5641—LADY'S APRON.

For good service and convenience, an apron with ample pocket room is always to be recommended. The model here shown has a generous pocket, and a bib to cover the waist front, while the skirt portion has a gathered ruffle that is both pretty and practical. A pattern of this apron could be made without the ruffle, while a very charming development on bib and ruffle and pocket edges. The pattern is cut in three sizes, small, medium, large. It requires 2 1/2 yards of 44-inch material for the medium size. A pattern of this illustration sent to any address on receipt of 10c in stamps or silver.

HOO'S Sarsaparilla

For

The Blood, Stomach, Liver and Kidneys.

Possesses Medicinal Merit Peculiar to Itself.

Has an Unequalled Record of Cures.

100 Doses One Dollar.

Sold Everywhere.

Spring Humors are due to the impure, impoverished, devitalized condition of the blood brought about by the unhealthy modes of living during the winter, too close confinement, too little outdoor air and exercise, too heavy diet. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures them.

Most Satisfactory—"We have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for years, as a spring medicine, and have always found it very beneficial. We have tried different remedies but find Hood's the most satisfactory." Miss Dorathia McDonald, 47 Buckingham Ave., Montreal, Que.

A LIFE'S DEVOTION

BY FRANK H. SHAW.

Author of "A Daughter of the Storm," "First of the Pole," etc. (Copyright in U. S. America. All Rights Reserved.)

Try as he would a little of his indignant resentment against the man's innate snobbishness would creep out. He felt as if he were moving round in circles, drawing no nearer to his point. "You deliberately set yourself to insult me," said Lord Greatheart angrily. "This matter of the election is the greatest insult you could have levelled at me. You knew that it was my hope that Sir Percy Fleeton should be returned, but, knowing that, you set to work to undermine his position, with the result last night showed. And then, before that bitter canker has ceased to rankle, you come and ask me for my daughter's hand! A pretty piece of effrontery, upon my soul!"

"Effrontery, yes, in that no man is worthy of the love of a good woman. But since, through no merit of my own, I have won your daughter's love, I insist on being treated with common fairness."

"You insist? Very well, I refuse. I will allow of no further argument. Lady Marion will obey my orders, and they will be that all intercourse between you must cease, and the she must fight down this moment's madness which has possessed her. She is a silly girl, nothing more. Your pseudo-chivalrous attitude towards the working classes has probably aroused her sympathy, and this sympathy she has mistaken for love. She will recover very swiftly under the treatment I shall mete out to her."

"Lady Marion will be a free agent in a few months' time," said Scroggs, stung to the quick at thought of coercion being employed to win Marion's love from him. "When she is twenty-one she will be able to please herself. Until then I shall take care not to intrude myself into your range of vision, since the sight of me is so displeasing to you. But when she is twenty-one I shall claim her by right of my love, and I shall defy you to hinder me. If Marion loves me then nothing shall deter me."

"As long as I live I shall oppose such a match," said Lord Greatheart furiously. "And if it takes place my bitter, deadly curse shall follow you both, and your children too, all the days of your lives."

Scroggs snapped his fingers impatiently. "That for your curses," he said quickly, and his voice rose a little. "And remember this, Lord Greatheart, you are an old man and will not live forever."

"But I shall live long enough to frustrate your plans, sir," stormed the earl savagely. He was almost foaming at the mouth.

There was a knock at the door, and a servant entered with a telegram. Impatiently and without an apology, Lord Greatheart tore the red envelope open. Then his face turned whiter than ever; a hunted look came into his eyes. Scroggs darted forward.

"No answer," muttered Greatheart, and the servant vanished after a curious glance around the misery and fear on his companion's face.

"I fear you have had bad news," he said smoothly. "Perhaps it is in my power to help the father of the woman I love. If I can, command my services. Not a step to drug your resentment, but simply because you are Marion Seymour's father."

Greatheart glared at him for a moment, and then a curious look of almost curiosity came into his face. He made no move to stop to ask favors from a man whom he would not receive under my roof. Be good enough to leave me; I will never change my mind."

"And I will never change mine," responded Scroggs fiercely. "I have as much determination as you, Lord Greatheart, and I will marry Marion yet."

"You deliberately set yourself to insult me," said Lord Greatheart angrily. "This matter of the election is the greatest insult you could have levelled at me. You knew that it was my hope that Sir Percy Fleeton should be returned, but, knowing that, you set to work to undermine his position, with the result last night showed. me for your hand. Apparently he has done this with your sanction. I, of course, gave him the door. And I now repeat what I said to him: that I would rather see you in your grave than his wife. He is not fit to marry you; he is not in your station; he is, in short, a common cad. That is all that can be said on the matter. Therefore you will at once give me your solemn word not to exchange any engagements with him; above all, not to show that you have so far forgotten what is due to your position and birth as to allow him to marry you."

Marion's eyes filled with silent tears; but she fought them back. She would not shatter Scroggs' cause by a "Tundue haste."

