

The New York Times says: We would all like to see Rome the capital of Italy—firstly because it would be an extension of civil liberty, and secondly, because it would give that unity to the new Kingdom without which it must continue to have a precarious existence. We leave out the religious aspect of the matter, because we really fail to see that it would necessarily have any very tremendous effect upon the interests of the Catholic faith. There are two or three extreme views, or points of view, on this part of the business. There are Protestants who imagine that the taking of Rome from the Pope would shatter the entire Catholic system, and that it would be the beginning of the destruction of the "Man of Sin" foretold in revelation. On the other extreme, there are Ultramatic Catholics who entertain views that really amount to very much the same thing. They believe that the destruction of the Temporal Power would not only be a blow at the authority and independence of the Head of the Church, but that it would be an undermining of the Church itself. In fact, with them the doctrine of the Temporal Power partakes of the nature of a fundamental religious dogma, and if it be invalidated or overturned the entire fabric of faith is shaken. There is, however, another party in the Catholic Church, embracing a number of Liberal Prelates and Priests, and all the Liberal Lay adherents of Catholicity, who look on the Temporal Power as something necessary neither to the Pope nor the Church, and who would very willingly see His Holiness existing, not as a Sovereign of Rome, but as spiritual Pontiff of the Catholic world. They claim that a form of faith which they claim to have existed long before the Bishops of Rome were Sovereigns of Rome, would be adversely affected if the Sovereign were again reduced to his primitive condition of Bishop. They deny that the sway which the great moving ideas of Catholicity have over the minds of hundreds of millions of the human race, would be destroyed or even weakened by an incident of such trivial import as that of depriving the Pope of the government of a city and a few circumjacent leagues of land.

Great Cure of Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia in Canada.

Concession, Prince Edward Co., O. W., March, 1867.
[Messrs. Young & Chamberlain—Sirs—Having proved within my own person that there is at least a medicine that will induce our Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, I am induced to make this statement, under oath, which is to certify that I have been sorely afflicted for the last three years, according to the Doctors' statements, with Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia. I had a feeling of sinking and vague uneasiness about the stomach, worse than pain, eructations of wind, occasional pain, drowsiness, constipation, uneasiness in the right side, headache, a poor appetite, &c., and was greatly reduced in strength. Hearing your new Indian medicine, the Great Shoshonees Remedy, spoken of so highly, I tried a bottle with your Pills, from these I must say I found but little change, but I took another and then found my health improving. I continued it until I have taken about ten bottles, using the Pills, and I find that I have quite recovered. I sat hearty without pain or uneasiness. I am well and have pleasure in attending to my business. The doctor remarked to me I was looking much better. I told him that the Great Shoshonees Remedy was doing it. I have recommended the Remedy in several cases, and it has invariably given good satisfaction, and I would strongly recommend it to all afflicted as I was.
