More Larceny.

Last night the police arrested a boy of tender years on a charge of the larceny of $2.50. The youth had been employed in Stafford's drug store and within the past few weeks small amounts were frequently missed from the cash register. Some of the coins were marked and that was how the proprietor of the store discovered who was doing the thieving. The accused appeared in court to-day. Mr. Stafford would not prosecute, and as the youngster's home circumstances were not the best, His Honor let him go on suspended sentence.

Vessels Experience Rough Weather.

Vessels that arrived here from Trinity Bay last night report a very heavy sea coming up the shore towards this port. One of them the s.s. Emma, Capt. Penney from Random was very heavily laden with lumber, and when nearing Cape St. Francis the crew had to chop away a portion of the after quarter to allow the water to run off the deck, as the little vessel was awash, and carried a heavy deckload. Two others from Winterton and Heart's Content respectively report similar conditions. The former having to shorten sail when off Pouch Cove where a gale was blowing from the land.

Helpful Hints for Guidance in Bying R. J. & W. Preferred Stock

St. John's, May 22nd, 1914.

Robin, Jones & Whitman 6 p.c. Cumulative Preferred Stock sells for 85 p.c. with a 25 p.c. bonus of Common Stock.

This means that one $100 Par value share of the Preferred costs $85.00 and includes a quarter share of Common as a bonus. The remaining three-quarters to make up the full share of Common can be had at the rate of $35.00 a share—or $26.25.

Therefore ONE share of Preferred and ONE share of Common will together cost $111.25. Such a desirable investment would give you a share of Preferred yielding 7.07 p.c., and a share of Common on which a 2 p.c. dividend was paid last year and on which an average of almost 6 p.c. was earned yearly for the past four years.

Any number of shares may be had at this attractive rate—either on the outright or the $10 down and $10 monthly plan.

The Firemen's Case.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—Permit me through the columns of your widely circulated paper to give expression to some matters that have more than passing interest to us Newfoundlanders.

To begin I ask your readers to recall to their memories the incident high on two years ago which led up to the change of the personnel of the firemen on board the S. S. Florizel from a Newfoundland crew to a foreign crew. No doubt it is fresh in the minds of most of us what was said by those who were responsible for this arrangement. They were profuse in their fulmination at that time against the Union firemen, and on the other hand they were equally profuse with all manner of praise for their new employees. They said there was more satisfaction with the foreign than with the local firemen. We had to stand idly by and listen to this empty and make-up boasting which emanated from the followers of the dog-in-manger policy, knowing full well that time would certainly reveal the hollowness of the situation taken by men who should have acted more kindly. Now in a concise manner I will give an epitome of the striking department of the Florizel before the occurrence which resulted in the employment of foreign firemen and since that time two years ago when the Union firemen were cut off altogether from the work which should be theirs.

To make a start, when the Florizel came here she was entirely manned in the striking department by men who were bona fide members of the Firemen's Union, of Newfoundland, and during all this time which would be about three years, every satisfaction was given. The ship was never delayed in her sailings and on most trips was ahead of the schedule time of arrival. So it can be seen that as far as the Union men were concerned there was no need of complaint and certainly no justification for the extravagant campaign made by those people who said that Firemen gave more satisfaction. We will just for comparison state briefly just what has taken place in the S.S. Florizel's striking department since our men were removed from working this ship, and we will leave it to any unbiased public to judge, believing that the result of their findings will be entirely to their satisfaction.

It makes one feel sorrowful when we know that as far as ability goes we have in the Newfoundland Firemen's Union as fine a class of workmen as can be found in any part of the world.

In face of this to have the work that should be ours, in the hands of others through the vindictiveness of some people, is most regrettable from any point of view.

Thanking you in anticipation for space,

I am, yours truly,

F. L. WOODS.

President of the Firemen's Protective Union.

Logging Camp Burglarized.

FIFTY DOLLARS STOLEN.

By the express train, which reached the city at ten o'clock last night, they arrived from Grand Falls, Constance Martin, in charge of a prisoner for the Penitentiary. The name of the accused is Albert Lee, who was convicted of burglary and theft and got six months imprisonment. During the midnight hours of Saturday last, Lee broke into a logging camp at Badger Brook while the inmates were asleep, and stole a purse, containing $50, belonging to one of the loggers. The authorities were informed of the theft and Constable Martin rounded up the culprit, who was brought to Grand Falls, tried before Magistrate Fitzgerald, who took into account the prisoner's bad record and gave him the sentence already mentioned.

Petty Thefts.

This morning, in the Magistrate's Court, a man, who had been victimized by a junior employee, intimated that he has had within the past few years dismissed several boys for taking small sums of money. Inspector General Sullivan commented strongly on this nefarious practice and said that it was poor example for the coming generation in the community.

There was no word received from the Prospero to-day and it is believed she is still icebound.

The Portia sails west on Monday forenoon.

The Hawk arrived from Bell Island at 10 o'clock last night and sails again at 6 o'clock this evening.

Mrs. Bridget O'Leary's famous cow which has always had the discredit of having caused the great Chicago fire of 1871 by licking over a lamp while being milked early in the morning, is at last to have her memory vindicated if the death bed confession of Miss Rebecca Thrift, 70 years old, who died in the county infirmary at Lima, Ohio, on May 17th, should, upon investigation, prove true. Miss Thrift with her last breath gasped out that she was responsible for the conflagration and that she fled through the flames and confusion to avoid arrest for an act which preyed upon her mind ever since.

The King and Queen on May 7th, opened a new wing of the British Museum, which has just been completed at a cost of a million dollars. It is the first part of a large scheme of extension. The new wing is in architectural harmony with the old museum. The main entrance is surmounted by a balcony, the parapet of which is formed by a stone laid in June, 1907, by the late King Edward.

Its facade, which is of Portland stone, is flanked by two massive towers, the outer walls and pedestals of the forecourt being of Scottish granite.

The increasing use of intoxicants in the Austrian army has led the Minister of War to order a comprehensive and searching investigation of the effects of alcohol on the fighting strength of the dual monarchy. The commanding officers are ordered to report what influence the regular and abundant drinking of stimulants by the people generally exerts on the physical condition and military capacity of young recruits and also the number of cases of alcoholic poisoning and of prosecutions for drunkenness in the last year.

Caesar, the famous white wire-haired terrier, which for many years was King Edward's constant companion, and at his funeral four years ago followed in his royal master's funeral procession, died recently at Marlborough House after a brief illness. After His Majesty's death Caesar was inconsolable for weeks, and refused to take food and whined in piteous fashion. Queen Alexandra made him a great favorite, and he often used to walk or drive out with her. Although King Edward's bedroom was the terrier's home while His Majesty lived, the dog never went near it after the King's death, tho' he wandered about Buckingham Palace for days searching in vain for the face or the hand of his dead master. He was 12 years old.