"You have taken my happiness into consideration by asking me to marry you," said Scroggs. "Do you know that I love Mr. Scroggs, and that I would wish for nothing more in life than to be his wife? Because, if you do not know that, I tell it to you now. Why will you persist in this story of yours? Why not allow Mr. Scroggs to have his wish gratified. I want to be his wife; he wants to be my husband. Surely we two are the most to be considered when it is our own lives that we must live."

"I shall not listen to such unadvised words," said Scroggs. "I do not know what the world is coming to when girls are allowed to address their fathers in this manner. You make a good deal of your needs, of the consideration due to you, you say nothing about the consideration due to me. As if I had not enough worries without this painful trouble coming upon me!"

"Then give your consent, papa, and have one worry the less," said Scroggs. "I shall never marry another man but Mr. Scroggs; and I shall not give you a promise not to see him in future, for I consider that demand such a promise is exceedingly unfair."

"You mean, then, to defy me? You would marry this person clandestinely, if such a thought is in your head, and you will at once shut up such a plan at its birth."

A local druggist was surprised and amused the other day on hearing an American lady exclaim: "Nyl's! Why, I knew old Doctor Nyl right well back in Pennsylvania. Anything he said must be all right." The man behind the counter knew different. He knew the origin of the name Nyl; but he did not know it good business to contradict a lady.

You undoubtedly know a good deal about Nyl's Family Remedies; but do you know how this simple and appropriate remedy is made? Ask your good friends—people who care for their health—more of the Nyl's Family Remedies—ask them if they really know the origin of the name Nyl.

The word Nyl simply means the New York and London Drug Company—the first letter of each word making the name N-Y-L-N-Y-L.

The headquarters of this big concern is at Windsor, Ontario, and a word or two about the Nyl's ideas may be interesting.

Everybody knows more or less about Nyl's Family Remedies, but few realize that there is a serious and earnest effort behind them. Good druggists everywhere feel that the ordinary secret nostrums of "Patent" medicines as they are called, could not be recommended honestly by them, as they knew nothing of their formulas.

As professional men, with serious responsibilities, they felt they owed it to their customers to carry out a line of honest, scientifically-made packaged remedies, of which they (the druggists) knew the formulae and the quality of the ingredients.

Nyl's Family Remedies appealed strongly to these men. They are especially compounded for family use, and prepare a specific remedy for most of the general everyday ailments (not one remedy for all), which are hardly warranted the attention of a doctor. Besides the druggists know exactly the ingredients of every Nyl's Remedy, and can heartily recommend it.

The foreign business of Nyl's is very extensive. You can find the Nyl's Remedies in every corner of the civilized globe.

First G. T. Train
THROUGH TO WEST
Carries Party of Five Hundred French-Canadian Settlers.

Montreal, April 8.—The first through train over all Grand Trunk lines from Montreal for Western Canada, left Bonaventure station this morning, carrying a party of over 500 French-Canadians going to settle in the French colony established by Rev. Father Berthe, near Saskatoon, Sask. A large portion of the party was made up of French-Canadians who had previously emigrated to New England States and become factory hands. The remainder were from various parts of Quebec Province. The party, which included whole families, was an average of $1,000 to $1,500. Three doctors from New England have gone with the party to settle in the colony. Altogether this spring over 1,000 French-Canadians have gone west over the Grand Trunk lines.

PLUCKY CONDUCTOR ROUTS DESPERADOES

Hammers Hold-Up Men With Lantern When Attempt to Rob St. Paul Train.

Lacrosse, Wis., April 8.—An attempt was made this morning to hold up train No. 1, the Pioneer Limited, on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, between Tonnah and Oakdale, Wis. The robbers were frustrated by Conductor Shumway.

As the conductor stepped from the buffet car onto the platform of the sleeper, two masked men thrust revolvers into his face. Shumway struck the first man down with his lantern and as the men began to crowd toward the buffet the two highwaymen leaped from the train. Shot after shot was fired after them, but presumably without effect, as when the train was brought to a stop and search made no trace of them could be found.

Two negroes were arrested at North Lacrosse this forenoon on suspicion of being implicated in the train hold-up. They are being held for identification on the part of Conductor Shumway. The men were heavily armed. They refused to give their names, but said they were from Chicago.

The Milwaukee officers here have received only meagre reports of the robbery, but so far as they know no money was obtained.

SOCIALISTS TO RUN MILWAUKEE

Have Gained the Upper Hand Through
Big Victory at the Polls.

Milwaukee, April 8.—"We shall support Emil Siedel in everything he undertakes," said Victor Berger, leader of the Socialist party. "We shall try to make good on all the big things that our platform stands for. First of all we shall try for better street car service. That is something that needs immediate attention. Then we shall try to secure the initiative and referendum and home rule. We appreciate our present position and the opportunities it affords, and we're going to make the best of it. It is a victory, not only for the city but for the state. If our belief that they are great many more cities and counties will go Social Democratic, and I sincerely hope they do. The voters of Milwaukee may rest assured that they could not have put the affairs of the city into the hands of a more honest set of men, bent on doing their very best for this city as well as for the people in general."

