THOUGHTS ON THE EMPIRE.

(Held over from last week.)
At times the British Empire seems almost too vast and shapeless to be real and the imagination is confused upon attempting to visualize a picture of its numerous dominions whose shores are washed by every sea. Then some event strums the cord of universal kinship, and our vague vision of the empire brightens into a vivid picture of a great kingdom inseparably united by the bonds of loyal devotion and responding to the pulse-beat of the Motherland with a patriotic singleness of heart. The occasion of King George's memorial speech at Terlinchian cemetery in France is an event of this significance. The following is an extract from His Majesty's remarkable address which he delivered after a few days pilgrimage through the great war-burying ground, where the ashes of patriots from every corner of the empire enrich the soil upon which they fought and died that liberty and right might be victorious.

"For the past few days I have been on a solemn pilgrimage in honor of a people who died for all free men. At the close of that pilgrimage, on which I followed ways already marked by many footsteps of love and pride and grief, I should like to send a message to all who have lost those dear to them in Great War, and in this the Queen joins me today amidst these surroundings so wonderfully typical of that single-hearted assembly of nations and of races which form our Empire. For here, in their last quarters, the sons of every portion of that Empire, across, as it were, the threshold of the Motherland which they guarded, that freedom might be saved in the uttermost ends of the earth."

Such words as these, prompted by the memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice and pregnant with deepest pride and gratitude cannot fail to create a feeling of unity and brotherhood in the hearts of all their hearers. Regardless of the vastness of the empire, the myriad crosses above the battlefields will ever be proof of the virtue of the empire's sons and a memorial to the great unselfishness of spirit with which they defended the great cause of freedom. As the graves of the empire's dead literally girdle the circuit of the earth, so will the bonds of patriotism and brotherhood strengthened by their sacrifice, ever girdle and bind our vast and scattered empire into a spiritually united whole and serve to keep fresh in our memories the lofty heights of true devotion to which they rose and the worthy principles for which they fought and died.

BARBOUR—LAUGHLAN.

Campbellton, June 9.—A very pretty wedding was solemnized at Black Point on Wednesday afternoon, June 7, when Ida Laughlan, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Laughlan of that place, was united in marriage to Arthur W. Barbour, manager of the Bathurst mill. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride before a large number of friends, the Rev. Mr. Archibald of Bathurst officiating. No artificial decorating was necessary for the ceremony took place on the lawn and nature, fragrant with the fragrance of June blossoms, attended to that detail with all the delicacy for which she is famous. Mrs. Earl McDonald, sister of the bride, as matron of honor; Mr. McDonald supported the groom and little Thelma Bernard, niece of the groom, acted as flower girl. The bride was charming in a gown of white satin and georgette with pearl trimmings and wore a veil held with orange blossoms. Mrs. H. J. Currie of Campbellton, aunt of the bride, played the wedding march, assisted by Miss Ima Currie as violinist. During the signing of the register, Mr. H. J. Currie of Campbellton rendered a pleasing solo of "O Perfect Love." The bride and groom were the recipients of many gifts such as furniture, glass and silverware and checks for substantial amounts, these all testifying to the popularity of the happy couple.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Barbour motored to Dalhousie Junction and there entertained for Montreal. After a trip to Boston and other American cities they will reside at New Mills.

ADAMS—MOWAT.

Campbellton, June 9.—Their many friends will read with interest of the marriage of Miss Helen J. Mowat, eldest daughter of Mr. William A. Mowat, to Mr. Clifton H. Adams, of Campbellton. The ceremony took place on Wednesday, June 7, at 4:30 p.m. at the bride's home in Flatlands, with the immediate friends of each as guests.

The house and grounds were prettily decorated and the bridal party stood under a floral arch on the lawn. Rev. George King, of Matapedia, being the officiating clergyman.

The bride wore a suit of reindeer tricotine with georgette blouse and blue hat and carried a shower bouquet of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by the groom's Miss Margaret J. Adams, a cousin of honor, in navy canton crepe with trimmings of coral pink and Miss Emma Miller of Nash's Creek, as bridesmaid, in a navy crepe de chene with head trimmings. Both young ladies wore modish black hats and carried bouquets of carnations and sweet peas. The groom was attended by Mr. Ivan Mowat, and Miss Gertrude L. Adams played the wedding march.

After a dainty lunch had been served the young couple, accompanied by most of the guests, motored to Matapedia where they took the Limited for a trip to Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. Adams will reside in Campbellton in their new bungalow on Lansdowne St.

It's the Valleys in Paint That Make it Poor

The Valleys are the thin streaks
The Hills are the thick streaks

PAINT streaks are caused by the brush marks. No matter how much it is brushed, if the paint is cheap the brush marks are bound to show. Good paint levels up to a smooth surface. Cheap paint dries with hills and valleys that are alternately strong and weak.

Just as a chain is only as strong as its weakest link, so is a film of paint only as good as its thinnest places—the valleys.

Most paints are made of only three things. Lowe Brothers High Standard is made of six—three more ingredients that exhaustive laboratory and practical tests have shown to be necessary to make good paint.

Add to this the fact that these ingredients are more finely ground, and you can understand why High Standard will always smooth out to a uniformly thick surface. Which is also the reason it lasts longer, and looks better as long as it lasts.

Come in and see the sample panels and ask for literature.
