Why Rabbi Phillips Resigned.

Rabbi Phillips of the Richmond-street Synagog has sent in his resignation of the position which he has occupied for many years with so much credit. It seems that he applied for an increase of the salary, $500 per annum, which he was receiving and also for a change of residence. These applications were not complied with and accordingly his resignation was tendered and accepted. It is not correct, as has been stated, that he will take up his future residence in New York. He will remain in Toronto, where his profidency in the German and Hebrew languages will doubtless secure him ample remuneration.

It is quite possible that his resignation will