I want to say just a word about election night. There was never so little beer or whiskey sold in Milwaukee on an election night as there was Tuesday, even though we won a glorious victory. However, that is not saying the Socialists are prohibitionists.

WINDSOR HOTELMAN DEAD.
Windsor, April 8.—John D. Nobbs, 58 years old, a veteran Windsor hotelman, is dead. Death was due to heart failure. Mr. Nobbs was a native of England, and before coming to Canada served five years in the British navy.

JEFF'S FIRST BOXING.
Rio, Cal., April 8.—In the same ring that Jack Johnson used at Dave Cockrill's Emeryville quarters, to get into shape for his match with Stanley Ketchell, James J. Jeffries will do his first boxing this afternoon at Bowdoin. It was a trick of fate, perhaps, that the white man is to have the same apparatus that was used by the present heavyweight champion, but it has been taken as an omen of good luck by the men in the camp staff. The ring has been established in the new gymnasium, formerly a large dance hall.

DUNN MATCHED.
Chicago, April 8.—Earl Denning, the Chicago boxer, has been matched to meet Danny Dunn at Cleveland next Monday night. The articles called for 118 rounds, and is scheduled as a 10-round affair.

THE WORDS OF HAROLD P. BUSHY, WHO WAS PERMANENTLY LURED OF CHRONIC LUMBAGO BY "NERVINE."

"Three years ago I discovered that a man with lumbago might just as well be dead as alive." These words open the sincere, straightforward letter of H. P. Bushy, a well-known man in the plumbing and tin-smithing business in Portland.

"One attack came after another, and lumbago got to be a chronic thing with me. I could scarcely get in a day's work before the knife and cruel pain would attack my back. I used a gallon of liniment; not one of them seemed to penetrate enough to get at the core of the pain. I read in the paper about Nervine, and I bought a bottle. It was a wonderful medicine—I could feel its soothing, pain-relieving action every time it was applied. When I got the disease under control I went on my blood by taking Perrozoin at meals. This treatment cured me permanently, and I am now able to give up the thick, white, oily liniments they are using, and try an up-to-date, penetrating, pain-destroyer like Nervine."

Please publish my letter the world over. I want all to hear of Nervine. Don't be caught into receiving anything from your dealer but "Nervine." Large bottle 50c; trial size, 25c. Sold everywhere. Write to THE CHARTERED COMPANY, Kingston, Ont.

A Terrible Sufferer for Thirty-Five Years

Treasurer of Caledonia Township Says

"If it were not for 'FRUIT-A-TIVES,' I am satisfied I could not live."

Practically everybody in Prescott County, Ontario, knows of Mr. James Proudfoot. He was born over 50 years ago on the farm where he lives today. He is one of the most prominent farmers and stock raisers in this section of the country, and has been Treasurer of Caledonia Township for years, succeeding his father.

Fenaghville, Ont., Jan. 29, 1910.

"For thirty-five years and I am now a man over 70, I have been a terrible sufferer from Constipation."

No matter what remedy or physicians I employed, the result was always the same—impossible to get a cure. About 2 years ago I read the testimonial of Hon. John Costigan regarding "Fruit-a-tives" and I decided to give them a trial. I have used "Fruit-a-tives" ever since. They are the first and only medicine that suited my case. If it were not for "Fruit-a-tives," I am satisfied that I could not live."

"Fruit-a-tives" is the greatest remedy ever discovered for all forms of Dyspepsia and Indigestion, because "Fruit-a-tives" keeps the blood pure and rich. You may ask, what is the connection between Stomach, Bowels and Impure Blood? Because impure blood means an impure dissolving fluid in the stomach which cannot digest the food. Digestion depends on the purity and composition of the dissolving fluid. If the liver is congested—bowels constipated—blood weak—then the blood will be loaded with impurities. These impurities will taint the dissolving fluid, which is supplied to the stomach by the blood.

"Fruit-a-tives" cures Indigestion and Dyspepsia because "Fruit-a-tives" makes the liver active, cures Constipation, strengthens and invigorates the kidneys, purifies the blood and keeps the stomach sweet and clean.

City cents a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c. At all dealers, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

A Marvelous Invention

A gas range that can be changed to a coal range in three seconds

The Champion Interchangeable can be changed from a gas range to a coal or wood range in three seconds. There isn't a single bolt to remove or a screw to turn. The operation is so easy a child can do it.

In natural gas districts, where gas is liable to fail any time, the owner of the Champion always has a good coal range to rely on. No other range like the Champion—the most convenient range in the world. Takes the place of two ranges (gas and coal), thus saving room in the kitchen.

The Champion Interchangeable has caused a sensation in United States during last three years. We bought the rights to make it in Canada. We've improved it, too. Get our agent to show you the Champion Steel Range, or write our nearest office for Champion booklet.
