foot sand.

Was Frozen to Death

While the Thermometer Hovered at 105 Degrees.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 4.—Frozen dead, with the thermometer at 105 in the shade, was the fate of a Mexican at Maricopa, 200 miles west of here, on the Arizona desert. A carload of ice had been unloaded on the station plat- form and covered with a heavy tar- paulin. The man, seeking sleep and escape from the terrific heat, crawled beneath the tarpaulin, where he was found the next morning, frozen stiff.
